MOBS RIOT IN KATANGA AFTER U.N. TROOPS SEIZE CONGO FORCE AT AIRPORT

RATE OF VOTING IN CITY INDICATES EXCEPTIONALLY HEAVY TURNOUT

At 3:30 p.m. 27.2 Pct. of Registration Had Balloted, Compared With 18.4 Pct. in 1957 Election.

An exceptionally heavy voter turnout in today's St. Louis municipal election was indicated on the basis of reports from selected precincts throughout the city.

By 3:30 p.m., about 89,200 persons had cast ballots, or about 27.2 per cent of the registration of 328,196. At the comparable election in 1957, only about 18.4 per cent had voted by that hour.

Voting in the first three hours after the polls opened was only slightly higher than four years ago, but the rate increased sharply as the day advanced.

With fair weather in prospect for the day, election officials predicted a voter turnout of at least 180,000 or 55 per cent of the registration.

A mayor, comptroller, aldermen from the 14 odd-numbered wards and five members of the Board of Education were being chosen in the city election. Also on the ballot was a proposed charter amendment to increase the types of occupations subject to the merchants' and manufacturers' tax.

County, East Side Elections.

Elections also were being held today in St. Louis county and on the East Side in St. Clair and Madison counties. In St. Louis county officials were being elected in 92 cities, towns and villages and directors in 27 school districts. Tax and other proposals were on the ballot in various jurisdictions and elections also were being held in 18 fire protection and eight sewer districts.

On the East Side city officials were being chosen in Belleville, Alton and Granite City and township officers and justices of the peace in Madison and St. Clair counties.

The election in St. Louis was featured by the race between Democratic Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, seeking his third four-year term, and Ben H. Lindenbusch, a Republican new to politics.

A revived G.O.P., assisted by workers from the national organization, has waged an active campaign, producing one of the hottest contests for mayor since 1941.

Precautions by Board.

At the instance of Republican leaders, two-man bipartisan teams of special deputy election commissioners had roving assignments today in all of the city's 28 wards.

The Board of Election Commissioners agreed to appoint the deputies at a special meeting yesterday after Francis C. Corley, Republican national committeeman for Missouri and Republican City Chairman Michael J. Hart told the board the presence of the teams would reduce voting irregularities.

Hart said G.O.P. polling place officials, who attended recent meetings called by the party organization, had indicated that some irregularities had occurred in voting at the primary elections last August and at the November general election.

Irregularities included drinking on polling place premises, having voting machines out of the view of polling place offi-

McNamara Tells of Plans To Build Up Non-Nuclear Arms

Says Aim Is Greater Versatility in Limited Wars — Rules Out Early Nike-Zeus Production.

WASHINGTON, April 4 (UPI) —Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara spelled out today the Administration's determination to build forces that could fight limited wars without nuclear weapons.

McNamara took sharp issue with the Army's contention that its Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile is ready for large-scale production. He said there are widespread doubts whether this weapon should ever be deployed.

The Secretary reviewed President Kennedy's defense program in testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

He said use of nuclear weapons in limited wars should not be ruled out. But "the decision to employ tactical nuclear weapons in limited conflicts should not be forced upon us simply because we have no other means to cope with them," he said.

"There are many possible situations in which it would not be advisable or feasible to use such weapons," he said. "What is being proposed at this time is not a reversal of our existing national policy but an increase in our non-nuclear capabilities to provide a greater degree of versatility."

McNamara said "Today our strategic forces are fully adequate," but "as our principal antagonists acquire a large and ready force of intercontinental ballistic missiles which could be launched with little or no warning" the problem will become much more difficult.

He said the best answer is an American strategic missile force that could "ride out" a nuclear attack. Polaris submarine missiles, he said, have "the highest degree of survivability" and the Minuteman I.C.B.M. "should also have a high degree of survivability."

McNamara said the protection of the Nike-Zeus anti-I.C.B.M. "would be better than none at all," but ruled out an early production program.

"There is still considerable uncertainty as to its technical feasibility and there are many serious operating problems," he said.

STOCK TRADING VOLUME NEAR 5½-YEAR RECORD

Prices Stay Within Narrow Range as Shares Absorb Much Profit-Taking.

NEW YORK, April 4 (UPI)—Activity on the New York Stock Exchange today approached 7,000,000 shares and a new 5½-year record while prices, forced to absorb much profit-taking, generally stayed close to their previous closing levels.

The Dow-Jones industrial average just about managed to keep its head above water, thanks to strength in DuPont. Steels ran up gains as much as 1½ points in Youngstown but other leaders held fairly narrow.

The remainder of the list showed a hodge-podge of plus and minus signs at the close with profit-taking showing up in virtually every section of the list where gainers also stood out broadly.

Today's total exceeded yesterday's record of 6,470,000 shares.

Brokers offered few definite reasons for all the activity other than that the market seemed to be operating under renewed speculative fever, the public going along with traders in the hope of swift profits.

POLLS TO BE OPEN UNTIL 7 IN CITY AND MOST COUNTY ELECTIONS, 6 ON EAST SIDE

POLLS will be open until 7 p.m. today in the St. Louis municipal and school elections and in most St. Louis county city and school, fire and sewer district elections. On the East Side polls will be open until 6 p.m.

Information on the location of polling places in St. Louis's 601 precincts will be furnished by the League of Women Voters. Telephone service will be available at FO 7-7166.

St. Louis voting information can be obtained also by telephoning the office of the Board of Election Commissioners, GA 1-5288 or MA 1-5560.

210,000 DECLINE DURING MARCH IN UNEMPLOYMENT

First Drop in 6 Months Is Smaller Than Would Be Normal for Season.

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Unemployment declined 210,000 in March to 5,495,000. This was the first drop in six months, and was less than seasonally expected.

A nomal drop would have been about 300,000.

Giving the figures today, the Labor Department also reported that employment rose by 861,000 in March to a record of 65,516,000.

The total labor force—that is people working or available for jobs—increased in March by 651,000 to 71,011,000.

Because unemployment failed to decline as much aes expected in March, the seasonally adjusted rate of the idle to the total work force increased from 6.8 per cent in February to 6.9 per cent in March.

The actual unemployment rate for March, without seasonal adjustment was 7.7 per cent—meaning that 77 out of every 1000 workers were unable to findojobs last month.

Seymour Wolfbein, the department's manpower statistics chief, said the new job report underscores what President Kennedy and other Administration officials have been saying.

That is, Wolfbein said, that both employment and unemployment are continuing at very high levels, with every prospect that unemployment is going to continue to be heavy for many months to come.

Wolfbein said that employment is continuing to increase by considerably greater amounts than had been expected, although unemployment also remains very high.

Employment, which was 64,655,000 in January, a record for the month, usually goes up in March as improving weather clears the way for more outdoor work opportunity.

Some bad weather still prevailed in mid-March, however, and it will not be until a month from now, when the mid-April job readings become available, that President Kennedy is expected to take a new look at the economic indicators.

Homework Tougher on Parents Than on Pupils, Teacher Says

OMAHA, April 4 (AP)—Homework is harder on parents than it is on students, a group of teachers was told yesterday by another teacher.

This comment on a time-honored institution set off a discussion on the pros and cons of homework and its impact on mothers, fathers and children.

The teachers are in Omaha for the national meeting of the Association for Childhood Education International.

When Miss Erma Noble of Grand Rapids, Mich., said, "We ought to get more 'home' into homework," Mrs. Frankie Tanzy of El Paso, Tex., replied this can be too hard on parents.

Using her teen-age daughter as an example, Mrs. Tanzy said the family evenings revolve around the girl's homework.

Then Frank Gilliland of Everett, Wash., said some parents write papers for their children with an explanation that they just wanted to help.

Really, he said, "they just wanted to get it over with." Phyllis Knatt of Salt Lake City suggested that use of the parents might not be so bad.

She said great results can be obtained through assignments that call on fathers for help.

"Too often the dads leave it to the moms," she remarked.

Defense for that stand came from Norma Jackson of Omaha who said that getting dad into the homework job is good public relations.

There was a little uneasy shifting when Miss Noble closed the debate with the question: "Haven't you found parents really wonderful people to work with?"

RUSSIANS AGREE PROOF OF TRUCE MUST PRECEDE ANY LAOS TALKS

Informal Assurance Is Given as Kennedy and Macmillan Are About to Confer in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Diplomatic informants said today the Russians have agreed informally that an effective cease-fire must be verified in Laos before a 14-nation international conference can meet to seek a settlement in the Southeast Asian nation.

That optimistic word came as American and British officials worked on preliminaries for conferences centering on Laos between British Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy.

The Prime Minister flies to Washington today. He was preceded last night by Foreign Secretary Lord Home who held a two-hour state department session today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The question of timing on Laos operations—whether a cease-fire or the conference should come first—has been the major stumbling block in settlement efforts among the great powers. Up to now the Russians have been vague on the point, leading to Western suspicions they might be aiming at long talk while Communist-backed rebels overran the southeast Asian country.

The sources who reported the Kremlin move toward the Western timetable, also said they believe a cease-fire can be reached in a few days, and an international control commission can go into the field at the same time.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily Kuznetzov was said to have been open-minded in his talks with British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts in Moscow.

His acceptance of the Western view on timing is not final, diplomats cautioned. They said, on the other hand, that there seems to be no reason to doubt the Kremlin will back up Kuznetzov's informal assent.

The informants took the view that the Indian-Polish-Canadian control commission should meet immediately in New Delhi and proceed at once to Laos. In their view, the call for a cease-fire and the summoning of the control group should be simultaneous and the invitations to the 14-nation conference should go out right afterward.

The question whether a cease-fire agreement will also cover air drops and other forms of arms deliveries is still something to be agreed on with the Soviets, the diplomats said. The United States fells that effective machinery is needed to control and eventually to prevent such arms deliveries. Ambassador Roberts and Kuznetsov have not gone into this issue thus far, the informants said.

It is understood the British are now convinced that Prince Souvanna Phouma, ousted neutralist prime minister, must play a prominent role in the solution of the Laos problem.

This does not necessarily mean that Souvanna Phouma will be

TWO PACIFISTS DUNKED TRYING TO BOARD SUBMARINE

DUNOON, Scotland, April 4 (AP)—United States Navy frogmen dunked anti-nuclear demonstrators into the chilly waters of Holy Loch today when they tried to clamber aboard the Polaris submarine Patrick Henry.

A small group of youthful pacifists paddled out in canoes soon after dawn when the submarine came cruising in after a brief sea voyage.

They took station in the path of the submarine as it closed on the Polaris supply ship Proteus. Officers yelled warnings, and the pacifists paddled out of the way just before the two ships nudged together.

Two of the demonstrators left their canoes to scramble up the slippery hull of the Patrick Henry.

A Navy frogman grabbed one by the leg and pulled him into the water before he could make the deck. The other climbed on the deck and lay there. Another frogman picked him up and jumped overboard, still holding him.

The pacifists were taken to a launch, put ashore and handed over to Scottish police.

RED PARATROOPS DROP NEAR KEY LAOS AIR BASE

Fall of Vang Vieng Could Cut Supply Lines to Loyalists 20 Miles North.

VIENTIANE, April 4 (UPI)—Hundreds of Communist paratroops were dropped near the key Laotian air base town of Vang Vieng yesterday, Defense Minster Phoumi Nosavan said today.

He said the parachutists were operating like those who overran the town of Tha Thom at the southern entrance to the Plain of Jars Friday. Gen. Phoumi said the paratroopers landed about six miles west of Vang Vieng, which is 65 miles north of this capital.

This would put rebel troops 20 miles south of the fighting at Muong Kassy, where government forces last were said to be advancing. The aerial assault could cut off the loyalists at Muong Kassy from their supply lines leading from Vientiane.

From Soviet-Built Planes.

Phoumi said four Soviet-built Ilyushin transports made three flights each over Vang Vieng, dropping about 360 soldiers.

Reinforcements were being sent to Vang Vieng, he said, but so far no rebel attack has been made on the town itself.

Thirteen plane loads of paratroopers, described by the royal government as Red Vietminh forces from neighboring Communist North Viet Nam, captured Tha Thom Friday.

That blow was considered serious. But it would not be nearly as serious as the fall of strategic Vang Vieng. The airstrip there is the main support base for the slow government advance northward along the highway toward Muong Kassy.

The paratroop attack might mean an end to immediate hopes for a cease-fire in Laos and the arrival here for a three-nation watchdog commission to police the military truce while

Kennedy Hooks Two Drives Off First Tee to Wrong Fairway

PRESIDENT FLIES TO WASHINGTON WITH FAMILY

PALM BEACH, Fla., April 4 (AP) — President Kennedy and his family flew back to Washington today, ending a six-day Easter vacation in Florida.

An Air Force jet carrying the Kennedy party took off at 1:28 p.m. (St. Louis time) for the flight to the capital, which is expected to take two hours.

Accompanying the President were his wife and their children, Caroline, 3 years old, and John Jr., 4 months, and his brothers-in-law, Stephen Smith and actor Peter Lawford.

For Mrs. Kennedy, it will mark a return for a busy spring schedule, highlighted by a state visit to Paris at the end of May.

She is expected to participate in a series of social engagements, including a luncheon for Washington newspaper women, a congressional reception, and a tea for wives of members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors who will be attending a meeting in the capital.

Then the President and Mrs. Kennedy will embark on a three-day trip to France May 31.

JET'S EXHAUST TOPPLES BUILDING BESIDE RUNWAY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4 (AP)—A small metal building housing $100,000 worth of electronic instrument-landing equipment stands at one end of Municipal Airport's main runway here.

A four-engine jet airliner started a takeoff 250 feet from the building Monday and the plane's exhaust blew the building over.

After the building was righted, officials said damage was slight. A row of antennas inside had to be realigned.

Plays Like a Man in a Hurry — Lawford Also Dubs His First Two Shots.

PALM BEACH, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Playing like a man in a terrific hurry, President Kennedy drove — and severely hooked—two golf balls off the first tee into a gusty wind today.

Both balls traveled about 175 yards, and both came to rest beyond the rough—in the wrong fairway.

This was the first time reporters had been permitted to watch Mr. Kennedy tee off, and then write about it, since he was nominated for the presidency in July.

A few minutes earlier photographers for the first time in that period had been allowed to take pictures of Mr. Kennedy on the golf course.

In advance of Mr. Kennedy's round at the Palm Beach Country Club course, reporters had been told they could be present only for the pictures taken before he hit a ball.

But they were allowed to stay and watch him drive. The President, wearing a light blue sports shirt and pale yellow slacks, arrived at the club at the wheel of a top-down convertible a few minutes before 11 a.m.

Other members of the foursome were the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain;

KENNEDY TO SEE BALL GAME

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—President Kennedy is planning to attend the opening baseball game between the Washington Senators and the Chicago White Sox, it was learned yesterday.

The first game of the American league season will be played here in Griffith stadium Monday. The President traditionally throws out the first ball.

Fossil of Gliding Reptile Found; Lived 175 Million Years Ago

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP) — The fossil of a gliding reptile believed to have been the first animal with a backbone to take to the air has been discovered in an abandoned New Jersey quarry by three teen-age boys. It will go on display today in the American Museum of Natural History.

The fossil was lent to the museum by its discoverers, Alfred Siefker, 17 years old, and Joseph Geiler, both of West New York, N.J., and Michael Bandrouski, 16, of Guttenberg, N.Y.

Dr. Edwin H. Colbert, chairman of the museum's Department of Vertebrate Paleontology, said the reptile had lived about 175,000,000 years ago, when the dinosaurs were just beginning their evolution. The seven-and-a-half-inch reptile, found near West New York, N.J., last August, glided on 14 elongated ribs, Colbert said.

He said it antedated the earliest pterosaurs, or flying reptiles, by about 15,000,000 years and the first birds by 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 years. The reptile, as yet unnamed, lived in trees in the upper triassic geological age and probably was able to glide 100 to 300 feet, the paleontologist said.

4000 LAY SIEGE TO TERMINAL, RIP FLAG AND STREAM OVER RUNWAYS

Tshombe's Disclosure of Agreement Disregarded After He Incites Followers to Fight.

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, April 4 (AP)—President Moise Tshombe turned his followers loose in an anti-U.N. rampage today, then called them off, but thousands of the Africans went on to lay siege to Swedish troops guarding Elisabethville airport.

A crowd of 4000 howling Congolese threw stones at the airport terminal, shattering windows and terrifying women passengers inside.

When it seemed the Africans were going to storm the building, a company of Tshombe's Katanga army took up positions outside the terminal's shattered glass doors to safeguard the Swedes inside.

Incensed at this action, the Africans headed toward a flagstaff, seized the blue United Nations flag and tore it to bits. Others went streaming across the runways, waving knives and clubs.

The Swedish company, under Col. Anders Kjellgren, U.N. commander for south Katanga, stood with backs to the wall in the terminal, Sten guns ready.

Intersections Blocked.

Downtown, Elisabethville looked like an embattled city. Katanga national police blocked off every intersection and stood at intervals of 10 yards along the sidewalks. They had cleared the downtown area under Tshombe's orders, but apparently lacked sufficient numbers to control the situation in the suburbs.

There were reports that 30 Swedish soldiers had been taken prisoner by Katanga troops at a billet near the airport.

The day began with a predawn effort by Tshombe troops to take over the airport from the U.N. forces who have been in control there.

Angered, Tshombe at midafternoon ordered full mobilization and served an ultimatum that the U.N. troops must get out of the airport in two hours or face the wrath of his people. Then, as the deadline approached, he announced an agreement with U.N. officials. He called off the march to the airport.

But this was too late. On the way to the airport, frenzied Africans attacked Swedish soldiers driving two automobiles, cut them with stones and smashed the cars. The Swedes were rescued by white members of the Katanga army.

Some Officers Belgians.

This is the most disciplined army in The Congo. Many of its officers are Belgians retained by Tshombe after Belgium gave The Congo its independence last June 30.

A platoon of 24 Katanga troops, led by a Belgian officer, tried to seize the airport before dawn. Twleve Swedish troops at the airport thwarted the attempt.

In a rage, Tshombe delivered his ultimatum and went direct to the capital's people. He told a screaming crowd of 10,000 that the Swedes must leave the airport in two hours or be taken by the capital's entire population.

The President shouted, "I will ask all of you, together with the police and Katanga army, to march on the airport. You will fight, you will shoot, you will recapture the airport."

But before the ultimatum was to take effect, Tshombe announced he had reached an agreement on control of the airport, U.N. officials said Tshombe had agreed that the airport should return to the joint control of Katanga authorities and the United Nations.

Several thousand other Africans gathered around the deserted U.N. headquarters building in Elisabethville, chanting and screaming, as leaders exhorted them to tear down the building. Tshombe's forces earlier had cut off power and water to the building.

Before his speech Tshombe made rapid tours through Elisabethville's African sectors, preceded by 10 motorcyclists armed with Sten guns. He exhorted the

CASTRO URGED BY U.S. TO CUT CUBA'S LINKS TO COMMUNISM

Pamphlet Brands His Regime as a Danger, and Appeals to People —Admits Errors by Washington.

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, April 4—The United States called on the regime of Premier Fidel Castro last night "to sever its links with the international Communist movement" and "to restore the dignity" of the original Cuban revolution.

The call was issued in a 36-page pamphlet published by the State Department but written in the White House under the close direction of President Kennedy.

(Details of the so-called white paper were given exclusively in the Post-Dispatch last Friday, in a story by Washington correspondent Marquis W. Childs.)

U.S. Acknowledges Errors.

"The people of Cuba remain our brothers," the pamphlet stated. "We acknowledge past omissions and errors in our relationship to them. The United States, along with the other nations of the hemisphere, expresses a profound determination to assure future democratic governments in Cuba full and positive support in their effort to help the Cuban people achieve freedom, democracy and social justice."

The call to return to the original purposes of the revolution was followed by an admonition:

"If this call is unheeded, we are confident that the Cuban people, with their passion for liberty, will continue to strive for a free Cuba; that they will return to the splendid vision of inter-American unity and progress; and that . . . they will join hands with the other republics in the hemisphere in the struggle to win freedom."

Calls Castro a Danger.

"It is the considered judgment of the Government of the United States of America that the Castro regime in Cuba offers a clear and present danger to the authentic and autonomous revolution of the Americas—to the whole concept of spreading political liberty, economic development, and social progress through all the republics of the hemisphere."

The theme of the pamphlet was that Castro had betrayed the revolution he led to victory Jan. 1, 1959, over Fulgencio Batista, former president.

Castro, the publication charged, has instituted a "repressive dictatorship" in Cuba, delivered his country "to the Sino-Soviet bloc," and is now mounting an attack on the whole inter-American system.

Revolution 'Perverted'.

"What began as a moment to enlarge Cuban democracy and freedom has been perverted, in short, into a mechanism for the destruction of free institutions in Cuba, for the seizure by international Communism of a base and bridgehead in the Americas, and for the disruption of the inter-American system," the pamphlet said.

Informed sources said the idea for the pamphlet was President Kennedy's. He has long been concerned at the lack of popular understanding in Latin America of the United States attitude toward Castro. Spanish and Portuguese translations will be circulated through the hemisphere.

Castro, the pamphlet said, betrayed his revolution by breaking his promises to proclaim the 1940 constitution the supreme law of the land, to hold elections, to guarantee absolutely freedom of press and political rights.

The history of the Castro regime, the pamphlet said, has been the calculated destruction of the rebel army and the 26th of July movement which brought Castro to power.

As a consequence, the pamphlet said, the social achievements of the revolution have been corrupted until they have become "the means, not of liberation, but of bondage."

Lists Pro-Red Leaders.

The pamphlet listed Cuban officials who have had or still have Communist connections. Among them are Maj. Raul Castro, the Premier's brother, and minister of the armed forces, and Ernesto Guevara, chief economic planner.

Others named are Dr. Osvaldo Dorticos Torrado, the present president; Anibal Escalante, secretary general of the Communist party; and Antonio Nunez Jimenez, head of the National Agrarian Reform Institute.

Castro, the pamphlet said, has steadily isolated himself from the inter-American system by repudiating its principles and obligations. His diplomats have encouraged opposition groups in the countries to which they were assigned.

"Indeed," the document said, "Dr. Castro has plainly reached the conclusion that his main enemy in Latin America is not dictatorship but democracy."

Cuba's Controlled Press Opens Attack on U. S. Statement.

HAVANA, April 4 (AP)—Controlled Cuban newspapers joined today in almost identical attacks on the State Department's document on Cuban-United States relations.

Revolucion, which speaks for Prime Minister Fidel Castro, called the document a "dirty paper of the State Department." The government-operated newspaper El Mundo called the review "one of the most cynical interventionist documents ever issued by the Department of State." It said the document was "a shameless, worthless memorandum."

"This 36-page pamphlet does not report history but it insults, it lies, it deforms the truth cynically," said Revolucion.

At African Independence Celebration

PRESIDENT LEOPOLD SENGHOR of Senegal listening to MRS. LYNDON B. JOHNSON at dinner in Dakar last night which was part of two-day celebration marking the African nation's first year of independence.

Johnson, Russian Envoy Malik Confer at Reception in Senegal

DAKAR, Senegal, April 4 (AP)—United States Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson conferred at length last night with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik.

The two men, who talked with the help of interpreters and aids, refused later to say anything about what had been discussed. They talked at a reception given by Premier Mamadou Dia at the justice ministry.

Johnson and Malik are in Dakar as official representatives to Sengal's first independence day anniversary.

It was not known which of the two had asked for the meeting or whether the talk was impromptu arising out of a chance meeting at the party.

Malik, asked earlier if he planned to talk with Johnson, replied, "I suppose we'll bump into one another at one of these crowded receptions." However, at a presidential reception yesterday the two apparently avoided one another, although at one point they were standing only a few feet apart.

President Leopold Senghor today praised French President De Gaulle and warned the new nations of Africa not to fall into the error of attacking their former rulers.

"Remember that the colonizers of yesterday are the friends of tomorrow," Senghor told a vast crowd and nearly 100 foreign delegations assembled for the first anniversary of the West African nation's independence from France.

Senghor saluted De Gaulle as a statesman who foresaw the end of colonialism and eased the road to independence for much of Africa. He said Senegal's relations with its former rulers were based on friendship which would help the future consolidation of peace.

The President condemned the cold war and the "campaign of vituperation which has been unleased between East and West."

"We refuse to take any part in this campaign," he declared.

Johnson continued to make a big hit with the crowd today. He was almost mobbed yesterday by thousands shouting "Long live the United States, champion of independence" as they broke through police lines to swarm around his car.

"The enthusiasm was genuine and real and I witnessed how happy they were to see a representative of the United States among them," the Vice President said later. He announced that he and Senghor had agreed on an increase of cultural relations between the United States and Senegal.

The Senegalese treatment of Malik was noticeably less cordial than their enthusiasm for Johnson.

Johnson, French Cultural Minister Andre Malraux and British representative Douglas Dodds Parker were received privately by President Senghor as Malik waited outside with many lesser delegates in one of the vast reception rooms of the palace.

Then representatives of French African nations were received. Next, Malik and the remaining delegates were received by Senghor in the alphabetical order of their countries' names, with the result that Malik was one of the last to convey the good wishes of his government.

Malik did not appear to be enjoying his treatment. He was practically snubbed at the airport on his arrival, and the luggage of some members of the Russian delegation was searched.

28 U.S. F-86 SABREJETS HANDED OVER TO THAILAND

BANGKOK, April 4 (UPI) — The United States formally handed over 28 F-86 Sabrejets to the Royal Thai Air force yesterday.

Minister of Defense Thanom Kittlkachorn said, "The latest contribution of these F-86 Sabrejets from the United States Government has greatly improved the capability of the Royal Thai Air Force, particularly in the field of air defense.

"Thailand has gone one step closer to being an equal partner in the free world community of nations," he said.

RIGHT TO VOTE NOW OFFICIAL FOR DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP) —The right of District of Columbia residents to vote for president and vice president became official at a ceremony yesterday.

General services administrator John L. Moore signed a certificate of ratification of the twenty-third amendment by 39 states, one more than required.

The GSA, following tradition, listed the states alphabetically. Thus it avoided the controversy over which state—Kansas, Ohio, or New Hampshire—was the thirty-eighth to ratify.

RUSSIAN PRIMATE ATTACKED

MOSCOW, April 4 (UPI) — The 84-year-old Primate of the Russian Orthodox Church was assaulted by a young man at services Saturday, it was learned today. Patriarch Alexius was not injured.

The man jumped up in the middle of the crowded service and seized the patriarch. Clergymen restrained him and turned him over to police.

VOTING REPORTED HEAVY IN TEXAS ON U.S. SENATOR

71 Names on Ballot, With 65 Active Candidates — Runoff to Be Held June 3.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 4 (AP)—Texans are voting today to select a Senate replacement for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The ballot is cluttered with 71 names. No candidate is expected to receive the required 51 per cent vote in the special election and a runoff is scheduled June 3 between the top two candidates.

Early balloting was reported heavy in several cities. It was estimated 1,250,00 voters will go to the polls.

The six leaders in the field of 65 active candidates—one entry died March 30 of injuries received in an automobile accident and five others have withdrawn—are:

Senator William A. Blakely, wealthy Dallas business man named by Gov. Price Daniel to replace Johnson until an election could be held. He is 62 years old and a Democrat.

John G. Tower, 35, former college government professor, who was Johnson's Republican opponent last fall when Johnson ran for both the Senate and for Vice President.

Attorney General Will Wilson, 48.

Representative Jim Wright (Dem.), Texas, 38.

Maury Maverick Jr., 40.

State Senator Henry B. Gonzales, 44.

Yesterday Democrats apparently captured seven of nine races for statewide offices in Michigan. The outcome of the other two races still was in doubt.

Voters approved a proposal calling for holding of a convention to revise Michigan's 53-year-old Constitution, but a plan to allow the state to use $5,000,000 of its credit for new industrial or municipal projects apparently was defeated.

In other elections today:

Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles seeks a third term. Voters generally have been apathetic. Fewer than half the registered voters are expected to go to the polls.

Eight challengers are on the ballot, but only two are considered threats. They are Samuel W. Yorty, former Democratic Congressman, and City Councilman Patrick D. McGee.

Paul Egan seeks a third four-year term as mayor of Aurora, Ill. Egan trailed his opponent, Jay L. Hunter, 70-year-old realtor and retired school principal, by about a 4-to-1 margin in the primary.

Wisconsin chooses a Supreme Court justice and a superintendent of public instruction and decides six constitutional amendment proposals in a non-partisan election.

Tough Bargaining Predicted When Kennedy Visits De Gaulle

French Press Welcomes Plan for Trip but Notes Many Differences in Nation's Views.

PARIS, April 4 (AP) — The French press today welcomed President Kennedy's forthcoming visit to Paris but noted he and President De Gaulle face some tough bargaining.

The left-wing Liberation outlined the long list of differences between France and the United States—from Laos to De Gaulle's desire for a greater voice in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—and said Mr. Kennedy's visit " in present circumstances, will likely be stormy."

The Progress de Lyon said De Gaulle doubtless would outline to Kennedy his complaints about the United Nations, NATO and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Headlines emphasized that the President was bringing his wife, Jacqueline, whose French background has made her popular in France. Paris-Jour suggested that he bring the children, too. Many papers considered it a diplomatic victory for De Gaulle to get Kennedy out of Washington so soon after taking office.

Paris-Jour said that the world was in a state of evolution and that old leaders such as De Gaulle "can furnish the key to problems which tomorrow America may have to solve . . . Kennedy seems to have understood that he must seek information at the source on that world evolution and the lessons that must be learned for the future.

"That is the reason he is coming to meet with De Gaulle, after having met Macmillan and Adenauer."

L'Aurore termed Mr. Kennedy's visit "indispensable for tightening the Atlantic alliance."

Differences between France and the United States include:

Laos—The French have not gone all the way with the British-American "tough" line.

The Congo—France has refused to share the cost of the United Nations action there.

NATO — The United States has not taken kindly to De Gaulle's insistence upon French freedom of action and his call for a three-power NATO directorate made up of France, the United States and Britain.

Nuclear testing — France has continued to test atomic bombs despite talks in Geneva by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on barring such tests. Russia has used French tests as a reason for suspicion of Western motives.

FRISCO GIVEN 30 DAYS TO ACT IN CENTRAL OF GEORGIA CASE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 4 — The St. Louis-San Francisco (Frisco) Railroad today was given 30 days in which to divest itself of its stock in the Central of Georgia Railway Co. or arrange a trusteeship satisfactory to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In issuing the order, the ICC said: "This matter has been pending long enough and Frisco should either promptly trustee the stock in accordance with the terms previously approved or divest itself completely of any interest therein."

Southern Railway, which has applied for authority to buy Frisco's controlling interest in Central of Georgia for $22,655,000, had joined Frisco in seeking an interim trusteeship which would prevent a sale to others until Southern's application had been acted on. The request was refused.

YOUTHS DAMAGE U.S. DIPLOMAT'S CAR IN ARGENTINA

CORDOBA, Argentina, April 4 (UPI)—Anti-American teen-agers shouted insults at United States Ambassador Roy R. Rubottom and damaged his automobile when he arrived in this provincial manufacturing center yesterday.

A small but noisy mob threw objects at the car as the ambassador rode through the city, but did not hit it.

The rioters evaded police guards and tore United States and Argentine flags from the fenders of Rubottom's car as he was paying a courtesy visit to the rector of Cordoba University. Fenders and doors of the limousine were dented. University officials apologized for the outbreak.

Rubottom is scheduled to stay here until Thursday, touring industrial plants in the area. A scheduled visit to Catholic University has been canceled on the assumption that most of yesterday's rioters were students.

SOVIET OFFICER SAYS TWO G.I.S INJURED HIM

Colonel, Member of Mission in West Germany, Reportedly Hurt in Frankfurt.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, April 4 (AP)—A member of the Soviet military mission in West Germany has charged that two American soldiers injured him in a scuffle last weekend, the United States Army said today.

An Army statement said the incident occurred Sunday night near the Soviet mission headquarters in Frankfurt. The statement gave this account:

A mission vehicle carrying Lt. Col. Vladimir N. Chetvernikov stopped suddenly after making a turn in a Frankfurt street.

A civilian automobile following with five soldiers was forced to halt quickly behind it, but did not bump the Russian vehicle.

The Soviet car drove off after the Americans asked its passengers to wait until United States military police were summoned. Two of the soldiers followed the Russian car, leaving three others behind to notify authorities.

Near the Russian compound the two soldiers overtook Chetvernikov and his companion, Lt. Igor A. Kulikov.

"Military police investigators said the Soviets claimed Lt. Col. Chetvernikov was injured by the soldiers," the statement said.

Military police said the soldiers had been drinking, but were not intoxicated. All five were detained temporarily for questioning but were later released to their unit, the Third Armored Division.

In Bonn, the Soviet embassy said it did not plan to protest against the incident "because the Americans involved were not in a normal condition."

The Army identified the two soldiers who followed Chetvernikov as Pfc. Joseph Klopefer of Toledo, O., and Pfc. Duane W. Cook, Anderson, Ind.

The other three soldiers are Pfc. Raymond O. Martin, Portsmouth, O.; Pfc. James Isaac, Cisco, Ky., and Pvt. Chester D. Barrow, Devine, Tex.

TRIMMING OTHER FUNDS TO BOOST MENTAL HEALTH AID QUESTIONED

Reductions by House Committee Criticized at Senate Hearing on Budget — Gov. Dalton's Plan Defended.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4—House Committee cuts in various departmental budgets to provide additional funds for an expanded state mental health program were questioned yesterday as the Senate Appropriations Committee opened hearings on the biennial fund bills.

The issue was raised by Senator A. Basey Vanlandingham (Dem.), Columbia, after State Commissioner of Education Hubert Wheeler urged the Senate committee to restore $635,000 eliminated by the House from various educational programs.

Vanlandingham said he thought that a House cut of $450,000 in vocational rehabilitation funds should be restored, and the money not turned over to the Division of Mental Diseases.

Defends Dalton's Stand.

The Senator pointed out that Gov. John M. Dalton already has recommended that the Legislature increase mental health expenditures in the 1961-63 biennium. He said further increases, made at the expense of other important state operations, would not be justified.

"After all," he said, " a lot of time and thought went into the preparation of the Governor's budget, and I still have to be convinced that it should be changed."

Other Senators have expressed opposition to the action of the House Appropriations Committee in reducing other departmental allotments, primarily in funds for new personnel and salary increases, to provide more money than the Governor proposed for mental health.

The House Appropriations Committe recently voted to give the division of mental diseases $5,334,000 more than the governor recommended. Dalton proposed that $52,063,696 be appropriated to the division for the new biennium, beginning July 1. This is $6,500,000 more than the division has for the current biennium, but about $10,500,000 below the division's request for the next two years.

Senate Hearings.

Although the House has not completed action on all budget bills, the Senate Appropriations Committee will hold hearings on the measures this week while the Senate is in recess. No Senate committee action will be taken on any of the appropriation measures until all of them have been passed by the House.

The first bill heard yesterday allots $257,762,544 for various state educational purposes, except universities and colleges. The measure contains a proposed record allotment of $224,100,000 for state aid to public elementary and secondary schools. Wheeler said this amount would fully finance the state school foundation program, which guarantees that each school district will have at least $232 a year for each pupil in state and local operating funds.

The Commisioner of Education urged the Senate committee to restore the $450,000 cut in vocational rehabilitation funds, and another House reduction of $126,000 in funds for operation of special training centers for mentally-retarded children.

BOY STRUCK, HURT BY AUTO; RAN INTO PATH, DRIVER SAYS

Welton Findley Jr., 9 years old, is in City Hospital with a head injury suffered yesterday when he was struck by an automobile.

William J. Ward, a salesman, 1215 Forest Home drive, Bellefontaine Neighbors, told police he had stopped in a line of traffic in Bissell street, near North Florissant avenue. When he started to move the boy ran into the path of his car, Ward said.

The Findley home is at 4416 North Nineteenth street.

Birch Society Fights Communism By Education, McMillan Says

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

WILLIAM BENTON McMILLAN, photographed at press conference yesterday.

The John Birch Society was organized to fight Communism primarily through education and study, William Benton McMillan, a member of the society's council, or board of directors, said yesterday.

McMillan, chairman of the board of Hussmann Refrigerator Co. here, said the society "believes in the American republic, in our constitutional form of government. We believe in civil rights and fight Communism, Fascism and Socialism because they destroy religion and destroy personal freedoms and personal property rights."

McMillan said he did not agree with the "personal conclusions" of the founder of the John Birch Society, Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass., when Welch stated in a letter that then President Eisenhower was a "dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist party."

"I don't agree that Eisenhower is or was a Communist," McMilland said at a press conference. "If he had been better informed, he wouldn't have done some of the things he did." McMillan indicated he held the same view of former President Truman.

Welch's remark about Eisenhower and some of the alleged tactics of the Birch Society have made the organization the object of criticism. Some members of Congress have called for an investigation.

McMillan said he had known Welch for more than 10 years. He said they met when both were active in the National Association of Manufacturers. McMillan is a former member of the board of the N.A.M. He added that there is no connection whatsoever between the N.A.M. and the Birch Society.

In 1958, McMillan said, he went to Indianapolis in response to an invitation from Welch after Welch "said he wanted to set forth an idea and ask the judgment of a number of friends."

The Birch Society was formed at the Indianapolis meeting. The now controversial letter by Welch about President Eisenhower "was discussed and it was unanimously agreed that it did not belong and would not be a part of the John Birch Society or its program," McMillan told reporters.

Of Welch, McMillan said: "He is a dedicated, devoted American. He is absolutely sincere. I don't always agree with his conclusions, but then I don't know anybody I agree with on everything all the time."

Critics of the Birch Society have said it advocates the impeachment of Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States. Asked if he favored impeachment of Warren, McMillan replied:

"Certainly from what little I know I think it might be worth while for people who know enough about the law to determine if he is adhering to his oath of office."

He explained that it appeared to him that the Supreme Court had engaged in legislation in some of its decisions. He said that he is not a lawyer.

Of the Birch Society, McMillan, whom Welch identified as the second member, said:

"Those who attack us are evidently afraid of the true education of the people — they are afraid of anyone learning anything but the things they want them to know.

"The John Birch Society believes that in high schools and college, young men and women should learn that there are usually two answers to most questions. They must learn to study each and then make their own decision.

"The areas of study selected by the Birch Society lie primarily in the areas of political systems.

"We believe in the American people and seek only to have them make their decisions based on their own personal knowledge, rather than fancy words and arguments intended to confuse.

"We are disturbed at the loss of one third of the world to Communism. We are disturbed at the loss of one country after another to the Soviets and their satellites.

"The world may be theoretically at peace, but in various parts of it we know this is not true and it hasn't been for years. At home we recognize that a similar doubt and uncertainty exists in the minds of most of our people.

"We want to study these things and try to learn why these things are the way they are, where we have taken the wrong direction, why and who was responsible."

McMillan said he is a member "of a number of conservative organizations." He said he is a sponsor of the School on Anti-Communism to be held in St. Louis later this month under the direction of Dr. Frederick Schwarz. He was co-chairman of a Republican dinner here last month for United States Senator Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona.

He said as far as he knows, there is no St. Louis chapter of the John Birch Society.

FREEDOM THREAT, RAYBURN WARNS

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem.), Texas, has warned that the "strange nostrums" of the John Birch Society "would destroy our freedom."

The society, founded in 1958 by Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass., takes its name from a Baptist missionary who was killed by the Communists in China 10 days after the close of World War II.

Rayburn, speaking yesterday in McKinney, Tex., said "they're spreading this idea that a government can get by without levying taxes. That is no way to stay secure from those who would destroy us.

". . . The men who spread these strange nostrums would destroy our freedom. They go the length and breadth of our land claiming that we, in America, do not have freedom.

"My beloved people," Rayburn said, "our freedom in the United States is as near absolute as freedom can be. A world that the United States does not lead, if there ever is such a world, will be a world that is not free."

Rayburn did not mention the society by name, but later told reporters, "Of course the John Birch group is the one I meant."

STRECKFUS URGES CHANGES IN RIVERFRONT WALL PLAN

Revisions in plans for the concrete wall being built on the levee south from the foot of Washington avenue have been requested by R. M. Streckfus, operator of the excursion boat, Admiral, he said yesterday.

When the wall is completed it will range in height from four and a half to six feet. During high river stages the shore end of three gangplanks leading to the Admiral would have to be on top of the wall, Streckfus said.

Each gangplank is about 16 feet wide. Streckfus has requested that indentations be provided in the top of the wall into which the gangplanks can be fitted.

The wall is part of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial project. Government engineers are studying Streckfus's request. "I want to make it clear that I am in no way opposing the expansion plan," Streckfus said. "I think this is something that was just overlooked."

Police Say 3 Men Operated Internationally and 3 Women, Girl Posed for Pictures.

Warrants charging possession of obscene material for sale were to be sought today against three men arrested yesterday suspected of making lewd photographs and selling them in an international mail order operation.

Arrested were John Kolokithas, operator of the John Kay Studio, 2621 South Jefferson avenue; George C. Demetrulias, 1200 block of Upper Cahokia road, Cahokia, a tavern operator, and Lewis P. Roe, 200 block of Baker avenue, Webster Groves, an office worker.

Arrested later were three women and a 16-year-old girl who allegedly posed for Kolokithas. Police were seeking to question about 20 more, many of them instructors in St. Louis dancing schools. The girl arrested had recently been an entrant in a beauty contest. She was released to her mother, who had been unaware of her posing activities.

Studio Watched.

The arrests were made by Detectives Robert Green and Robert Richter, who had had Kolokithas's studio under surveillance.

The officers said their investigation disclosed that Kolokithas took pictures of the women and Roe processed the film and solicited the orders. Demetrulias allegedly filled the orders from his home in Cahokia.

Packages of 10 pictures showing a subject in progressive stages of undress were sold for $5 each. The officers said the operation, which included sales to persons in Hong Kong, various parts in Canada and at least five states, had grossed about $5000 since its start last September. The women were paid up to $20 an hour for posing, police said.

Destroying Photographs.

When Demetrulias was arrested at his home, he was in the process of burning about 800 photographs forwarded to him by Roe, police reported. Demetrulias said he had learned of Roe's arrest and was trying to dispose of the prints which had been sent to him for mailing, officers said. Some charred photographs were recovered from the fire.

In addition, police seized about 2000 prints and a quantity of negatives and photographic equipment at Kolokithas's studio.

The three women arrested have been directed to appear in police court on charges of engaging in lewd and indecent acts.

Orders were received from advertisements in two magazines, the officers were told.

WINS FULBRIGHT FELLOWSHIP

Jerrold Edward Seigel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Seigel, 922 Abbeville drive, University City, has received a Fulbright fellowship for study abroad for the school year, starting next September, it was announced today.

A graduate of Harvard University, Seigel received a master's degree from Princeton University and presently is working there on a doctorate in European history. He will resume his field of study at the University of Florence, Italy, under the Fulbright program.

Accused in Mail Order Smut Ring

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

FUGITIVE TRAPPED ON QUARRY LEDGE IN POLICE CHASE

Three shots were fired by police yesterday in a high speed automobile chase which ended when the fleeing driver abandoned his car, leaped over a high fence and found himself on a narrow ledge overlooking a 300-foot-deep quarry.

Detective Lee Ward of Kirkwood said the chase began at North Taylor and East Bodley avenues, Kirkwood, after he recognized the automobile as one reported stolen earlier in the day in Richmond Heights.

The automobiles reached speeds of 85 miles an hour as they went east on Manchester road through heavy traffic. Sometimes they were forced to drive in the wrong lanes, Ward said. Ward fired one shot at the other car and a Glendale policeman, who joined the chase at Manchester and Sappington roads, fired twice.

The chase went through Rock Hill to Ladue and the driver finally skidded broadside into another machine in the 1300 block of Kortwright street. No one was injured. The driver, who surrendered when Ward leaped over the fence and joined him on the ledge, identified himself as Walter L. White, 20 years old, 10,000 block of Meeks boulevard, Elmwood Park. He admitted stealing the car, police said.

W. F. RICKENBACKER PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN CENSUS CASE

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—A son of Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, World War I flying hero and board chairman of Eastern Air Lines, pleaded not guilty today to a charge of refusing to answer a 1960 census special questionnaire.

The son, William F. Rickenbacker, 33 years old, contended the questionnaire, of a detailed type sent to every fourth household, was a violation of privacy and unconstitutional.

United States district court Judge Charles M. Metzner released him on his own recognizance and scheduled May 4 for the setting of a trial date.

DALTON URGED TO LOOK INTO EVANGELIST'S ARREST

Gov. John M. Dalton was urged to investigate the arrest of the Rev. Bill Beeny, evangelist, in Jefferson county last Saturday in telegrams sent last night by members of the St. Louis Baptist Temple, 2345 Lafayette avenue.

The telegrams said sheriff's deputies "manhandled" the Rev. Mr. Beeny. They alleged also that Jefferson county authorities detained the evangelist for 38 hours even though he was ill and was known to have had an arrested case of tuberculosis.

The Rev. Mr. Beeny, who preaches at the St. Louis Baptist Temple, is in Firmin Desloge Hospital. He was charged with interfering with an officer Saturday when he attempted to prevent Jefferson county officers from evicting occupants of the Missouri Rescue Mission near Herculaneum.

CHARLES C. STEWART ESTATE VALUE IS PUT AT $116,669

The estate of Charles C. Stewart, 3945 Flad avenue, was valued at $116,669 in an inventory filed yesterday in probate court. The estate utimately will go to the Washington University School of Medicine and the Home for Aged Baptists at Ironton, Mo.

Mr. Stewart, who was an accountant for the Manufacturers Supplies Co., 730 North Eighteenth street, died Feb. 12 when 76 years old. Principal assets in the estate were stocks valued at $84,566; bonds, $11,672; building and loan accounts, $10,500, and cash, $9,929.

Mr. Stewart's will, filed earlier, provided for establishment of a trust fund for the benefit of two sisters, Miss Carrie M. Stewart of Quincy, Ill., and Miss Olive V. Stewart of Phoenix, Ariz. On their deaths the estate will be divided in equal shares between the Baptist home and the medical school.

ROBBER GREETS VICTIM BY NAME AND STEALS $972

Confectionery Operator and His Wife and Daughter Are Held Up in Store.

Charles Wesley, operator of a confectionery at 1431 Whittier street, was robbed of $972 last night by an armed man.

The robber entered the store at 9:30 p.m. and asked Mrs. Eloyise Clark, Wesley's daughter, for cigarettes. Before she could serve him, he showed a revolver and ordered Mrs. Clark into a rear room, where Wesley and his wife were counting money order receipts.

"Charley, this is a holdup," the robber said. "Put it all in a paper bag."

Wesley placed the money order cash and the contents of a register and a second cash box in a sack and gave it to the man. The robber fled.

Ernest Franklin, 709 South Broadway, and Walter Hamerick, 1327 Klein street, Venice, were held up last night at Sixth street and Park avenue by two men, one of whom was armed with a knife. The robbers stole $25 from Hamerick and $15 from Franklin, then fled.

Mrs. Lena Striker, 4413 Bingham avenue, was robbed of her purse with $11 last night when walking in the 3800 block of Alfred avenue. She told police a man approached from the rear and grabbed the purse announcing a holdup. The thief fled through an alley.

SIDNEY R. BAER JR. QUITS PROXY FIGHT

Sidney R. Baer Jr., a director of Stix, Baer and Fuller Co., announced yesterday that he has decided not to conduct a proxy contest at this time in connection with the annual meeting of the company's shareholders May 2. He said he was mailing a letter to the Securities and Exchange Commission informing the agency there would be no proxy solicitation by him for the meeting.

He had filed in February with the SEC one of two forms required for proxy solicitation, but had never filed the second form. The move was a part of an attempt to oust the present management of the department store company.

Although he is dropping the proxy contest at this time on the advice of counsel, he still wants to see a change in the management, Baer said.

Baer and his brother, S. Charles Baer will be included in the management slate of directors expected to be elected by shareholders at the annual meeting. Robert H. McRoberts, company counsel and vice chairman of the board of directors, told the Post-Dispatch. Each holds nearly enough shares to elect himself, under the cumulative voting rule, he pointed out.

Charles Baer resigned in February as vice president and general manager of the Westroads branch of the store after an unsuccessful attempt to remove Leo C. Fuller, chairman of the board, and Arthur B. Baer, president. Arthur Baer is a cousin of Sidney and Charles Baer.

Charles Baer said he wants to see changes in the store's management, but did not associate himself with his brother's actions to start a proxy contest.

If you've been thinking of air conditioning your home...or any part of it...read this first:

A FEW BASIC FACTS

Gas air conditioning is available to every household in the Laclede Gas Company's service area.

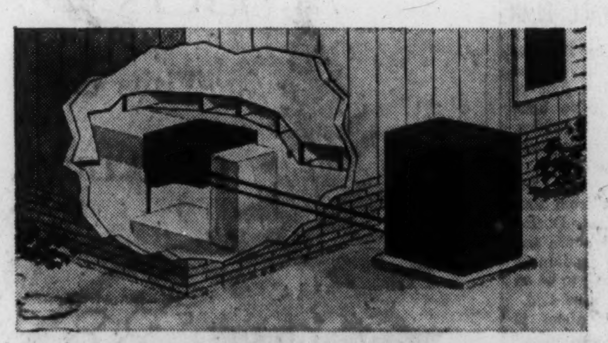
A central Gas system lets you cool your entire house for as little as half the operating cost of any other method.

A single unit, fully automatic, eliminates the inefficiencies of "zone" cooling methods. And there's nothing to obstruct the view from your windows...nothing to mar the appearance of your home, inside or out.

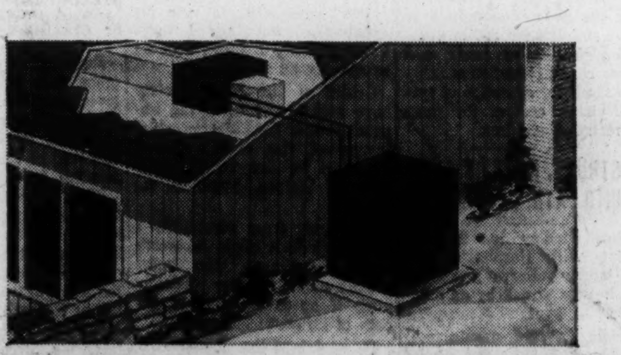
But that's not all. Air conditioning your whole house with Gas is easier—and cheaper—than you ever thought possible. The reason: central Gas air conditioning is compatible with any heating system. However you heat your home in winter, one of these economical Gas units will keep it comfortably cool in summer:

Year-round all-Gas unit for both cooling and heating.
One compact unit uses the same blower system and ductwork to circulate cool, dehumidified air in summer, warm air in winter...filtered air all year 'round.

Add-on cooling unit for use with present Gas forced-air system.
This cooling unit is installed in connection with the furnace blower. The coil section uses the furnace blower for circulating cool, filtered, dehumidified air.



Add-on cooling unit for use with any forced-air system.
This coil is installed in the main duct of the system. It is used in conjunction with the furnace blower for circulation of cool, filtered, dehumidified air.



Separate cooling system for use with water and steam heat systems.
This blower coil is used for a separate air conditioning system and is installed with its own ductwork for hot water or steam systems.

CEYLON ASSAILS BELGIAN ROLE IN CONGO TURMOIL

By DONALD GRANT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 4. — In the face of new trouble in The Congo, including threats by President Moise Tshombe of Katanga to attack U.N. forces there, the United Nations General Assembly continued its Congo debate today and the Congo advisory committee met in special session.

T. B. Subasinghe of Ceylon declared in the General Assembly that Tshombe was acting as the tool of Belgian interests. Quoting The Observer of London, Subasinghe asserted "Tshombe was willing to rely heavily on Belgian technical and military support to prop up his otherwise largely meaningless declaration of independence."

The Ceylonese ambassador declared the Congo trouble can be cured only by removing Belgians from key positions in The Congo and stopping the flow of arms from the Belgians to their friends in The Congo.

Tshombe's threats against U.N. forces in Katanga, particularly against newly arrived Indian troops, were not taken too seriously by those directing the U.N. Congo operation. So far, it was said, U.N. forces in Katanga are able to protect themselves.

Although no responsible U.N. official wanted to say so openly, a showdown with Eshombe is welcomed here.

The U.N. has been trying with little success to carry out a series of resolutions by the General Assembly and the Security Council relating to The Congo. These resolutions were supported by the United States. Tshombe and his Belgian backers are viewed by the U.N. secretariat as the chief bulwarks against the successful carrying out of the U.N. mission.

The U.N. Congo advisory committee, meeting with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and his personal representative for The Congo operation, Rajeshwar Dayal, devoted most of its attention today to the situation at Matadi. The U.N. has been prevented from controlling its flow of supplies through this port by military action derícted from Leopoldville.

Dayal attempted to negotiate with the government headed by President Joseph Kasavubu and Prime Minister Joseph Ileo without success. More recently negotiations have been conducted in Leopoldville by the acting special U.N. representative there, Mikki Abbas, with equal lack of success.

Hammarskjold yesterday made public a long exchange of correspondence between himself and Justin Bomboko, Kasavubu's foreign minister, on the subject. This exchange makes plain that Hammarskjold supports Dayal against complaints made by the Kasavubu regime and backed by some western diplomats.

In today's assembly debate, the Ceylonese delegate, Subasinghe, referred to the personal campaign conducted against Dayal.

This campaign, he said, is conducted "in some sections of the Western press. . . . is echoed in Belgian quarters. Kasavubu and his colleagues are of the same mind. This indeed is a very strange coincidence."

Subasinghe added that "there are two conditions that must be fulfilled without further delay, namely the complete withdrawal of all foreign advisers, military and paramilitary personnel and mercenaries and, secondly, a stoppage to the flow of arms to military groups in The Congo.

"Only thereby can the Congolese people peacefully solve their own affairs through a legally established parliament."

AUTO AGENCY BURGLARY

Compacts Inc., an autombile dealer at 311 Lemay Ferry road, Lemay, was entered by burglars last night, St. Louis county police reported.

Robert Engle, the owner, said a television set, an adding machine, a typewriter and other items worth a total of $520 were stolen. Entrance was made by breaking a rear window, police said.

cials and voting from illegal residences, the party spokesman said.

In a statement the board said: "The two Democratic members of the board do not feel deputy election commissioners are needed. However, in view of the law which enables any two commissioners to appoint deputy election commissioners, the Democratic members of the board concur in the action."

Board employes worked last night to lineup special deputies. G. Duncan Bauman, board secretary, said at least one team was on duty in each ward and that efforts were being made to obtain an additional team for each.

Tucker in his campaign has pointed to his record of leadership in a wide variety of achievements and outlined a 14-point program for future action. Lindenbusch has argued the administration has been ineffective and produced "stagnation and decay."

Incumbent Comptroller John H. Poelker seeks re-election on the Democratic ticket against Republican Joseph M. Mahoney, a sales co-ordinator for International Shoe Co. Like the mayor, the comptroller serves a four-year term.

About 500 persons attended a G.O.P. "victory rally" last night at Alhambra Grotto, 2626 South Grand boulevard. The meeting was sponsored by Republican organizations of the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Sixteenth Wards.

Lindenbusch, Mahoney and several aldermanic candidates spoke briefly. Entertainment was furnished by a Dixieland band.

Twelve incumbent aldermen, 10 Democrats and two Republicans, are seeking re-election in the 14-odd numbered wards in the city. In the First and Twenty-seventh wards, incumbents were defeated in the primary election.

Democratic candidates are John R. McSkimming, First Ward; James W. Noonan, Third; John T. Curry, Fifth; Raymond Leisure, Seventh; Louis M. Aboussie, Ninth; Albert Villa, Eleventh; Don F. Kern, Thirteenth; Thomas M. O'Shea, Fifteenth; Joseph P. Roddy, Seventeenth; DeWitte T. Lawson, Nineteenth; A. Barney Mueller, Twenty-first; John A. Sartorius, Twenty-third; John D. Gumersell, Twenty-fifth, and Theodore S. Martin, Twenty-seventh.

Republican candidates are Frank A. Zein, First Ward; Benjamin Kolbenschlag, Third; Ferdinand A. DeSha, Fifth; Edward W. Spengemann, Seventh; Harold A. Hettenhausen, Ninth; Daniel T. Kearns, Eleventh; George J. Grellner, Thirteenth; William C. Lochmoeller, Fifteenth; Dr. Kelsie O. Pylant, Seventeenth; Joel Jenkins, Nineteenth; Lester J. Crow, Twenty-first; Joseph J. Hanses, Twenty-third; Joseph B. McDonald, Twenty-fifth, and Joseph H. Kleine, Twenty-seventh.

Ten candidates, including two incumbents, are seeking seats on the 12-member Board of Education on a non-partisan basis. Four will be chosen for full six-year terms and the fifth for a two-year unexpired term.

An intensive campaign for a slate of five candidates has been waged by the Citizens' Association for the Public Schools (C.A.P.S.), headed by Andy J. Brown Jr. Those indorsed are Mrs. Gilbert Harris and James S. McClellan, incumbents named to the board last year by Mayor Tucker to fill vacancies, and Frederick E. Busse, James E. Hurt Jr. and Elmer W. Pounds. Pounds seeks the two-year term.

The other five candidates are John D. Connaghan, John J. Nally, Charles W. Corey Jr., Patrick J. Walsh and Frederick O. Whaley.

Katanga

populace to oppose the United Nations.

White and black Katanga troops and police armed with light automatic weapons choked downtown streets.

Machine gun posts were set up overlooking most intersections.

Soldier commandeered shops and office blocks. The communications center and the headquarters of the Katanga radio station were taken over by Tshombe's army.

Foreign correspondents filing stories were searched by troops with fixed bayonets. Armored trucks and army vehicles were scattered across streets, forming roadblocks.

The chief U.N. representative in Katanga, Georges Dumontet, took refuge in his closely guarded residence.

An aide of U.N. Commander Kjellgren gave this account of the attempt to capture the airport:

About 1 a.m. one of the Swedish airport guards reported that shadowy figures were moving about the airport runways.

Other Swedes went to investigate and discovered that under cover of darkness and torrential rain, 12 heavy trucks had been driven on to the runway at various points and attempts were being made to enter the control tower.

Soldiers Go to Runway.

Col. Kjellgren was immediately summoned. When he arrived at the airport, he called for reinforcements from the Swedish camp.

Without waiting for them to arrive he took charge of a group of 12 soldiers, all armed with Sten guns, and went out on to the runway.

They crept up silently in a circle around the Katanga platoon and surrounded it.

Kjellgren ordered the soldiers to put down their arms and surrender.

"At first it seemed as though they were going to fight," the aide said, "but when the Belgian officer saw they were surrounded, he ordered his men to surrender. They dropped their guns, and we marched them with their hands above their heads to the airport building."

When word reached Tshombe of the failure of the attempt, he tried to obtain the immediate release of the captured troops in telephone calls to Dumontet, and to Kjellgren. When this was denied, Tshombe ordered the airport's electric power cut, and an emergency floodlamp furnished the only light in the main hall of the airport building.

Meanwhile at Kamina, 250 miles northwest of Elisabethville in Katanga, the U.N. was completing the airlift of nearly 1000 Gurkha troops to the military base there in defiance of a warning by Tshombe that the move could mean war.

The Gurkha commander said one bullet fired at his men would mean prompt retaliation, with "many heads lost."

The Gurkhas, tough fighters from the Himalayan foothills of Nepal, began pouring into Kamina Saturday.

The Gurkhas have 150 years of fighting tradition behind them. They are famous for their short, sharp knives, called kukris which they carry into battle.

Kamina, the big former Belgian military base and air field, is occupied also by U.N. Irish troops. They welcomed the Gurkhas with their Irish pipe band and Irish songs.

Move for Peace.

By the United Press International.

A high level emissary of Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu flew to Stanleyville yesterday to try to pave the way for peace with rival the Lumumbist regime of Antoine Gizenga.

Leopoldville Province Premier Cleophas Kamitatu made the flight aboard a United Nations DC-3. His job was to make the first political contacts between Gizenga, who has assumed the mantle of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba, and the Congolese leaders who recognize the Leopoldville government.

The talks between Kamitatu and Gizenga were expected to be only a first step toward a reconciliation between the Leopoldville and Stanleyville regimes.

Kamitatu is a member of Gizenga's own African Solidarity Party. Although the two men were rivals within their party, Kamitatu is closer to Gizenga politically than any other Leopoldvile leader.

At the recent Tananarive "summit conference," Congolese leaders, with the exception of Gizenga, decided to form a confederation of Congo states. When an agreement on details is reached, the members states, including Katanga, plan to convene parliament to legalize the federation. Federation leaders are trying to get Gizenga to join their talks.

Laos

East and West met to find a political settlement to the Asian hot spot.

For Giving Up U.S. Aid.

Earlier the Laotian government had said it was willing to give up United States aid if Russia cuts off its help to the Communists in Laos and North Viet Nam.

Information Minister Bouavan Norasing said the United States and the Soviet Union should stop aid to the two sides simultaneously. Then a cease-fire could go into effect.

He said that under such conditions Laos would accept the International Control Commission on Indochina—composed of Canada, India and Poland—to supervise a cease-fire.

He made it clear, however, that this would depend on Moscow's stopping the massive arms aid to both North Viet Nam and the Pathet Lao rebel forces in Laos.

North Viet Nam Protests Against SEATO Resolution.

TOKYO, April 4 (AP) — Red North Viet Nam has filed a protest with the co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference against the resolution adopted by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization last Wednesday, the Peiping radio reported today.

The broadcast said the protest was made by Foreign Minister Ung Van Khiem in a letter dated April 1 to the co-chairmen, Britain and the Soviet Union.

"The Viet Namese people cannot tolerate the interference in South Viet Nam by any aggressive organization or any country with the purpose of preventing the Viet Namese people from solving their own internal affairs," Khiem said.

The SEATO resolution warned that the alliance would take "appropriate action" to prevent an armed Communist takeover in Laos.

McNamara

able to ballistic missile attack and its effectiveness could be degraded by the use of more sophisticated I.C.B.M.'s as multiple decoys. Finally, it is a very expensive system in relation to the degree of protection that it can furnish."

The Secretary, explaining at length the President's decision to cancel the nuclear aircraft program, said an atomic plane would have been limited to an altitude of 35,000 feet and to subsonic speed.

Construction of such a plane for military purposes is a doubtful proposition, he said. "There is a real question as to whether defense projects should be pursued solely to provide "prestige value'," in this case the first achievement nuclear flight.

For New Fighter Plane.

As one step toward a non-nuclear war capability, McNamara urged an increase of $45,000,000 for the development of a new tactical fighter plane. It would be able to operate from aircraft carriers as well as from "much shorter and cruder runways" on land. It would "carry the heavy conventional ordnance loads needed in limited war."

McNamara, without mentioning the charges that military leaders have been left out in defense planning, said he reviewed the program with the Joint Chiefs of Staff "in order to have the benefit of their advice and counsel."

"I believe it is fair to say that the President's recommendations reflect a consensus of the principal military and civilian officials of the Department of Defense," he said.

Price Criticizes Halting of Work on Atomic Plane.

WASHINGTON, April 4 (UPI) —Air Force research officials and Representative Melvin Price of East St. Louis believe the most fateful decision in President Kennedy's defense budget was in a paragraph canceling the nuclear-powered flight program.

The Illinois Democrat called this a "tragic error." As chairman of the joint congressional subcommittee on atomic research, Price has been fighting for nuclear flight for years.

(The Associated Press quoted Price as saying yesterday Russia will fly the first atomic-powered airplane merely because the United States is lagging.

(Price conceded that building an all-atomic powered plane will be a tougher job than development of the atomic submarine.

("But, we won't ever build it unless we work at it," said Price.

prime minister in a neutral government, the informants said. They suggested a formula could be found under which King Savang Vatthana would take over and Souvanna Phouma might be a deputy prime minister, foreign minister or both.

The British, informants said, also believe the Communist Pathet Lao could not be realistically excluded from any neutralist solution for Laos but they certainly do not want them to occupy a key position.

Mr. Kennedy, ending his Easter vacation in Florida, flew back to Washington late in the afternoon. Macmillan is scheduled to arrive from the West Indies at 6 p.m. (5 p.m. St. Louis time).

To keep the Prime Minister out of the capital's rush hour traffic, a helicopter will take him to the naval observatory grounds next door to the British embassy. He will stay at the embassy during his five-day visit.

Macmillan and Mr. Kennedy will meet tomorrow, Thursday and Saturday for broad foreign policy talks. Preliminary joint reviews have been under way at lower levels for weeks.

The President and the Prime Minister met briefly at Key West, Fla., March 26 to discuss the Laotian situation.

(The State Department said today it had no confirmation of reports of a new assault by Communist paratroops in Laos. But a spokesman said that if the report is borne out the United States would regard the Laos crisis as "infinitely more serious."

(Department press officer Lincoln White told a press conference the United States has no information of any more serious fighting than the "minor patrol activities" which have gon on for the past week.

(Meanwhile the Sovit airlift to Laotian communists is continuing, he said.)

In Vientiane, a royal Laotian government spokesman went beyond United States demands by calling for a halt to the Soviet airlift before agreeing to a cease-fire.

Another matter headed for Kennedy-Macmillan consideration was the question of Red China's admission to the United Nations.

United States authorities fear the time will soon arrive when enough votes cannot be mustered in the U.N. to keep the Peiping government from a seat if it comes to a direct vote.

CUBA TO FREE 2 AMERICANS; PLANE WAS FORCED DOWN

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Two Americans held in Cuba since their plane was forced down on a flight over the island March 24 are being released today, it was announced here.

They are pilot Linden Blue of Denver, Colo., and Donald Swenson, an executive with Gerber Products Co. of Fremont, Mich., who was a passenger. They were flying over Cuba en route from Key West, Fla., to Managua, Nicaragua.

The Department of State said the Swiss embassy in Havana had cabled word of their impending release.

RUSSIA ACCEPTS SUBSTANCE OF 4 TEST BAR PLANS

GENEVA, April 4 (AP)—The Soviet Union today announced agreement in principle to four American - British compromise proposals on how to control an accord on suspending nuclear weapons tests.

Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the three-power nuclear test bar talks the Soviet government is willing to accept the latest American-British offers for East-West partnership in research programs involving nuclear explosions underground, tests for peaceful industrial purposes and explosions in outer space. He expressed agreement with another Western offer that the over-all annual budget of the proposed system to control a test bar be adopted by "unanimity."

The Soviet Union has insisted on this from the beginning of the two and a half year old conference. Unanimity in setting down the total budget, in the western view, presupposes veto power. The British and American side had decided to accept this on condition individual budgetary items remain free from veto provision, which could hamper the working of the control system.

The Soviet delegate did not reply to any major point of the western concession package, expounded by United States delegate Arthur H. Dean, with the backing of British minister of state David Ormsby-Gore, before Easter.

He made no mention of two recent Soviet demands which are entirely unacceptable to the western side.

One is a formal proposal that the administrator of a control system be replaced by a triumvirate: one westerner, one Communist and one neutral. The West insists such a provision would jeopardize the day-to-day operation of the system.

The other is that the United States and Britain force France to abandon its nuclear testing program.

Conference sources stressed that the four proposals Tsarapkin accepted today really correspond to the original Soviet position.

"We have met the Soviets all the way on these points," one diplomat said. "And he told us today that his agreement to our acceptance of the Soviet position constituted a positive help."

COUNTY ORDERS FRIENDLY LION KEPT IN CAGE

Richard Flinn's friendly lion may be the toast of night club patrons but it is not accepted as a domestic pet in St. Louis county, Police Sgt. John D. Robertson said today.

The lion, a frisky one-year-old, has appeared in a night club act with an "exotic" dancer billed as Bon Bon. Flinn, who said he is training the animal for a bigger and better act, has been leaving the lion in daytime at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Straussner, 2802 Wheaton avenue, in northwest St. Louis county.

Sgt. Robertson went to the Straussner home yesterday after receiving complaints from neighbors who objected to the lion being staked out in the backyard. He ordered Flinn to keep his pet caged under a county ordinance which says only cats and dogs may roam.

The sergeant was unimpressed when Flinn demonstrated the lion's gentleness by placing his neck in the mouth of the beast.

"I wouldn't let just anyone do this," Flinn admitted. "Strangers might make my lion nervous."

2 KILLED BY TRAIN; SECOND RECENT TRAGEDY IN FAMILY

DIXON, Ill., April 4 (AP)—Tragedy struck again last night at the Robert Donaldson family, which lost a son in a shooting accident last fall. The mother and another son were killed in an automobile-train collision that caused serious injuries to the three remaining members of the family.

State police said the Donaldson station wagon struck a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy freight train at a crossing nine miles south of Dixon. Killed were Mrs. Thais Donaldson and her 7-year-old son, Cary.

Her husband, another son, Timothy, 11, and a daughter, Lauri, 4, were taken to a Dixon hospital. In October, the Donaldson's 13-year-old son, Stanley, accidentally shot himself when playing with a revolver at their home near Walnut, Ill.

ARGENTINE GUARDS ARREST SIX, SEIZE RED PROPAGANDA

POSADAS, Argentina, April 4 (UPI)—Border guards based at San Ignacio seized an abandoned automobile loaded with Communist propaganda near the town of Teyueuare yesterday and arrested six persons nearby. The prisoners included five Argentines and a Paraguayan.

The fact that the incident occurred near the Paraguayan border created belief that it was related to recent attempts by Paraguanyan refugees to organize an invasion of their homeland.

CURBS ON SOME EXPORTS EASED, OTHERS TIGHTENED

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Department of Commerce eased restrictions yesterday on certain types of exports to Hong Kong and Macao. At the same time, it imposed new restrictions on some other items shipped anywhere except Canada.

Effective immediately, items which may be shipped to Hong Kong and Macao without individual export licenses include adding machines, punch card equipment, collating machines, photo composing machines, motion picture screens and a wide range of antibiotics, drugs and medicines.

The department said that goods which henceforth would require individual licenses if exported to any country except Canada include gyro-stabilizers, high precision gyroscopes and accelorometers, and alloy steel pipe and tubing covered with polytetrafluoroethylene.

There are so-called "bargain" tires, "cheapie" tires, "discount" tires. And other tires you've never even heard of.

Most of them have one thing in common. They do a lot of shouting about price. But there's a big difference in what goes into them, as compared to a Goodyear tire.

1. Goodyear gives you a stronger tire body. It's the tire body that takes the beating. And it all depends on cords and plies. So we tested our 3-T Nylon All-Weather — priced at $12.88 — against nine other nylon cord tires in the $10-$12 price class or better. We counted cords. And plies. And tested for cord strength. Result: Goodyear's tire was rated 23.2% stronger than the average rating of all the others.

2. Goodyear gives you a tougher tread. Here's where better tires really pay off—where the rubber meets the road. Goodyear gives you all-new tread rubber in every tire. And it pays off good: the strength of Goodyear's tread was actually greater than the average of the rest. And a stronger tread leads to longer mileage.

3. Goodyear gives you greater overall strength! Comparing the results of body tests and tread tests, Goodyear comes out way ahead—the best combination of better materials. It all works out to your best advantage. Actually, Goodyear not only proved out best on both counts but topped them all in overall quality rating, too!

Before you part with $10, $11, or $12 for any tire, get the inside story on what you're getting. Remember that for about the same price, you can get a lot more tire—a Turnpike-Proved Goodyear tire — built for extra safety and extra mileage. See for yourself!

3-T NYLON ALL-WEATHER $$12^{88}$

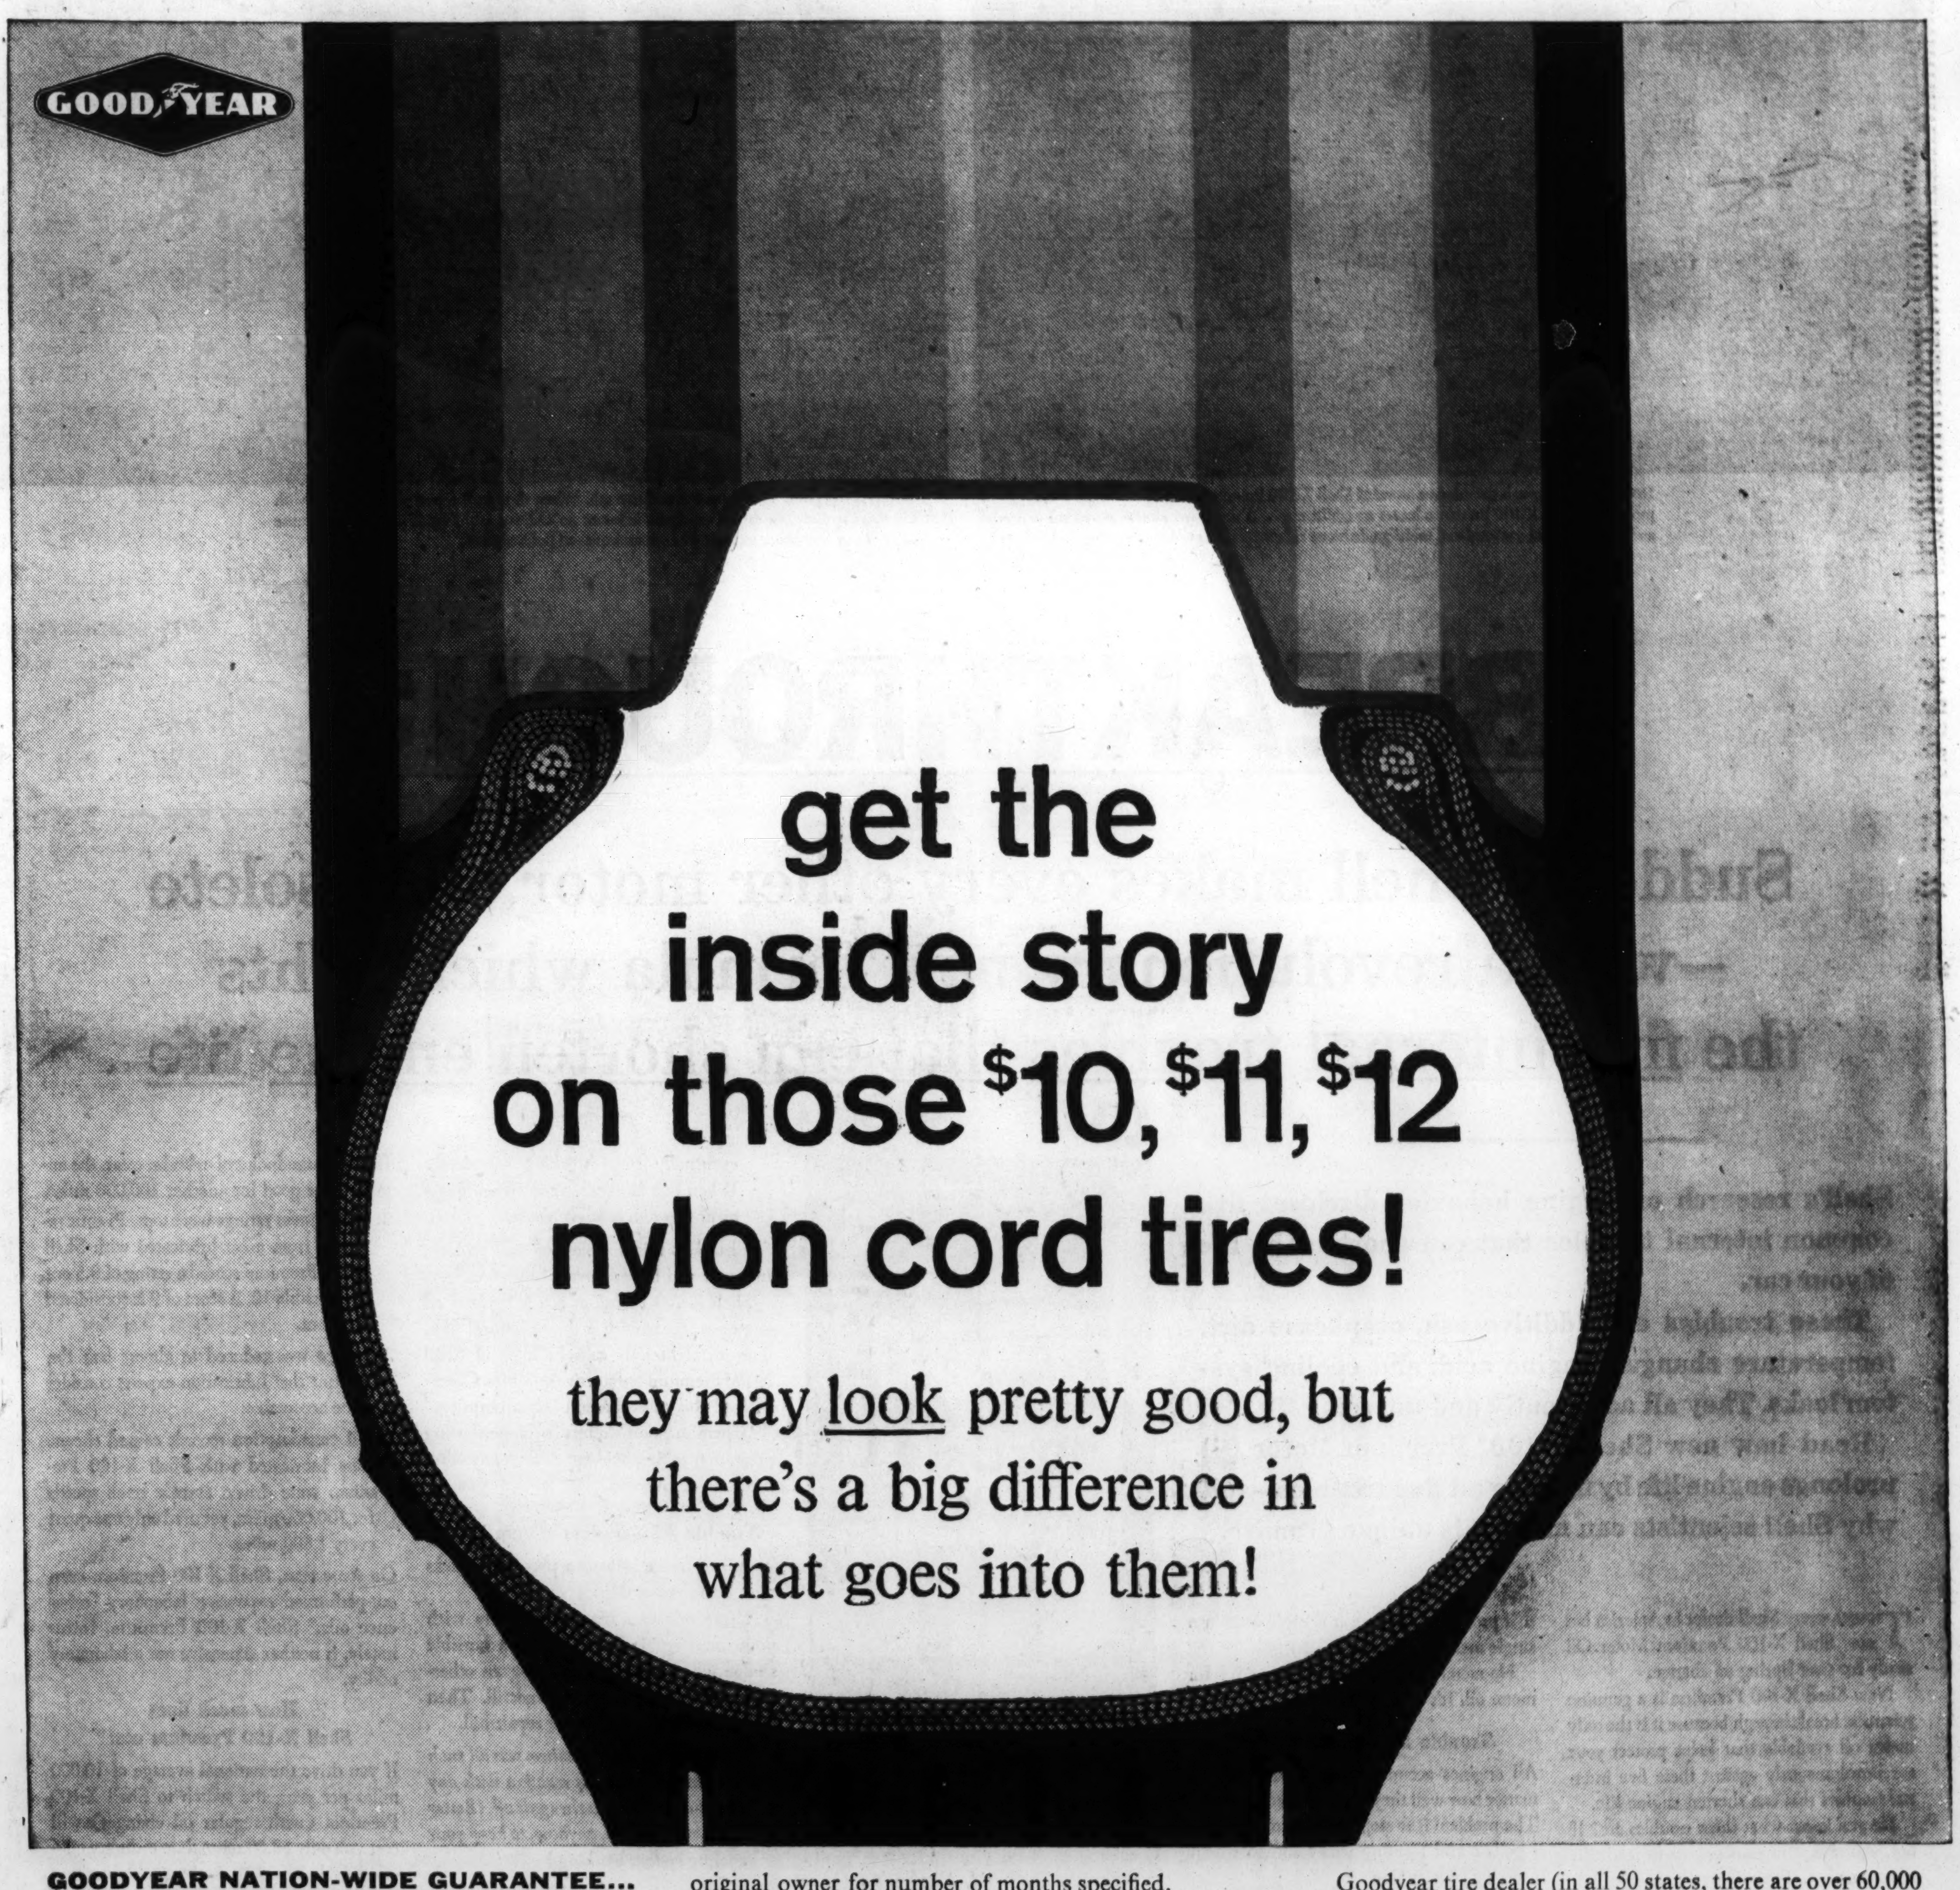
NO MONEY DOWN with your old tire. Pay as little as $1.25 a week.



GOODYEAR
get the inside story on those $10, $11, $12 nylon cord tires!
they may look pretty good, but there's a big difference in what goes into them!

GOODYEAR NATION-WIDE GUARANTEE...

1. Road Hazard Guarantee—All new Goodyear automobile tires are guaranteed by written certificate against normal Road Hazards—i. e. blowouts, fabric breaks, cuts—except repairable punctures. This guarantee limited to original owner for number of months specified.

2. Lifetime Guarantee—All Goodyear tires are guaranteed against any defects in workmanship and material without limit as to time or mileage.

Remember, wherever you and your family drive, any Goodyear tire dealer (in all 50 states, there are over 60,000 of them) will repair your damaged tire without charge, or make you an allowance toward the purchase of a new tire, based on the original tread depth remaining and the current "Goodyear Price."

Hot piston test reveals the ash-free secret of Shell X-100 Premium. Here's how Shell scientists can prove that Shell X-100 Premium leaves no additive ash. A simulated aluminum piston is heated and a few drops of conventional multi-grade motor oil dropped on it. As the picture on left shows, this oil leaves a deposit. This deposit is additive ash. When the test is repeated, as at right, with Shell X-100 Premium, all the oil vaporizes. It leaves no additive ash. This is important, because additive ash can contribute to engine knock and uneven performance.

BREAKTHROUGH:

Suddenly Shell makes every other motor oil obsolete —with a revolutionary new formula which fights the five internal troubles that can shorten engine life

Shell's research on engine behavior discloses five common internal troubles that can shorten the life of your car.

These troubles are additive ash, crankcase dirt, temperature changes, engine acid, and cooling system leaks. They all act silently and unseen.

Read how new Shell X-100* Premium Motor Oil prolongs engine life by fighting all five troubles—and why Shell scientists can make this unique promise.

Today, every Shell dealer in America has new Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil ready for your Spring oil change.

New Shell X-100 Premium is a genuine scientific breakthrough because it is the only motor oil available that helps protect your car simultaneously against these five internal troubles that can shorten engine life.

Do you know what these troubles are? If not, you owe it to your engine to read this advertisement. Ten minutes' time now can save you hours of trouble in the future.

Trouble #1—additive ash

Up to now, even the best premium motor oils were powerless to guard against additive ash—because they actually created it. While endeavoring to keep your crankcase shipshape, some of the ingredients in these oils contributed to the hard crust of ash inside your combustion chamber.

All other premium motor oils still have the same snag.

The trouble stems from the metallic additives used to prevent scuffing, dirt deposits, oxidation and so forth. These additives do what's expected of them, but with each stroke of the piston, they can leave a tiny amount of metallic salts in the combustion chamber where they burn and form additive ash.

> This hard crusty ash, when allowed to build up, can seriously affect your car's performance—and can make it knock and run roughly.

New Shell X-100 Premium doesn't add to this problem—because it doesn't contain a single metallic additive.

No metal additives. No additive ash from motor oil. It's as simple as that.

Trouble #2—crankcase dirt

All engines accumulate crankcase dirt no matter how well they are protected by filters. The problem is to stop this dirt from getting together and forming sticky sludge which can clog your engine.

Most premium oils use a detergent additive to do the job. And they perform well. But, like other additives, most detergents are metallic and cause that old devil—ash.

Shell's solution is to replace detergent with a remarkable new ingredient known as a dispersant. Shell scientists call it Alkadine.*

> Alkadine in new Shell X-100 Premium helps keep your engine clean by holding dirt particles apart. Thus they don't form sticky sludge. Some particles can be trapped by the oil filter; most are drained out when you change your oil.

Oddly enough, nobody yet knows exactly how Alkadine works. But the proof of the pudding is in the testing. After 1,200,000 miles of city driving, engines of test cars lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium showed so little sludge that it could hardly be measured.

Trouble #3—temperature changes

Many motor oils tend to become too thick when cold and too thin when hot.

This is new Shell X-100 Premium. Look for the white can with red letters. Your Shell service station now has it.

New Shell X-100 Premium is an all-year oil. Here's how it works. Alkadine has a molecular structure that resembles a basket of eels.

When the oil is cold, Alkadine's eel-like molecules curl up as if for comfort. In effect, they take up less space in the oil—and the oil flows freely through the tightest bearing, even on cold nights.

Conversely, when the Alkadine in new Shell X-100 Premium is hot, its molecules uncurl. They take up more room. And the oil resists thinning.

Thus, new Shell X-100 Premium eliminates trouble from sudden temperature changes. It lubricates just as efficiently in June as it does in January.

Trouble #4—engine acid

All automobile engines manufacture acid. This acid can do far more damage than friction. It can eat away at engine parts in much the way stomach acid can cause ulcers. Then you're really in trouble.

One way to combat engine acid is to make the oil alkaline. Many oils use this method. But here's what happens.

> The neutralizing effect of alkaline oil inevitably gets weaker and weaker as engine acid eats up the alkalinity—till it eventually stops working completely When this happens, your oil no longer gives you anti-acid protection.

Shell tackles this troublesome acid problem in a new and better way.

Shell X-100 Premium actually plates all engine surfaces with a thin chemical film. The metal literally adsorbs some of Shell X-100 Premium's protective qualities. Chemists call this phenomenon "chemisorption."

"Chemisorption" offers a longer-lasting protection against acid attack than any other method yet invented.

Trouble #5—cooling system leaks

Tiny anti-freeze leaks can play nasty tricks with many motor oils.

These oils can react chemically with permanent anti-freeze and form a horrible sludge which can actually bring an otherwise healthy engine to a standstill. Then you're on the way to a major repair bill.

> New Shell X-100 Premium sets all such fears at rest. It resists reaction with any sort of anti-freeze. It shrugs it off. (Better get that leak fixed, anyhow, to keep your cooling system working.)

The additives in Shell X-100 Premium resist washing out with water, too. In some oils, additives can be lost to water leaks. In Shell X-100 Premium, they stay in the oil to protect your engine.

Astounding results from 5½ million-mile road test

Professional drivers put Shell X-100 Premium to a brutal test. They took $270,000 worth of automobiles and drove them relentlessly for 5½ million miles. Over highways, up mountain grades, around test tracks, over turnpikes—and through city traffic.

When Shell technicians tore the engines apart for inspection, here's what they found.

1. Wear was incredibly low. One car lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium still revealed the original tool markings on its rings—even after 70,000 miles at speeds of 60 to 100 mph.

The low wear with Shell X-100 Premium was verified over and over. In fact, when nine cars were driven at test track speeds for 70,000 to 100,000 miles, it was found that, from the standpoint of cylinder wear, the engines were good for another 100,000 miles.

2. Cleanliness ratings were tops. Pistons removed from a car lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium scored a rating of 9.5 out of a possible 10. A score of 9 is considered excellent.
3. Sludge was reduced to almost half the amount that lubrication experts consider to be acceptable.
4. Oil consumption records caused cheers. Cars lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium were driven at race track speeds for 100,000 miles, yet used only one quart every 1,800 miles.

On some tests, Shell X-100 Premium even out-performed expensive laboratory "reference oils." Shell X-100 Premium, fortunately, is neither expensive nor a laboratory oddity.

How much does Shell X-100 Premium cost?

If you drive the national average of 10,000 miles per year, the switch to Shell X-100 Premium (with regular oil changes) will cost you only $3.60 more than ordinary oil—give or take a nickel. And probably nothing extra if you already use a premium grade.

Drive to your Shell service station and ask the dealer to change your oil while the engine is still hot. Be sure to ask for Shell X-100 Premium in the white can. It protects your engine from all five internal troubles listed above.

U.S. SEES BOTH SIDES IN ALGERIA PEACE EFFORT

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The United States government said today it has been in touch with French government and Algerian rebel representatives to promote peace talks between the two.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said in confirming the move:

"We naturally were disturbed at reports that the Algerian peace talks at Evian might not open as scheduled on April 7.

"We are convinced, however, that a real desire to settle outstanding differences continues to exist on both sides. . . .

"We are certain that means can be found to surmount the present barrier to the opening of talks so that the substantive problems involved in an Algerian settlement can be discussed calmly at the conference table."

White referred to the rebel FLN (National Liberation Front) threat not to show up at the Evian parley if France deals with a rival Algerian national movement.

The United States intervention in the Algerian affair was the first such move openly announced by the United States government.

White said the contact with the rebels was made by the United States Ambassador to Tunisia, Walter N. Walmsley Jr., who has met from time to time with two ministers of the nationalist Algerian government at social functions in Tunis.

White said the French were told of the Tunis conversations.

Earlier today dispatches from Tunis had reported a two-hour session between Walmsley and F.L.N. representatives. Rebel circles took that as a move toward recognition of their exile government but the embassy said there has been no change in United States relations with the French government.

The ministers were Abdel Hafid Boussouf, minister of armament and liaison, and Information Minister Mohammed Yazid.

White said the United States ambassador acted on instructions from Washington, but this in no way constituted United States recognition of the Algerian rebels.

$10,000 REQUESTED TO KEEP DOWNTOWN REVENUE OFFICE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4 — The Department of Revenue requested today a $10,000 appropriation for the next two years to maintain its downtown St. Louis branch office at Washington avenue and tenth street.

M. E. Morris, department director, told the Senate Appropriations committee that its lease on the property expires in June. The $10,000 annual rental for the branch office has been donated in the last three years by Downtown St. Louis, Inc., but that civic body reported that it would be unable to pay the full expense in the future, Morris said.

Morris said Downtown St. Louis, Inc., had agreed eo pay half the rent for the next two years. He recommended that the Legislature accept the offer to remain at the same site at a cost of one-half the annual rental.

AMERICAN FREED BY PEIPING SAID TO BE DELAYED

HONG KONG, April 4 (AP)—Bad weather is reported to have delayed the departure from Peiping of Robert E. McCann, 60-year-old American released from a Red Chinese prison after nearly 10 years because he is ill with lung cancer.

McCann was to have been flown to Canton today and taken across the border tomorrow. He now is not expected in Hong Kong before Thursday.

A United States Air Force plane is waiting in Hong Kong to fly McCann to Clark Field in the Philippines for medical examination and possibly removal to the United States. British Red Cross officials said McCann may have only a few days to live.

McCann's wife rushed here from her home in Pasadena, Calif., after learning her husband was seriously ill and crossed the border into Red China last Tuesday. She arrived Thursday in Tientsin, where McCann had been a business man before the Communist takeover of China and where, on June 14, 1951, he was sentenced to 15 years in prison on espionage charges.

U.S. PAID $70,000,000 FOR AID PROJECT SET AT $18,000,000

WASHINGTON, April 4 (UPI) — Congressional auditors said yesterday the cost of a foreign aid highway project in Viet Nam had jumped from $18,000,000 to $70,000,000 between the contractor's first estimate and the end of construction.

The General Accounting Office cited the project in a report to Congress on the International Co-operation Administration. The ICA conceded that a number of its projects "did not have the benefit of advanced planning."

The GAO gave the ICA credit for making considerable effort to improve its procedures in the last few years, but it said some projects have gone ahead "before reliable cost estimates had been prepared."

The report said the lack of adequate foreign aid planning had hampered contractors because "project plans had to be refined and in some cases materially changed after award of contract."

IN AMERICA'S BIGGEST, TOUGHEST 1961 ECONOMY CONTEST...

Which man drove Rambler?

In the toughest, most realistic test of all-around gasoline economy ever staged—the NASCAR sanctioned 1961 Pure Oil Economy Trials at Daytona International Speedway, Rambler won—not just one—but the three trophies held by driver Les Viland in the photo above.

No other make won more than one award :.. most won none.

Unlike other runs that put a premium on feather-footed driving, the Pure Oil Economy Trials closely parallel your own everyday driving experience.

Every U.S.-built production car is eligible to compete. None are arbitrarily barred, as in some other runs. 145 cars representing all 5 U.S. makers entered this year's Trials.

Rambler American Custom with overdrive beat them all to win the cherished Overall Winner Trophy and captured the Class 6 trophy in competition with Falcon, Corvair, Lark and Tempest 4. In fact, Rambler American took the first 6 places and 8 of the first 10.

And Ambassador V-8 by Rambler won its Class, swept the first 8 places and 9 of the first 10 spots.

Traveling at speeds up to 65 M.P.H. and averaging more than 40 M.P.H., the winning Rambler American made 14 complete stops, one stop every 1.9 miles, and shifted through the gears 15 times while circling the 3.7 mile course. With this stop-and-go driving, it averaged a phenomenal 26.86 miles per gallon.

This is the second straight year Rambler has won the Pure Oil Economy Trials. This year's victory was achieved under the most realistic conditions of any major economy contest.

Want more proof of Rambler value? Then see your Rambler dealer. You'll find top gas economy is just part of your savings. Rambler costs less to buy, is voted most trouble-free by owners, has top resale value.

Rambler dealers sell twice as many compact cars per dealer as most other dealer groups. That's why your Rambler dealer can give you a better deal on the best of the compacts. Drive Rambler—world standard of compact car excellence.

RUSSIANS BACK MOVE FOR BREAK WITH S. AFRICA

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 4 (AP)—The Soviet Union threw its support today behind a call by 25 African nations for a world-wide break with South Africa in reprisal for its racial laws.

The Soviet move foreshadowed a floor battle with the United States which has made plain it opposes sanctions against the Union Government at this time.

Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev told the 99-nation special political committee his government supported the African resolution because it reflected the demands of people throughout the world.

African-Asian Split.

The 46-nation Asian-African group was split over the question of sanctions. Failing to reach a compromise two factions in the group came forth with rival resolutions for dealing with the apartheid question.

The 25 African members of the U.N. threw their unanimous support behind Ghana's call for sweeping sanctions that would sever all diplomatic and economic ties with the South African government, halt all postal and telegraph communications and close all ports and airfields to South African craft.

India, Ceylon and Malaya put in a resolution that would permit nations individually or collectively to take what action they deemed fit to force South Africa to change its treatment of its 10,000,000 non-whites.

U.A.R. Sides With Asians.

The United Arab Republic, although sponsoring the Ghana demand, later decided to add its name also to the three Asian nations' draft.

The split may serve to dissipate some of the resentment which has been brewing over a United States announcement last week that it favored making another appeal to South Africa but opposed harsh measures at this time.

The United States argued that sanctions would hurt the victims of the race laws more than the leaders of the Union government. African delegates, looking on this as another test of the Kennedy Administration's stand on colonial issues, said that if South African non-whites support penalties against the government, it was not up to the United States to worry about who suffered.

Support From Pakistan.

Pakistan in effect supported the United States position yesterday when it told the Political Committee that it did not consider sanctions wise at this stage. The appearance of the moderately phrased Indian draft indicated a number of other Asian nations feel the same way.

There were reports that India and Pakistan both feared that, if they supported a harsh call for sanctions, the Indian-Pakistani minority in South Africa might suffer reprisals from the South African government.

Some diplomats feel that any resolution calling for sanctions will have only an academic effect because the major nations trading with South Africa will ignore it.

PETE SEEGER GETS YEAR FOR CONTEMPT OF CONGRESS

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—Pete Seeger, 42-year-old folk singer, was sentenced today to one year in prison for contempt of Congress by refusing to answer questions about his possible Communist affiliations.

Seeger was convicted last week on 10 contempt counts. He was sentenced by United States District Judge Thomas F. Murphy.

Seeger appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in 1955 when it was investigating possible Communist infiltration of the entertainment field. He refused to answer any questions about political beliefs and associations. The government had said there was evidence Seeger had used his talents as an entertainer to promote Communist activities.

and two of the President's brothers-in-law—Stephen Smith and actor Peter Lawford.

Only the President's father had a golf club in his hand as the cameramen got pictures of the four at the first tee.

After the picture-taking was halted, Smith and the elder Kennedy got off fair drives. Lawford topped two balls and both traveled under 100 yards.

Then the President, once captain of the Harvard golf club, teed up his ball, straightened up and with scarcely a pause to address the ball, slammed into it.

The ball swerved to the left and the hook was made worse by the stiff wind. It stopped on the fairway of the second hole.

In just as much of a hurry as a gallery of about 100 watched, Mr. Kennedy tried another drive. It was almost a carbon copy of the first.

EX-BROKER PLEADS GUILTY TO FOUR FRAUD CHARGES

Arthur C. Costello, former Brentwood broker, pleaded guilty in United States District Court yesterday to four charges of defrauding investors in securities transactions. The Government dismissed four remaining counts against Costello.

Judge Randolph H. Weber asked for a probation report and deferred sentence until April 21. Maximum penalty facing Costello is five years in federal prison and $5000 on each of the four charges.

Although the grand jury failed to state the amount allegedly lost by investors dealing with Costello, the United States Attorney fixed the sum at $18,000. Costello, who operated Arthur Costello & Co., at 2929 South Brentwood boulevard, failed to deliver securities to his customers and used the purchase money for his own benefit, it was charged. Costello was also charged with diverting to his own use the proceeds of the sale of securities assigned to him by customers.

Public Power Backers Charge FPC Staff With Bias in Favor Of Private Project for Dam

Action on Snake River Plan Called Blatant and Incredible — Subpenas Sought—Dispute Likely to Be Aired in Senate.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 4.

A NEW controversy involving the Federal Power Commission is building up over charges that the FPC staff was biased in favor of a private power combine's plan for a dam in the Pacific northwest, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

The dispute centers around allegations that staff technicians relied exclusively on information furnished by the private power group in comparing its proposed hydro-electric project with a rival plan submitted by public utility districts.

The proceeding, which concerns competing applications to build the privately sponsored Mountain Sheep or publicly backed Nez Perce dam on the Snake river, is developing into a controversy reminiscent of the Hell's Canyon fight of a few years ago.

IT HAS REACHED such proportons that backers of the Nez Perce project recently took the unusual step of asking the FPC to subpena two of its own staff members to determine whether there was improper influence from "policy levels within the commission."

The new dispute could figure in Senate hearings scheduled to begin next week on President Kennedy's nomination of Joseph C. Swidler, a Democrat, as a member of the power commission.

Swidler, who has been noted for his defense of public power, is Mr. Kennedy's choice to head the FPC, but the present chairman, Jerome K. Kuykendall, a Republican, has refused to step down.

Public power groups have charged that the FPC staff used only the designs and engineering data supplied by Pacific Northwest Power Co. in comparing its proposal with the competing plan submitted by the Washington Public Power Supply System, an organization of more than 55 public utility districts.

IN HEARINGS before an FPC examiner, staff technicians acknowledged that they relied exclusively on the private power company's data in making the comparisons. They asserted that the Nez Perce application was not filed in time for them to use the public power material.

Backers of the Nez Perce dam point out, however, that the FPC had consolidated the two applications into one proceeding. They maintain that the staff therefore should have considered the data furnished by both applicants.

The American Public Power Association, representing more than 1000 publicly-owned local electrical utilities, charged last month that the FPC staff showed flagrant bias in using only the private power data. The association termed the staff's action blantant and incredible.

"The staff's procedure has been prejudicial to an orderly determination of the evidence upon which to base a decision," the A.P.P.A. said.

THE DESIGNS and engineering material submitted by Pacific Northwest Power Co. were prepared by Ebasco Services, Inc. of New York, a firm of management and engineering consultants in the utility field.

Ebasco, a subsidiary of Electric Bond & Share Co., also of New York, was a consultant to the Dixon-Yates combine.

Electric Bond & Share, until recently a utility holding company and now an investment firm, was involved in the power trust investigation of the 1930s which led to passage of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

Pacific Northwest Power Co. was formed by four private utilities interested in building a dam at the Mountain Sheep site on the middle stretch of the Snake river. Three of the utilities in the combine are former subsidiaries of Electric Bond & Share.

They are Pacific Power & Light Co. of Portland, Ore., the Washington Water Power Co. of Spokane and the Montana Power Co. The fourth private utility in the combine is the Portland General Electric Co. of Portland.

IN JANUARY 1958, the FPC denied the combine's application to build low dams at the Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley sites. The commission's decision was based in part on an adverse recommendation by its staff.

"It is readily apparent from the studies . . . prepared by the staff for the middle Snake basin that any combination of projects which includes Nez Perce is consistently superior to any combination of projects which does not include Nez Perce," the FPC declared.

Pacific Northwest Power then filed an application in March 1958 for an FPC license to build a high dam at the Mountain Sheep site. Because of their proximity, Mountain Sheep and Nez Perce projects are mutually exclusive; only one of the two can be built.

On March 15, 1960, the Washington Public Power Supply System filed an application to build a high dam at the Nez Perce site, and 15 days later the FPC consolidated the two applications into a single proceeding.

As is customary, both applicants submitted designs and engineering data for their own proposed dam and for the dam proposed by the other applicant. The material was to be used by the FPC staff in evaluating and comparing the two projects.

THE TWO multi-purpose dams were compared on the basis of cost, the amount of power and flood control benefits they would produce and how well they would fit in with future projects in the comprehensive development of the middle Snake region.

At a hearing before an FPC examiner in February of this year, Filfried A. Froggatt of the FPC'S San Francisco regional office acknowledged under cross-examination that "the Nez Perce project by the Washington Public Power Supply System did not enter into the comparative studies."

Froggat, who prepared the staff's determination of the comparative cost of the two projects, was asked whether he made a study of Exhibit 20 submitted by the Washington Public Power Supply System, dealing with the relative cost of the two proposed dams.

"No. I examined it. I made no study," he replied.

Britons in Protest Against Nuclear Arms

Members of British left-wing group, under watchful eyes of Bobbies in background, sitting in street in front of old United States Embassy in London yesterday in protest demonstration against nuclear weapons. The group broke off from a mass meeting in Trafalgar Square attended by 40,000 persons and attempted to march against the present embassy in Grosvenor Square but were halted by police. Thirty-one of the marchers who forced their way through the police lines were arrested.

British Fears Grow That Russia Wants to Prolong War in Laos

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, April 4.

SUSPICION THAT THE SOVIET UNION may wish to prolong the fighting in Laos until an international conference meets is growing in diplomatic circles.

Now that ministers and permanent officials have reread the text of Saturday's Soviet aide memoire, the initially favorable reaction has been modified by doubts on this and other points.

The foreign secretary, the Earl of Home, before he left by air for New York, said that although the Soviet response had been favorable, the "mechanics of fixing up a cease-fire and an international control commission and conference need more thought."

The Soviet reply neither accepted nor rejected the British position that a cease-fire is a prerequisite to the reactivation of the control commission and the summoning of the conference. The Russians seem to be saying that the conference should get to work without waiting for the control commission to verify a cease-fire.

THE SOVIET government, diplomats suggested, may believe that in the interval the Communist forces of Pathet Lao, armed and supplied by the Soviet Union, will continue to make progress against the troops of Prince Boun Oum's government.

Reports reaching this government from Laos continue to stress the deteriorating morale of the government forces and the progress of the Pathet Lao's troops.

A second and connected reason for concern is the Soviet insistence on Prince Souvanna Phouma's government as the lawful government of Laos. Lord Home said "the Laotians must settle their own political set-up."

This always has been the view of the United States and British governments. But some skeptics pointed out that unless there is a cease-fire soon, the Laotians will have settled their political

Double Game Played by Red Powers in Laos

Peiping Pressure Gives Moscow Upper Hand in Peace Talks.

By JOSEPH NEWMAN
The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.,
APRIL 4.

THE SOVIET UNION and Communist China were reported yesterday to be playing a double game in Laos.

It was summed up by one authority as follows: "Together against the Western powers and each against the other for ultimate domination of Laos and the entire Indochinese peninsula."

Everyone here is anxious to know whether the Russians and Chinese are acting together or against each other in the Southeast Asian kingdom being overrun by pro-Communist forces equipped with Soviet arms. They are anxious because they fear that war or peace may hinge on the answer.

If the Russians are in command of the situation, then it is felt that the chances of peace are greater. Conversely, if the Chinese are coming up from behind to gain leadership of the area, then it is feared that the chances of peace become smaller because Peiping has demonstrated its readiness to incur greater risks of nuclear warfare than Moscow.

THERE ARE NO ready or satisfactorily documented answers to the Soviet-Chinese conundrum, but this explanation has been offered:

The Soviet Union was anxious to take the initiative in supplying arms to the Laotian rebels so as to establish its presence before its Chinese Communist allies could secure exclusive control of the area.

This to some extent helps the Soviet Union to recover some of the ground which it lost when the Chinese Communists invaded and took over North Korea. The Chinese advance into North Korea was at the expense not only of the United Nations forces but

Growing Rightist Vigilante Spirit Linked to House Group Movie

'Operation Abolition' Being Widely Shown in Some Areas—Propriety of Birch Society Inquiry Questioned.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
© 1961, St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 4.

AN OFFICIAL OF THE WEST GERMAN government remarked recently that he had been reading reports of America's radical right and the activities of the John Birch Society. He commented:

"This seems to me a cause for concern. It was in somewhat the same manner that National Socialism came into being in my country."

It is not necessary to accept this analogy to be concerned, as are many responsible citizens, with what is almost a vigilante spirit that is growing in certain parts of the country. This is associated with the widespread showing of the movie, "Operation Abolition," made from movie clips subpenaed by the House Un-American Activities Committee from private television companies and turned over to another private firm for commercial sale.

The move glorifies the committee and creates the impression that anyone who questions its findings is either a Communist, pro-Communist or, at best, a dupe of Communism. It is based on what many critics have said is a distorted version of the riotous demonstrations touched off by hearings in San Francisco last year by an Un-American Activities subcommittee. The National Council of Churches has prepared a 15,000-word report on the movie. The report, called "Some Facts and Some Comments," was approved by the council's general board, and is available at its New York headquarters.

RECENTLY when Roger Kent, Democratic state chairman for California, was in Washington, he conferred with Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the effect the movie is having in California in inflaming the political climate. The Defense Department, prior to Jan. 20, had bought 60 copies of the movie at $100 each and encouraged its widespread showing to trainees and others.

McNamara told Kent that he had previously directed that the movie be withdrawn, since the department was making its own training movie on the relationship between Communism and youth, not only in the United States, but around the world. Attorney General Kennedy told Kent that he was also concerned about the ultra-rightist groups.

In one small town in Indiana, according to those checking the movie's propaganda impact, it was shown 20 times, each time with a rousing patriotic introduction. After one showing the head of the Chamber of Commerce, regarded as a stable and substantial citizen, got up and said in a voice choked with emotion:

"THEY SHOULD have turned machine guns on those student demonstrators instead of fire hoses:"

"Operation Abolition" is reported to have been shown more than 270 times in Tulsa, Okla. It has been shown in all the public schools in Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz. In some instances industrialists are subsidizing its showing and in one instance paid for the services of Fulton (Buddy) Lewis III to speak in connection with the movie. Lewis, who as a committee employe narrated the movie, resigned as a staff member in January to lecture at colleges across the country.

What gives this a new immediacy is that Representative Henry S. Reuss (Dem.), Wisconsin, and others are now calling on the committee to investigate the

Defending Matson

I was somewhat surprised to see the editorial comment recently in the Post-Dispatch about the Matson Navigation Co., a non-subsidized line which for 80 years has been the backbone of transportation to the ever-growing and prosperous Hawaiian Islands.

Recent testimony before the Senate merchant marine subcommittee developed these facts:

Gov. William Quinn said "Hawaii has recorded remarkable economic advances during the past decade."

Actually the islands did not feel the current mainland recession.

The level of freight rates for Hawaii's essential freight service has not had a serious, adverse effect on the economy, testimony showed.

For example, the freight charge on a 66-cent can of salmon is two cents, and on a 25-cent can of peas, less than two cents.

However, Matson's labor and other charges have risen much faster than freight revenues during the past few years, leaving Matson in a disadvantageous position, one which certainly doesn't invite new capital at this time.

In spite of this situation, Matson has been a pioneer in developing a modern, efficient domestic fleet, including the freight container service, which tailors the operation and cuts transportation costs to the Hawaii consumer.

This helps the consumer, yes, but Matson has told Congress that spiraling costs will become crippling if the company doesn't get some needed relief. It has not asked for a subsidy and isn't likely to do so. It feels the huge, subsidized lines operating with taxpayers' money should remain out of the domestic trade.

Matson, however, has asked for more practical assistance, such as port modernization for Hawaii to provide better cargo handling, and priority for domestic operators to purchase turned-in subsidized freighters. Radford Mobley

A Survivor's Tax

State Senate Bill No. 153 would extend the state inheritance tax to joint tenants and tenancy by the entirety.

If this bill is made into law, upon the death of the husband, or wife, the survivor must pay inheritance tax on the home, savings accounts in banks and savings and loan associations if held jointly and all other personal property. The estate will have to be probated and an attorney engaged.

This expense comes out of the estate at a time when most people can ill afford it. Some married couples may not have heard of this bill. A. C.

Why the Press Agent?

Why is it necessary for the Normandy School District to employ a firm of public relations specialists to place items like a school tax raise in community papers?

For several years now, this firm has furnished weekly papers with items such as the above and lists of scholarship students. All this information is duplicated in the bulletin sent to homes of Normandy taxpayers four times a year.

This expense seems a needless extravagance when the record reveals that Normandy taxpayers have passed every tax raise in recent years except one which was approved the second time around.

I do not know how much is paid for publicizing the Normandy School District. If the fee were $10,000 a year (this service comes high) that amount of money would give 50 teachers a $200-a-year raise.

In these times when so many people are not working, it would seem that the School Board should seek means of cutting unnecessary expenses such as this and others instead of asking for an 18-cent tax increase this year.

$101 An Hour

County Clerk Walsh in 1959 received $15,762 in fees as distributing agent for the Missouri Conservation Commission. He paid out $336.96 to clerks for issuing licenses, which figures out at 156 hours of work at $2.16 per hour.

In 156 hours, Ed Walsh made $15,762, which figures out at better than $101 an hour.

Oh, yes, Circuit Judge Kelly at Clayton says that the clerk is not forced to accept this job of acting for the Missouri Conservation Commission and must post a $50,000 bond. What a shame that he must deduct the cost of the premium, plus the $336.96 clerk's pay, out of his hard-earned $15,762.50!

Hope for Laos Peace

Many signs now point to an end of the immediate crisis in Laos. President Kennedy appears moderately optimistic, for he termed the Russian reply to the British cease-fire proposal "a useful next step toward a peaceful settlement." But he noted that the Soviet statement contained "certain observations" with which the United States cannot agree. Whatever these are, it is to be hoped that sufficient agreement can be reached to permit negotiations to go forward.

The Soviet Union agreed with the West that there should be a cease-fire, but did not say when. It is obvious that the fighting must stop before talks can begin, but Secretary of State Rusk is right in declining to insist on a formally-proclaimed end to the military activities. A de facto cease-fire would be enough, and would spare all sides loss of face.

There are several unknown factors in the situation, particularly the relationship between the Chinese Communists and the Russians. One theory is that the Soviet Union is active in Laos to prevent more aggressive Chinese participation. Another is that the Chinese are forcing Premier Khrushchev to demonstrate in Laos his toughness toward the West. Just who is calling the tune is not known.

Marshal Chen Yi, the Chinese foreign minister, insists that China has not taken part in the Laotian civil war. This may be literally true. But the Chinese work in close collaboration with Ho Chi Minh, the Communist boss of North Viet Nam, who master-minded the guerrilla warfare that ended with French loss of Indochina. China has a common border with Laos and North Viet Nam, so it is not surprising that the Marshal should threaten to turn Laos into another Korea if the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization sends troops into the little kingdom. The geographical location of Laos is another reason why the SEATO powers did well to pass a non-specific resolution at their recent meeting.

Apparently the West's best hope for stability in Laos is a coalition neutralist government. That, at least, is the opinion of Mr. Kennedy's ambassador-at-large, Averell Harriman, who has returned from a fact-finding tour for the President. If the free nations on the one hand and the Communists on the other believe this is desirable, it should not be difficult to achieve. Mr. Kennedy has firmly repudiated the former United States policy of trying to establish a Western-oriented regime in Laos. He advocates neutralism, a solution the Communists should find difficult to reject.

The danger in this, of course, is that a coalition containing Communist leaders might eventually, and perhaps in a short time, be subverted and assimilated by the Communists. But this is a risk that probably will have to be taken. Since the Communist-led Laotian rebels have made considerable advances in recent weeks they are in a position to make certain demands at the bargaining table. They will not give up in negotiations what they have taken by force.

Thus, even if the West and the Communists can agree on terms for negotiations, the achievement will be a limited one. The West will have avoided what might have been a disastrous enlargement of the capsule war, but it may not be able to be certain of a permanently independent, neutral Laos. Yet this may be the best that can be retrieved from a bad situation. Mr. Kennedy inherited the situation and if he can extricate the United States with its prestige intact and without war, it will be a significant accomplishment.

Hardship for Safety

The point system driver's license bill is the heart of Gov. Dalton's traffic safety program, but it suffers from a mild case of angina as passed by the Senate.

Senator Avery of Troy says the measure still is strong enough to do some good. Traffic offenses would be measured by points, ranging from one point for violating a city stop sign to 12 for serious offenses, such as drunken driving. A driver who accumulated eight points in a year would have his license temporarily suspended, while 12 points in a year or 18 in two years would mean revocation.

While the Senate weakened the original bill by reducing points for some offenses, the measure's main frailty is an amendment permitting circuit courts to grant limited driving privileges where suspension would work a "hardship" on the driver. The point of the point-system is to put drivers, who prove they are dangerous, off the roads, with no ifs or buts. A standardized grade system is fairer protection for everyone. The hardship loophole restores the ifs and buts, leaves the standards doubtful and punctures the protection for safe drivers.

If the House will reject this feature, the point-system bill can be sent to a conference where, we hope, the Senate will be led to change its mind.

Belgians in The Congo

How much influence Russia has gained in The Congo—even with Communist-oriented Antoine Gizenga—is brought into question by Gizenga's reported declaration that Belgians are needed in their former colony since "without them our economy might collapse." If Gizenga believes this why does the U.S.S.R. constantly harp on getting the Belgians out of Africa? Have communications between the Russians and their purported stooge in The Congo broken down? Or are they indifferent to the Congolese, simply trying to create as many difficulties as possible for Westerners in general, and Belgians in particular?

One answer may be that Gizenga is talking about a different kind of Belgian from the military men who assumed an all too obvious role in the attempted secession of Katanga, or the business men who have refused to give up their stake in the liberated colony.

Belgian doctors, teachers, technicians and other specialists will be needed in The Congo for some time. So it is not surprising that former Belgian colonial careerists, having recovered from the panic in which they fled the country, are returning to The Congo. They are needed as Europeans are needed in all liberated colonies. Their work is essential, and so long as they show due respect for the new status of The Congo they are apparently welcome enough.

Matters would be easier if Congolese authority were solidly established. Hope for this is increased by Gizenga's recognition of the need for help. And it may be that he can persuade his Russian friends—if indeed he regards them as friends—not to create disturbing issues for their profit rather than that of his people.

Plan Wrecking Kills Jobs

The county's proposed land use plan is potentially a document of the greatest importance. Properly used, it could pave the way for the wide economic growth the county must experience if it is going to be able to provide jobs for its exploding population and possess a tax base sufficient to support good schools and other public services.

But the plan won't be worth the paper it is written on unless Supervisor McNary and the Democratic-controlled Council decide to take it seriously. So far in the McNary Administration neither the Supervisor nor the Councilmen have given much more than lip service to the principle of planned land use.

At the time the land-use plan was made, Mr. McNary had approved 36 rezonings in which the Council had either overridden the professional advice of the Planning Commission or had ignored it altogether. Then on the very day the plan was announced Mr. McNary for the thirty-seventh time affixed his signature to a land-use plan that had been opposed for sufficient reason by the Planning Commission. All in all it is a sorry record.

The county also needs authority from the Missouri Legislature permitting the plan, once adopted, to apply in substance in the municipalities. Under existing law it would be effective only in the unincorporated areas. This loophole permits the land speculators to get out from under the county's jurisdiction merely by creating a new county city, which is one of the principal reasons the county is pock-marked with 98 municipalities.

As a starter Mr. McNary and Council Chairman Grantham ought to pledge themselves to uphold the Planning Commission's efforts to plan the county's growth along orderly lines, particularly the effort to reserve the remaining industrial acreage for that necessary purpose. At the same time they ought to see if they can't find the means of extending the county's land-use rules to cover the unincorporated areas. Failure in either assignment will mean fewer job opportunities for the next generation of county voters.

Idealistic—and Practical

In this scared and scary world it is heartening to find now and then that idealism and high hope are not dead. For example a drive just has been started to bring courtesy back to the New York subways.

Carefully avoiding the crush of Manhattan's rush hours, the cynics scoff that only dreamers would hold this possible in the throngs of the work-bound and the home-bound. But the New York Transit Authority seems to be realistic enough.

As its slogans, it has chosen: "Bring Back the Age of Chivalry" and "Be a Knight for a Day." Very realistic indeed—when one remembers the garb of the knights of the Age of Chivalry. For the subway, their iron suits are just the thing.

Slum Prevention, Too

Congress willing—and it should be—the older, middle-class neighborhoods of our cities will be helped toward renewal by the housing legislation President Kennedy has sent to Capitol Hill. These neighborhoods are threatened by blight—as St. Louisans well know—yet they must be saved if other urban redevelopment projects are not to be hemmed in by seedy slums-in-the-making. So far, they have been the orphans in the campaign for urban renewal. But the President and Dr. Robert C. Weaver, his housing chief, want to change that.

So Congress has been asked to approve a program of 25-year home improvement loans with a 6 per cent interest ceiling. This would enable a property-owner to borrow as much as $10,000. Currently insured home improvement loans are limited to $3500, repayable in five years, at interest rates as high as 9.7 per cent. Longer terms and lower rates would make it much easier to undertake repairs, renovations and remodeling.

As Dr. Weaver said, it is high time to stress "the improvement of our existing housing supply instead of relying primarily on new housing construction." The two really should go hand in hand if urban redevelopment is not to be an endless rat-race.

What can be done by property owners under such a program is suggested by the Cherokee and Hyde Park neighborhoods in St. Louis. If passed, the legislation would be a big help in the five other neighborhoods already scheduled for rehabilitation, and it also could make it much easier to reinvigorate blocks and blocks of fine old red-brick fronts such as those in the Murphy area on the North Side.

The Kennedy omnibus housing bill—involving about $3,200,000,000, much of it for repayable loans—also provides for other aspects of urban redevelopment. Perhaps its chief virtue is its recognition that this is a long-term undertaking. Neither public nor private agencies can make sound plans so long as Congress clings to the practice of granting only year-to-year authorizations. To be really effective, construction must be broadly planned with the assurance of mortgage insurance and other details of financing covering more than can be undertaken in a given year. If Congress will recognize this, it will give the economy a long-run stimulant. It will help to create new values and greater revenues, and it also will assure an ever more urban America of more pleasant and healthful living.

Crumbling Mansion

Judging by reports from Springfield, the Illinois Governor's mansion is in the same sorry state its Missouri counterpart at Jefferson City was in several years ago. The roof leaks, ceilings fall, bricks crumble, plumbing breaks, floors sag. "Mrs. Kerner and I have been worried about fire ever since we moved in," says Gov. Otto Kerner, whose peace of mind has not been improved by the fact that the New York Governor's mansion burned several weeks ago. Should the 105-year-old residence be torn down or rehabilitated? The White House was rebuilt by President Truman at heavy cost. But its historic character was preserved. It is politically hazardous for a Governor to advocate major refurbishing of the executive mansion. But when such a structure is dangerous or costly to maintain, the state should insist on rehabilitation or new construction. Is Illinois waiting for a tragedy?

Influence of White House Affects Party Out of Power as Well as Party of President

Thomas O'Neill in The Baltimore Sun

WASHINGTON.

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Senator Hubert Humphrey, suddenly become pithy, compressed the one big reality of American political practice into an admirable capsule in the wake of an unexpected Administration victory in the Senate.

"There is no greater force in life," said the Senator from Minnesota, "than reason, logic and truth—backed up by the President of the United States."

White House pressure, prevailing against the odds, had just undone a Dixiecrat-Republican coalition led by Virginia's Senator Harry F. Byrd, to the astonishment of no one more than Senator Byrd. In the other wing of the Capitol it had previously overcome a similar alliance and put a halter on the House Rules Committee.

Without the immense authority of the presidency, vigorously exercised, neither accomplishment would have been possible. Even when lightly applied, as by President Eisenhower, the discipline available to the man in the White House in his role as a political leader tends to keep even the party mavericks in line. President Kennedy both understands the almost unlimited scope of this power and proposes to use it. Left upon its own, the Democratic congressional leadership would have come off second best in the collision with Senator Byrd and in the contest over the House Rules Committee.

The influence of the presidency also makes itself felt in the affairs of the party outside Congress, as in the New York Democratic organization where the incumbent leadership is about to fall under the weight of White House disapproval. During the years that the Democrats held congressional majorities but lacked the White House, the party nationally was merely a loose confederacy of independent sovereignties, each pursuing its own path.

A corollary to the party power sited in the White House is that the party without the presidency has no real national leader. Adlai E. Stevenson was ignored by the Democratic leaders in Congress while he wore the title of titular leader. Mr. Nixon is likely to find his position much the same unless the clash between the extremes in the Grand Old Party herds the center toward him as a flexible figure who can assume the middle of the road.

—Herblock in The Washington Post.

"Saddle Up. We Can Still Head 'em Off at the Gulch."

Such schisms as are now making themselves apparent in the out-of-power G.O.P. can be papered over to a degree in the party that holds the White House. An instance is the cooperative attitude of the No. 1 Democratic maverick, Senator Wayne Morse, who has decided against embarrassing the Democratic Administration by sponsoring the bill for federal aid to parochial schools that he projected last year.

Conversely, troubles multiply in the party of the outs. An example appears in the difficulty the G.O.P. is experiencing in settling upon a new national chairman to replace Senator Thruston Morton, who is eager to drop that responsibility in order to promote his own candidacy for re-election in Kentucky. The problem here is the discovery of a new chairman whose political identity, if any, will alienate none of the several factions which collectively make up the Republican party. The spectrum ranges from the totalitarian John Birch Society, embracing the radical right, to Gov. Rockefeller, who is scorned by a consequential party wing as a crypto-Democrat.

Senator Goldwater is probably the most popular Republican of the moment with the rank and file, but there is a skittishness about putting his brand on a party that is casting covetous eyes upon the urban voter. Senator Taft was similarly a party hero for years, but the G.O.P. always shied when he applied for the presidential nomination.

The tendency is to follow the advice of Earl Warren during his spectacularly winning political career: Fifteen per cent of the voters are on the left fringe, 15 per cent on the right extreme, and elections are decided by the 70 per cent in the middle. Shoot for them.

Destructive Tax

From The Kansas City Star

The big point about the use tax as it now stands is that Missouri would stand alone in imposing a levy on machinery, parts, raw materials and equipment bought out of the state for manufacturing within the state. The door would be slammed in the face of business and industry that might be considering a Missouri location. With other states offering exemptions, what executive would suggest a move to Missouri? Expansion of existing industry would come to a standstill. Slowly, over the years, firms would pull out. Of course, it's inconceivable that this will be allowed to happen. Gov. John M. Dalton has said that he will "do everything possible" to keep existing industry in Missouri. Now the Governor and his staff are studying the measure introduced by Senator Spradling that would make the use and sales taxes conform. This, presumably, would remove objections to exemptions. It is the course most states followed. Whether the sales and use taxes should be hiked to 2½ per cent to make up losses through exemptions, or whether they should remain at 2 per cent should be decided with a minimum of debate. The percentage can always be lowered or raised. What is important now is to get a use tax that is legal, productive and, above all, in a form that will not drive industry from Missouri.

Unnecessarily Swollen

SPAIN AND THE DEFENSE OF THE WEST, by Arthur P. Whitaker. (Harper, 408 pgs., $6.)

Since the conditions of the cold war require that the United States have access to military bases in Spain national policy should be so framed as to retain this access as long as the bases are needed. This not altogether startling conclusion is reached by Professor Whitaker at the end of his 400-page study based, he tells us, on 37 years of observation of the Spanish people under monarchy, republic and dictatorship.

In acquiring access to the Spanish bases Whitaker believes that the United States has assumed an "unnecessarily swollen political and moral liability through its increasingly close association with the Franco dictatorship." He recommends three lines of action to reduce this liability.

"First," he says, "the United States should revert to the cool and correct attitude of 1953 toward the Spanish dictator."

His second recommendation is that "the United States should strive to persuade other nations to share this liability provided it can do so without making a bad situation worse."

"Finally," he writes, "the United States should make clear its disappointment with the failure of the Spanish government to give effect to the principles of 'individual liberty and free institutions' which it indorsed by signing the economic agreement of 1953." The United States should likewise cease pressing for Spain's admission to NATO.

Whitaker teaches Latin American history at the University of Pennsylvania. His book is published for the Council on Foreign Relations.

THE MAN WITH THE MIRACULOUS HANDS, by Joseph Kassel. (Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, 235 pgs., $3.95.)

"The Man With the Miraculous Hands" was a Finnish masseur named Felix Kersten who loved men with money and power for they paid him fat fees. This little toad became the personal physician of Heinrich Himmler, the head of Hitler's empire of extermination. This book is an exploitation of Kersten's services to the Nazi chief-killer, self-justified on the grounds that he supposedly saved the lives of some refugees from the Gestapo. With this apologia and with a deal of nauseating sentimentality about Kersten, the healer of Himmler's "pain-wracked" body, this book goes on and on, glorifying a quack's mission of mercy.

This narrative serves only one useful purpose—it is frightening!

Kennedy Crack-Down on Free-Loaders

WASHINGTON.

THE BIG SURPRISE OF AND AMONG the Kennedy Administration is the popularity of the Peace Corps, especially on college campuses. It has lately been an article of political dogma that young people are more conservative by far than they were during the Roosevelt-Truman years.

Senator Goldwater is much in demand as a speaker at all kinds of schools. College presidents complain of infiltration by secret chapters of the John Birch Society. Interest shown in the Peace Corps suggests that the politicians had better wait a little longer before deciding that young Americans have lost their taste for crusades.

Shriver

The President knows the practical difficulties of such projects; it is a major reason why its direction has been placed firmly in the hands of a family member, R. Sargent Shriver, who is married to the President's sister, Eunice.

It will be developed slowly with due regard for the sensibilities of Congress, which must in the end of course appropriate the money.

A Puritan Streak.

It is beginning to appear also that the Kennedy Administration, by direct order of the President, is going to have much more of an austerity flavor with emphasis on service than most working politicians of the party foresaw or want.

It seems hard for them to believe that their old House-Senate colleague, who seemed to enjoy the amenities of life a great deal, has a Puritan Yankee streak in his make-up.

But he has, and it is making itself felt at the White House—where not only the servants but all the staff, including men who are writers by trade, are being put under heavy ethical wraps about what they can and cannot do for extra money.

Under the Kennedy ban are writing, lectures and television appearances for money while in office.

Many administration wives are unhappy over that interdiction for professional or financial reasons or a combination of both. Now they hear that a rigid rule of pay-as-you-go for your wife is about to be applied to the travels of the new frontiersmen.

The idea seems to be that a wife's expenses in the case of a Kennedy appointee can only be on one house, his own.

Congress rather notoriously enforces no such rules on its members and shudders at the thought of trying. It has only been with great difficulty that the legislative branch has been brought to make public what its members do in matters of this kind where public money is involved.

The Recent Past.

The President was stirred to action in part by what he has learned of the easy-going practices of the recent past. In the postwar years as the military and the commercial airlines developed their immense range of flight, top Administration officials began to travel madly and widely.

The only restriction on them with respect to their families seemed to be their own sense of taste and ethics; certainly there was no official command.

The practice lately spread to staff people, who were present on some important journeys in what seemed to observers to be inordinate numbers.

Corporation Troubles.

The explanation given was that the staffers had been working hard and "deserved" a trip.

Corporation presidents could tell Kennedy that the problem of wife travel is not easily solved by fiat; they are plagued by the problem and the Internal Revenue Service is hot on their trail about it right now.

'FIORELLO!' OPENS AT THE AMERICAN

Pulitzer Prize Musical About LaGuardia to Be Here Two Weeks.

By MYLES STANDISH

"Fiorello!" which opened a two-week run last night at the American Theater, is a Pulitzer Prize musical play which succeeds without too much that can be called music. It is a triumph of book and directional craftsmanship, the first supplied by Jerome Weidman and George Abbott, the second by Mr. Abbott, the veteran who has directed more hits than probably even he can remember.

Politics furnished us the theme for at least one other hit musical, the satiric "Of Thee I Sing." But "Fiorello!" is a more or less realistic musical about a reformer, and with the generally drab sets of dingy law offices, political backrooms, tenement streets, Greenwich Village rooftops and strike-bound shirt factories does not sound promising as light entertainment.

However, Mr. Weidman and Mr. Abbott have kept it zippy and as dynamic as its subject, the fighting little gamecock, Fiorello LaGuardia. They portray him from his beginning as a slum lawyer in 1914 up to about 1933, the threshold of his victory as a Fusion candidate for mayor and the launching of a colorful career in office. They have given the musical as well as the central character the peppery personality and his own staccato pace and circusy flavor. LaGuardia was a political showman, and he blows as fresh a breeze through the theater as he did through corruption-ridden New York politics.

The tunes of Jerry Bock and lyrics by Sheldon Harnick can generally be credited with carrying the show forward, not always at the breakneck pace of the book, but at least giving it the musical tempo.

There aren't many of their songs that the audience would care to sing, or could sing if it remembered them. It is ironic that the best tunes are given not to the leads, the ingenue or soubrette, but to the boys in the backroom of a political boss. "Politics and Poker" is a lively ditty as sung by Rudy Bon and six political hacks, something barber-shoppers would be happy with. This same group sings "Little Tin Box," a funny satire on graft, and their "The Bum Won," the voice of astonishment that their reform candidate for Congress came out on top, isn't bad at all.

But such a song as "On the Side of the Angels," sung by Arthur Bartow, Paul Lipson and Charlotte Fairchild as three of the "Little Flower's" loyal followers, is cumbersome. Things like "Unfair," "Marie's Law," "The Very Next Man" (the latter two sung by Miss Fairchild in exasperation over the inability of her boss to see her in a romantic light) are weak. Even though Zeme North is cute and vivacious, her "I Love a Cop" isn't a good tune, nor does it have deft lyrics. The one real song that Bob Carroll has in the title role, "The Name's LaGuardia," would not hold a candle to the song it calls to mind first, "Harrigan." They are mostly the sort of songs which are better half recited, sterile in melody and rhythm.

Mr. Carroll is, however, handsomely cast. He is explosive, cocky, dynamic as LaGuardia. The idea is to illumine a fighting, flavorful personality, and the show does so admirably. Carroll has about the same stocky build and general appearance as LaGuardia (as old newsreels run in the World War I interlude show). He has force, and the musical captures the hurly-burly of an era colorfully in the same sort of kaleidescopic flashes that seemed to make up LaGuardia's career.

LIBRARY GROUP HOST TO PADRAIC COLUM

Irish Poet, Author Addresses Luncheon of Catholic Society.

Basic education of the child demands teaching of the will and the intelligence through awakening of his imagination, Padraic Colum, Irish poet, novelist and author of children's stories, said yesterday.

Addressing a luncheon in his honor sponsored by the Catholic Library Association at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel, Colum emphasized learning of patterns in poetry to sharpen understanding through use of the imagination. "The poem opens up the world of the imagination," he said. Discovering the poem's design leads to grasping patterns in other fields, he said.

In introductory remarks Colum asserted that "mechanized entertainments, such as radio and television, cannot do for humanity what reading can do. Books, a part of human utterance, excel mechanized entertainments in that they inspire the inner light of meditation and reflection."

Colum was presented the Catholic Library Association's Regina Medal for his contribution to children's literature. The luncheon preceded the opening of the association's annual conference. The conference ends Friday.

LAW ON WHITE HOUSE TRANSITION IS URGED

Clark Clifford, Who Handled Changeover for Kennedy, Speaks to Bar Group.

Legislation establishing definite procedures to be used after a new president is elected was urged here last night by the man who organized the transition in Washington last fall.

Clark M. Clifford, former St. Louis lawyer who was assigned by President Kennedy to set up machinery for the transition, suggested that members of the incoming administration be given office space and compensation in the months prior to inauguration, and that the President-elect be assigned to Blair House.

Clifford made the recommendations in an address at the annual meeting of the St. Louis Bar Association at the Clayton Elks Club, 900 South Hanley road, Clayton.

Pointing out that in the changes of administration in 1932 and 1952 there was virtually no contact between the outgoing and the incoming office holders, the speaker declared that no longer should the transition "be left to the whim of two men."

The problems of the world are too grave and this country's position would become too vulnerable if the change-over were not smooth, he asserted. "We can no longer enjoy the luxury of the old transitions," he said.

"The transition should be formalized and institutionalized with adequate guidelines set down in legislation," he said.

An appropriation of $500,000 for compensation for employes working on the transition would be "a wonderful investment," he said.

The former special conusel to President Truman praised the Eisenhower Administration for the co-operation it gave Kennedy appointees. "Every person in it (the Eisenhower Administration) did as much as possible to assure a smooth take-over," he said.

President Kennedy, as a result of his meetings with Eisenhower and briefings by Eisenhower officials, "entered office better informed, better prepared and better oriented than any other President," he asserted.

The change-over resulted also in the two Presidents developing a tremendous respect for each other, he said. He quoted Eisenhower as saying after a meeting with Mr. Kennedy, "I feel more comfortable now about the future of the country than I have in a long time."

F. William McCalpin, a partner in the law firm of Lewis, Rice, Tucker, Allen and Chubb, was elected president of the St. Louis Bar Association. He will replace John H. Lashly June 1.

McCalpin is a graduate of St. Louis University in 1943 and Harvard Law School in 1948. He is a member of the association's executive committee and has served on several other committees.

David G. Lupo, Wayne L. Millsap and John R. Barsanti Jr. were elected vice presidents. John C. Shepard was elected a member of the executive committee. Harold S. Cook, secretary, and Ralph R. Neuhoff Jr., treasurer, were re-elected.

STATEMENT BY CITIZENS COMMITTEE ON PARENTS' RIGHTS IN EDUCATION AND THE
FEDERAL EDUCATION AID BILL

Because of the controversy on all sides about proposed Federal aid to education and provisions in the bill that would exclude from its benefits almost 7,000,000 citizen-students in the Nation's independent (private and parochial) schools, we citizens and voters of this community call on our fellow citizens and our Congressmen to give fair and equal treatment to all students.

There is ample legal precedent for the Federal government to include elementary and secondary independent school students in an educational-aid program. We cite, for example, the several Servicemen's and Veterans' Readjustment Acts (The "GI" Bill), and the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act and legislation providing for education of Congressional and Supreme Court page boys at the schools of their free choice. In further support of fair play in education aid we submit that government's responsibility in education—particularly during ages when it is compulsory—is NOT to an institution or to a school but it is to parents and their children. It would seem that valid legal precedent establishing Federal Education grants as individual student benefits rather than as alleged support of "church" schools is constitutionally supported in the legislation previously cited.

The First Amendment to our Federal Constitution indeed forbids an establishment of religion. It is equally important to understand that the First Amendment also guarantees to all Citizens, including school children and their parents, freedom of mind and the free exercise of their religion. In denying a fair share of educational aid to these seven million forgotten children in independent schools, the Federal Education Aid Bill violates the parents' God-given, human right to control and direct the education of their children.

Bob Broeg

Post-Dispatch Sports Editor

Going, Going . . .?

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4—The prize is Dick Farrell, Philadelphia Phillies' relief pitcher, not as sensational as he was a few years ago, but better than most. The question:

Broeg

Can the Milwaukee Braves beat the Los Angeles Dodgers to him?

The Phillies are playing coy, contending they're not interested in trading Farrell, but how good is a great reliefer on a ball club that is behind, more often than it's ahead, going into the late innings?

Besides, Philadelphia could use, as Branch Rickey would say, quanitative quality.

If Farrell can be had, Los Angeles has more young talent to give up, though the feeling is that the Dodgers need the bullpen protection less than Milwaukee does. But will L.A. make the better offer just to keep the fireball fellow out of a Braves' uniform?

That's a question which troubles Charley Dressen as the peppery little 61-year-old round man prepares to do battle at County Stadium, beginning next Tuesday against the Cardinals, in the second season of a two-year contract.

No Relief in Sight

Every fleshy ounce of Chesty Cholly would bounce if he had a reliable reliefer, assuming, as all must, that Don McMahon is only an in-and-out performer now. Yet there are others who wonder if Milwaukee didn't rob Peter to pay Paul when it gave up outfield and pitching to plug its infield.

As Los Angeles's Fresco Thompson put it, smiling, "If a ship has a hole in the side, it's in trouble—even if the hole is on the other side."

With Mack (The Knife) Jones not ready for the majors, either of two light-hitting glove men, lefthanded Al Spangler or righthanded John DeMerit, bonus player from the University of Wisconsin, probably will have to fill capable Bill Bruton's position in center field.

"But," said Dressen slyly, "I could always use Hank Aaron in center."

That is, if the Braves' boss decided he wanted to keep the bats of both Wes Covington and Lee Maye in the outfield. Covington, a mediocre outfielder who has had two disappointing seasons at bat, has run second to Maye, another lefthanded hitter, during spring training. Lanky Lee batted .301 after he came up from Louisville last year.

Slugger Aaron, though good in center field, is not as good —or as happy—as he is in his natural habitat, right field.

No. 1 Power Club

Aaron, Home-Run Eddie Mathews at third base, jolting Joe Adcock at first and powerful Del Crandall behind the plate give Milwaukee the most muscle in the National League. And the new second-base combination of Roy McMillan and Frank Bolling will hit enough for their positions.

Games lost defensively around the bag, after the Braves gave up on Red Schoendienst and Johnny Logan slowed up, prompted the decision to make the trades for glove men McMillan and Bolling.

Did they give up too much, though, in Bruton and pitchers Juan Pizarro and Joey Jay?

Neither Pizarro nor Jay fulfilled his rich promise with Milwaukee, but through most of spring training there was evidence that the Braves didn't have adequate talent behind its masterful 40-year-old southpaw, ageless Warren Spahn, or veteran righthanders Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl. The trio scored 56 of the Braves' 88 victories last year.

Cholly Sez

Late in spring training, Don Nottebart, a righthander brought up last season from Louisville, appeared to have shown more than Carlton Willey, who, like the departed Pizarro and Jay, showed the Braves flashes of talent. More cold flashes, though, than hot.

Dressen likes to point to those 88 victoriees as evidence that he won two more games in his first year as Milwaukee manager than Fred Haney did in his final season, when the Braves tied the Dodgers for the pennant. Chesty Cholly likes to remind you, too, that he was right in his primary prediction last season. He had forecast that Milwaukee would finish ahead of the club for which he had coached, the defending champion Dodgers.

Now he labels Los Angeles as the team to beat and gives the strong impression that he believes the Braves will beat out kingpin Pittsburgh.

"They beat us nine out of

Simmons Goes Eight Frames

By J. Roy Stockton

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4—Spring experimentation has ended for the Cardinals of Solly Hemus. Five more exhibition games remain on the schedule, two with the Yankees here at Al Lang Field and three with the American League champions at Busch stadium. And in those contests the Redbird field director plans to use his first line players, the athletes who will take the field opening day against the Milwaukee Braves.

"The club is set and I want the combination to be on the job through the rest of the training period," Hemus announced after the Cardinals had knocked over the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, at Sarasota yesterday afternoon and had looked good doing the job. "Yes, Don Landrum is my center fielder and he'll be in that position on opening day unless he plays himself off the team in the next few days."

The victory over the White Sox was encouraging, as Curt Simmons turned in eight innings of satisfactory hurling and then Bob Tiefenauer proved that his knuckle ball was a baffling butterfly. And to make the good hurling adequate, the Redbirds broke out of a batting slump and pounded the talented Billy Pierce for a dozen safeties in seven innings and added one more hit off Russ Kemmerer in two frames.

Landrum in Center.

Stan Musial, who usually stays at the home base when the club takes to the road, made the journey to Sarasota, so Hemus was able to present his planned No. 1 starting outfield, with The Man in left, young Landrum in center and Joe Cunningham in right. And of course the regular infield, which was virtually set on opening day of spring training, took the field and performed steadily.

Hal Smith was behind the bat to complete the eight-man gang that will support the Cardinal pitching staff.

Hemus also announced another cut in the roster, to bring the Cardinal squad to 30, or just two over the limit that must be reached before the pennant race starts. Catcher Chris Cannizzaro and Pitcher Mel Nelson, along with Bob Duliba, not on the parent roster, were sent to the Homestead (Fla.) base for assignment to minor league clubs in the organization. The remaining squad of 30 includes Red Schoendienst, who was signed recently, pitchers Tiefenauer and Mickey McDermott, who apparently have "made" the ball club, and outfielder Don Taussig, now on the Portland roster.

Two Blows Apiece.

Bill White, Daryl Spencer, Joe Cunningham and Hal Smith each contributed two blows as the Redbirds defeated the ambitious Chicago American League club, but Cunningham hit the big and decisive blow, as what Manager Hemus called "one of his offensive trick plays" back-fired.

Pierce had held the Cardinals scoreless for five frames. Landrum, after having fanned twice, opened the sixth inning with a single that caromed off Pierce's shin. White drilled a single to center, sending the fleet-footed Landrum to third. Pierce wild-pitched Landrum home and White to second and then the Cards got a break when Minnie Minoso, after a long run, reached but failed to hold Musial's long fly. White, wisely tagging up when it seemed Minoso would make the catch, had to stop at third but Musial got a double out of the break.

Pierce pitched cautiously to Spencer and then, when he got behind, decided to walk the dangerous Cardinal shortstop, filling the bases.

With Cunningham at the plate, White broke for home. It looked amazingly like a suicide squeeze, as Bill was within a few yards of his goal when the ball reached a point where Cunningham could swing at it. Joe looked surprised, too, but he swung at the high pitch and lashed the ball to deep left-center for a triple, scoring White, Musial and Spencer to put the Cardinals ahead, 4 to 1.

'Joe Took Care of It'.

"No, it wasn't a suicide squeeze," Hemus insisted after the game. "And it wasn't a squeeze at all. It was a hit and run. I was playing for one run. Pierce had been tough, we had had good pitching and I figured one run would be big. But I wanted Joe to hit the ball on the ground. That's the way we had practiced it time after time this spring. It looked like it had back-fired when it was a high pitch. But Joe took care of it."

As a matter of fact, the back-firing was most fortunate, for one run would not have been enough. The Sox made it 4-2 with a run in the seventh when two walks and a scratch single filled the bases and Jim Rivera scored on a double play. And the Sox added another in the ninth on a scratch single between Julian Javier and Cunningham, which each thought the other would take, a wild throw to first by Tiefenauer when Cunningham wasn't on the bag, sending Rivera to third, and an infield out. Then Tiefenauer struck out pinch-hitter Earl Torgeson to end the ball game.

Maas Deal by Yankees Called $40,000 Steal

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4 (UPI)—Credit the New York Yankees with at least a $40,000 steal.

How does that figure?

Last fall the Yanks threw pitcher Duke Maas into the player pool to stock the two new clubs in Los Angeles and Washington, and the Angels plucked the durable righthander fo the going price of $75,000.

Yesterday, the Yankees, hurt most by the player draft, got Maas back from the Angels in an even-up swap for shortstop Fritz Brickell, excess baggage as far as the Yanks were concerned.

Figuring Brickell's value on the open market at $35,000—at the most—the Yanks made General Manager Roy Hamey's first deal a highly successful one.

Hamey explained the Yankees' about-face on Maas this way:

"We have been trying to trade Brickell because he was an expendable player with us. After scouting around, we accepted the only substantial offer. Manager Ralph Houk was anxious to strengthen his second-line pitching and Maas, we feel, will give us that strength."

Maas, 30, had a 5-1 record in only 35 innings of work with the Yankees last year, but was 14-8 the previous year. Brickell, at 5-5 one of the shortest players in the big leagues, batted .258 with the Yanks' Richmond farm club in 1960. However, this spring, he was one of the hottest New York batters with a .358 mark in exhibition games.

"We needed a good shortstop," was the way one member of the Angels explained the trade. "Brickell should fill the bill. He is another highly-rated Yankee who did not get a chance. He should close the gap, which seemed to be a weakness on our club."

Brickell is a slick fielder who should tighten up the Los Angeles infield considerably. The Angels have power but their defense has been noticeably lacking in spring games.

Yanks Send Pisoni Back to Richmond

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4 (UPI)—The New York Yankees today optioned pitchers Hal Stowe, Billy Short and Jim Bronstad to Richmond of the International League and also returned outfielder Jim Pisoni to the same club.

Outfielder Jack Reed, property of Richmond, remained the only non-roster player with the Yankees. A club officials said a decision on Reed would be made when the team returns home Monday.

N.L. Adds Two Umpires For Season

CINCINNATI, April 4 (UPI)—The National League today announced the addition of Umpires Allen S. (Al) Forman and Melvin J. Steiner to the league's umpiring staff for the 1961 baseball season.

Warren C. Giles, league president, announced that Forman's contract has been purchased from the Texas League, where he had served as an umpire the past two years. Forman, 32-year-old native of Morristown, N.J., umpired in the Florida State League in 1956 and the Northwest League in 1957 and 1958.

Giles said that Steiner, whose contract was purchased from the Pacific Coast League last winter for future delivery, now has been formally added to the N.L. staff. The 40-year-old native of New York City, who now lives in Seal Beach, Calif., umpired in the Pioneer League in 1951 and 1952, the Western International League in 1953 and 1954, and has been in the Pacific Coast League since 1955.

Parilli Is Traded To Boston

OAKLAND, Calif., April 4 (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders and the Boston Patriots completed a five-player swap today—largest trade in the history of the young American Football League.

The Raiders gave up veteran quarterback Vito (Babe) Parilli and fullback Billy Lott in exchange for halfback Dick Christy, fullback Alan Miller and tackle Hal Smith.

Parilli, long-time National Football League signal caller, was the second-string quarter for the Raiders last year and Lott shared the fullback duties.

Miller was the leading ground gainer for the Patriots with 416 yards in 101 carries. Christy, formerly with the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Philadelphia Eagles, gained 363 yards in 78 carries and had four touchdowns. Smith, formerly of U.C.L.A. weighs 250 pounds and stands 6-5.

In meetings with the Buds this season, Al Savas has been the big gun for the Falstaffs. He has averaged 226.12 a game in six matches. Tom Hennessey has led the Budweisers with 214.

The United Vans have been best in the last five weeks, winning 13 games and losing only two. This spurt started shortly after Bill Tucker, national match-game champion, joined the team. He has a 214 average for 24 games.

In the women's B.B.A. League, the schedule is as follows: Kutis vs. Metros; Kalicaks vs. LaVelias; Rabens vs. Russ Emge; Don Carters vs. Addis.

Pitching Troubles Of Bears Continue; Jewell Beaten, 18-8

By Harold Tuthill

Diogenes looked for an honest man with a lantern. Irv Utz may have to use the same method to find a dependable pitcher for his Washington University baseball team. The Bears so far this season have been stopped in two games because of darkness.

"I want Jay Hopkins to pitch two innings" Utz said yesterday as the Bears were wrapping up an 18-8 victory over winless William Jewell, now 0-7. The lights on the walks around the campus had been turned on but Jay retired the Cardinals without scoring in the eighth. It was the first time since the second frame that Norris Patterson's team from Liberty, Mo., did not tally at least one run. Washington scored in all seven of the innings that it batted.

Ron Zetcher, the Bruin starter, was credited with the victory, his second in Washington's 2-1 season. The former University City standout did not have his stuff, yielding three hits and four runs in three and one-third innings, but he worked the longest of any of the four Washington hurlers, hence the decision to declare him the winner.

Chuck Harmon pitched one and two-thirds innings, Pete Origliasso two and Jay Hopkins finished with his eighth-inning stint.

Washington held an 8-1 lead at the end of three innings, but Zetcher lost his control in the fourth, when he walked three men in a three-run round.

Victim of Washington's early bombardment was Elmer Yordt, husky right-hander from Ritenour High. He was belted for six hits and seven runs in two and two-thirds innings and was charged with the loss. Dick Nixon also allowed six hits and seven runs in three and one-third innings and Bill Rogers was hammered for three hits and four runs in the only inning he pitched, the seventh.

Centerfield Dick Rinehart whacked three of Jewell's nine safeties, while five of Washington's starters—Bob BenBen, Dick Hopkins, Jim Yates, Gary Heien and Al Huenfeld—made two hits apiece in the 14-hit attack. BenBen now has hit two safeties in each of the three games Washington has played.

The Jewell shortstop was Pat White of Kirkwood and the Cardinal catcher was Bob Rogers, Mehlville High grad. The team played down south last week, losing all six games.

Washington's triumph eased the pain of the 21-0 football loss to Jewell last fall.

The Bears were to play McKendree College today at 3:30 on the Liggett Field diamond. The game was originally scheduled for March 25 but was postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

Washington tomorrow plays North Dakota University at Liggett Field at 3:30. "Tom Eckelman will pitch that one," Utz said. However, the veteran coach may take a flashlight with him in case it turns dark in the late innings when he goes looking for a replacement. Just where would you find a lantern in the city, anyhow?

Babe Remembered

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4 — Several years after Babe Ruth packed it in as a player, he signed on with the Brooklyn Dodgers as a coach whose principal duty was to hit home runs in batting practice to entertain the customers. By this time the Phillies had moved from old Baker Bowl, to Shibe Park, where the Babe had swatted them through all his seasons in the American League.

"What do you remember best about this park?" he was asked the first time he accompanied the Dodgers to Philadelphia.

"The naughty word day I hit that naughty word ball into that naughty word street over there, Opal street," he said, nodding toward right field.

As any good Philadelphian could tell you, Shibe Park is bounded on the right by Twentieth street. Chances are not many Philadelphians could tell you the name of the little street, hardly more than an alley, a short block east of Twentieth.

That is Opal street, and yet they say the Babe couldn't even remember the names of his own teammates. Well, he might call Bob Shawkey "Horse Nose" because he couldn't remember his square name, and he might call Waite Hoyt or Tony Lazzeri or Bob Meusel "Pal," for the same reason, but he wasn't a guy to forget the name of any naughty word street a whole naughty word block from the naughty word ball park if he had hit a naughty word home run into it.

For Bats and Owls

So that was Babe Ruth's dearest memory of Shibe Park. A lot of other memories were stirred in a lot of other minds the other day when the Phillies' owner, Bob Carpenter, sold the old battleground as a housing project for bats and owls. Connie Mack Stadium, they call it now, though when Connie was alive he opposed changing the name because he felt that as long as the joint stood it should remain a memorial to Benjamin F. Shibe, the man who brought American League baseball to Philadelphia.

Perhaps Connie never knew it, but the chances are that when Ben Shibe built the joint in 1909 he had it in mind that some day he might want to rename it for his manager and partner. At any rate, along about World War II, the plant got its first bath in 35 years, and as the sandblasters chewed away the grime it turned out that the facade was studded with gargoyles and such. Right over the main entrance at 21st Street and Lehigh Avenue appeared a stone bust of Connie wearing a full crop of wavy hair and a trap-door collar, both parted in the middle.

None of the Shibes, Ben or his sons John and Tom, ever sold advertising space on the fences. Almost the entire right field wall in Baker Bowl was covered by a sign announcing that the Phillies bathed with Lifebuoy soap so they'd smell better—"and, brother, can they use it!" Shorty Levin, the telegraph operator, used to say — but no such intimate disclosures marred the handsome dark green of the Athletics' playpen.

Green Memories

Shibe Park was also distinguished as the only drydock in the major leagues. One of the Shibe sons, a yachting enthusiast, kept a whole fleet stored under the left field stands, and when Jimmy Foxx, or Al Simmons or Bob Johnson was smashing the furniture in that sector, the ground crew used to say he had hit one into the boathouse.

Fans are forever arguing about who hit the longest home run ever — Ruth believes his longest was belted out of Plant Field in Tampa — but until Arthur Patterson introduced the tape measure in recent years, there was no sure basis of comparison. Still a stick-out in personal memory is one that Foxx creamed in Philadelphia. It looked like a low line drive streaking over the infield, but it was still climbing when it clipped the very peak of the roofed upper deck in left and took off for the clouds. Three days later a small boy in Bustleton, on the northeast fringe of town, found a baseball with snow on it.

Even more vivid is the memory of a less violent smash which had louder repercussions. It was during the World Series of 1931, when the Cardinals' Pepper Martin was slugging pitchers like Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw as though they were Little Leaguers, and stealing everything but Mickey Cochran's pants. The team had split the first four gamees and, as it is recalled now, the fifth was tied when Martin came up about the seventh or eighth inning.

"Well," said a guy in the press box, "so far he has singled, doubled, tripled, bunted safely, and stolen everything in sight. There's

Augusta Test for Power Golfer, Says Horton Smith

'Speed Gone From Greens'

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—As golf's brightest stars tuned up today for the silver jubilee Masters Tournament, the meet's very first champion said the storied Augusta National Course now is a test of power rather than finesse.

Horton Smith, the aging, meticulous putter who won the first show in 1934 and again triumphed in 1936, got ready for Thursday's start of his twenty-fifth consecutive Masters. He sadly commented that the Augusta National "just isn't treacherous now."

"It still is a tremendous golf course," said Smith of the par 36-36—72 layout cradled in some 6000 yards of horticultural splendor. "But within the past five years somehow it has called for more power than trickery."

The lush, verdant fairways and well-matted greens which Smith said may have resulted from such factors as increased fertilizing, seedings or watering make it tougher for the shorter hitter and the calculating putter.

Speed of Greens Gone.

"Those boys who boom the ball don't have to worry too much about bunkers and traps, while the roll isn't there to bring the shorter hitters up closer," said Smith. "On the green, where you sometimes had to figure a big break on your putt, now it's a matter of distance rather than direction."

Billy Casper, former U.S. Open champion and a ranking Masters contender this year, also thinks the once treacherous speed of Augusta's greens is gone to some degree.

"They are so well-matted now, they probably never will be as fast as they once were," said Casper, whose 3-under-par 67 practice round yesterday indicated he'll be pressing to better his fourth-place Masters finish last year with 287.

Two other players also seeking their first Masters' title, Chick Harbert and Dick Chapman, fired 69's as most of the big guns in the expected field of more than 90 hand-picked entries tested the wind-swept course under leaden skies.

Arnold Shoots 71.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer, aiming for an unprecedented second successive Masters' title and his third in four years, came in with "a 71 or something like that."

Ken Venturi, who finished a stroke behind Palmer's winning 282 last year, also shot a 71, while 73's were carded by Ben Hogan, two-time Masters winner and holder of the meet record of 274 (1953); power-hitting Mike Souchak; Jay Hebert and Walter Burkemo.

While Hogan was hitting the ball as well as, if not better, than most, his putter still was betraying him. On the eighteenth hole of yesterday's practice round, he two-putted from eight feet.

Sauldsberry, Hero Against L.A., Also Man in Middle in Boston

By John J. Archibald
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

BOSTON, April 4—One of the loudest and most spontaneous ovations given a pro-basketball player in Kiel Auditorium occurred last Saturday afternoon. The recipient was Woody Sauldsberry, who fouled out a few seconds before the Hawks completed an exciting playoff victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

"I'm sure I never heard anything like that before," said Woody, as he recalled the moment yesterday while he and the other Hawks were taking it easy. The 6-foot-7 frontliner had an exceptional series against the Lakers, both offensively and defensively, and the St. Louis fans expressed their appreciation.

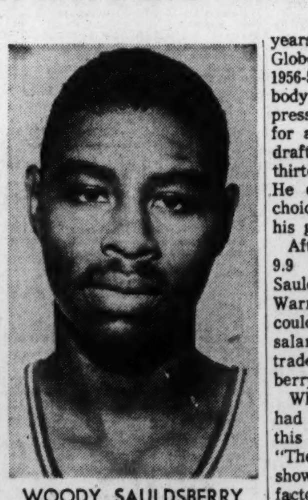
Tomorrow night Sauldsberry will have a second try at one of the least enviable jobs in basketball, trying to reduce the effectiveness of the Boston Celtics' Bill Russell. The Hawks and Celtics will meet in game No. 2 of their playoff for the National Basketball Association championship at 7:30, St. Louis time.

Hawks Need Victory.

The Hawks lost, 129-95, in Sunday's first game, but coach Paul Seymour's team could take a favorable position in the best-of-seven series by winning the next one. The two clubs will play at Kiel Auditorium on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Last Sunday nearly all of the Hawks appeared to be suffering from a letdown after the Laker series and Sauldsberry was no exception. He made just six baskets in 18 tries and this wasn't enough to keep his off-season friend, Russell, from hogging the middle area. In the absence of injured Clyde Lovellette, Woody knows he must hit often enough from outcourt to lure Russell away from the basket.

Whether or not Sauldsberry can outfox Russell, the Hawks' fans won't soon forget his work in the playoff with the Lakers. Neither will Los Angeles coach Fred Schaus.



WOODY SAULDSBERRY

"Sauldsberry hurts us more than any one man," said Schaus after the final game. "We could just about figure the abilities of the other St. Louis players, but we didn't count on Woody giving us trouble in every game."

One of Woody's teammates, Al Ferrari, had added praise for the big, quiet man who came to the Hawks in a pre-season trade with Philadelphia. "Some people wonder how you can praise a man for his defense against Elgin Baylor when Baylor was scoring 35 and 40 points a game," said Ferarri, "but the way Elg was hitting he'd have scored 75 a game if Woody hadn't been on him."

Comeback for Woody.

This season has been a sort of comeback for Sauldsberry, who slumped with the Warriors in 1959-60 after two excellent seasons. He was named the N.B.A.'s rookie of the year for his work in 1957-58 and the following season he improved, jumping his scoring average from 12.3 to 15.4.

Sauldsberry was reared in Los Angeles, where his play as a 6-foot-5 high school center earned him a scholarship at Texas Southern, which he attended two years before joining the Harlem Globetrotters for the 1955-56 and 1956-57 seasons. Apparently nobody in the pro ranks was impressed by his play in Texas, for as Woody recalls he wasn't drafted by the Warriors until the thirteenth or fourteenth round. He outshone all of the earlier choices, though, and experienced his great rookie season.

After his average dropped to 9.9 in the 1959-60 campaign, Sauldsberry and Philadelphia Warrior owner Eddie Gottlieb couldn't reach an agreement on salary. Woody asked to be traded. The Ed Conlin-for-Sauldsberry deal resulted.

When asked if Coach Seymour had been able to help him much this season, Sauldsberry said, "The confidence that Paul has shown in me was the biggest factor. He counted on me at important times all season and I tried to do my best for him."

Works to Get His Shot.

Seymour, well pleased with Sauldsberry's progress, said Woody has been scoring more because he has been working to get the shot he wants, instead of always taking the shot that his opponents want him to take.

"Instead of just firing from near the out-of-bounds strip, Woody has been bouncing the ball once or twice as he moves closer," said Seymour. "Sometimes when the man guarding him drops back, Woody will drive in. He's fast and I want him to learn to drive more often."

Woody and his wife, Yvonne, have one son, Woody III. The youngster is probably one of the best-informed two-year-olds when it comes to basketball, for he can page through a book containing photos of the N.B.A. players and rattle off their names with only a rare miss. When asked his name the youngster, a frequent spectator at the Hawks' game, replies, Woody Sauldsberry Basketball."

Woody III undoubtedly will be sitting by the radio tomorrow night, waiting to find out if his daddy and the other Hawks can get even with the Boston Celtics.

Doctor Sees Chance That Lovellette Can Play Saturday

Dr. Stan London, the Hawks' team physician, said yesterday there is a chance 6-foot-9 center Clyde Lovellette will play in Saturday's game of the National Basketball Association playoff at Kiel Auditorium. Lovellette, who has an ailing back, remained here when the Hawks flew to Boston for the first two games of the series with the Celtics.

"Lovellette's condition seems to be entirely muscular," said Dr. London. "It is difficult to make a definite prediction, but he may be able to play by the weekend."

In Boston, where the Hawks were walloped, 129-95, in the playoff opener Sunday, coach Paul Seymour said although Bob Pettit has been doing "a great job, we still need Clyde." He added, "Give us a little rest and we'll go back to St. Louis in good shape. And if we have Lovellette ready Saturday we won't be so bad off."

N.B.A. Referees' Chief Reported On His Way Out

PHILADELPHIA, April 4 (AP)—Jocko Collins, commenting on a report he will be dismissed as supervisor of referees in the National Basketball Association, said today: "I haven't been notified I've been fired or rehired."

Collins, who works on a year-to-year contract, said he expected a decision on his future status would be made at the league's annual spring meeting following the playoffs. In New York N.B.A. president Maurice Podoloff also said no decision has been made on Collins's future.

A Boston report said club owners Walter Brown of Boston and Ben Kerner of St. Louis had intimated Collins was through. Collins, who has been in the league 15 years, has held the post of supervisor for the last seven. Prior to that he was an official himself.

Asked about reports he had been under fire from some owners for his scheduling of officials and for not bringing more referees into the league, Collins said:

"I have tried at least 50 officials in the last seven years. Of those about 10 made the grade. I have six full-time officials and four part-time. The part-time officials can't travel all over the circuit. That's why I couldn't schedule officials an equal number of times in every city."

Sixth N.B.A. Playoff Game, If Necessary, At Kiel April 13

The National Basketball Association yesterday completed dates for the Hawks-Boston Celtics playoffs.

As previously announced, the second game will be at Boston tomorrow night and the third and fourth games at Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis Saturday and Sunday afternoons. A fifth game, if necessary, has been set for Tuesday night, April 11, at Boston. A sixth would be Thursday night, April 13, at Kiel, and a seventh would be Saturday afternoon, April 15, at Boston.

Tickets for the games here Saturday (1 o'clock) and Sunday (1:30) went on sale this morning at all Hawks' outlets. No mail or phone orders will be accepted. Prices for seats, all of which are reserved, are $4 $3.50, $3 and $2.25.

Hawks Have Won $20,500, Could Make It $41,000

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—There's $35,000 up for grabs in the current best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series between Boston and St. Louis, with $21,000 earmarked for the 10 players on the winning team and $14,000 to the losers.

The melon is about one-fourth of the $125,000 pot with which the N.B.A. rewards teams competing in the various playoffs. The players do not share in the gate receipts as is done by the baseball teams in the World Series.

The team finishing the season with the highest won-lost percentage is given $2000. That went to Boston this year. Additionally, the teams winning the divisional championships get $10,000 each. Boston won the eastern flag, St. Louis the western.

Los Angeles and Philadelphia, as runners-up in each division, were rewarded with $3000 and all four teams in the semifinal playoffs — Philadelphia, Syracuse, Los Angeles and Detroit —each received $6000.

Winners of the divisional championship series were enriched by $10,500 a club while the two losers got $8500. This year Boston and St. Louis got the larger sums while Syracuse and Los Angeles got the smaller amounts.

Already the Boston club has won $22,500 of the melon, St. Louis $20,500, Los Angeles $17,500, Syracuse $14,500, Philadelphia $9000 and Detroit $6000.

If Boston wins the best-of-seven final round, the Celtics will divide $43,500. If St. Louis wins, the Hawks will have $41,500 to split. A Boston defeat in the final round would cut the Celtic melon to $36,500 while a St. Louis defeat would shrink the Hawk pot to $34,500.

A's Send Kucks to Rochester

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Norm Bass, a right-handed pitcher, was added to the roster of the Kansas City Athletics today at the same time Johnny Kucks and four other players were assigned to minor league clubs.

Kucks, who had been in the majors continuously since 1955, was optioned to Rochester of the International League on a 24-hour recall basis. Kucks, also a right-handed pitcher, had a 4-10 record last season. He has been ineffective this spring.

Dave Wickersham, a right-handed relief pitcher, was optioned to Shreveport of the Southern Association. The contracts of Paul Seitz, a pitcher, and Frank Cipriani, an outfielder, also were assigned to Shreveport. Seitz and Cipriani had previously been cut from the A's roster and were awaiting assignment.

Tom Baker, a right-handed pitcher, was returned to Honolulu of the Pacific Coast League.

Bass's contract was purchased from the Shreveport club. He has been the most impressive of the young pitchers in the Kansas City camp.

The A's now have 28 men on their roster, the limit permitted on opening day.

Phillies Buy Hurler Ferrarese

TAMPA, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies says southpaw Don Ferrarese will help the club in the bullpen.

"We're short of lefthanders," Mauch said yesterday after the Phillies bought the former Baltimore Oriole from San Diego, a Chicago White Sox farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 4 (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians today sold third baseman Steven Demeter to Toronto of the International League in a straight cash deal.

The Tribe also hired Allen Jones as a full-time bullpen catcher, taking him off the active players list. Jones has been in the organization since 1948.

Robin Roberts Appears Set to Pitch Opener Despite Injury

Veteran's String of Zeroes Passes 23

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Robin Roberts, puffed ear and all, has taken another big stride toward the Philadelphia Phillies' opening day assignment that used to be his by habit.

The veteran pitcher, who has had only one winning season in the last four after ranking for years as the National League's top righthander, pushed his string of scoreless exhibition innings to 23⅓ yesterday. Then a drive off his right ear sent him to the showers a little earlier than manager Gene Mauch had intended.

The 34-year-old Roberts pitched 6⅓ scoreless innings in the Phils' 3-2, 16-inning victory over the New York Yankees — then wobbled off the field when a one-hop smash off the bat of the Yanks' Cletis Boyer struck him on the ear.

Warm-up on Friday.

The 13-year Phils' veteran is undergoing treatment at a Clearwater, Fla., hospital today to guard against a "cauliflower ear." The injury isn't considered serious and he's expected to get his opening day "warm-up" as scheduled against the Pirates in an exhibition at Wichita on Friday.

Barring further complications, that'll tune the 6-2, 200-pound Roberts for the Phils' opener at Los Angeles a week from tonight at the Coliseum.

Robby, who has won 233 games in the big leagues but shows only a 54-69 record for the last four seasons, wasn't too disturbed by the injury.

"It was the first time I've ever been hit with a ball above the waist," he said. "I thought it was more serious at first, but I guess it was just fright."

Back-to-back doubles by Tony Taylor and Johnny Callison broke up the game against the Yanks. The game lasted four hours, 28 minutes. Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati, 5-2; the New Los Angeles Angels crushed San Francisco, 12-8; Washington edged Baltimore, 2-1, in 13 innings; Minnesota walloped Detroit, 11-4, and Cleveland outlasted Boston, 10-9.

Bob Friend, vieing with Vern Law for Pittsburgh's opening day assignment, allowed but three hits in seven innings against the Reds in a second successive strong performance.

The Angels, who will probably play many such free-wheeling games with their pitching shortage, used homers by Del Rice, Steve Bilko and Faye Throneberry to whip Juan Marichal and the Giants. Marichal, Giants' rookie ace last year, was blasted for seven runs and 11 hits in five innings. Felipe Alou homered twice for San Francisco.

McClain Sparkles.

Catcher Frank Zupo's bad throw on Marty' Keough's bunt enabled Jim Mahoney to score from second with the thirteenth-inning run that beat the Orioles. Rookie Joe McClain, looming bigger every day in the Senators' plans, worked nine innings and allowed one run. Gene Green touched off the winning rally with a single.

The ex-Senators — the Minnesota Twins—rode their home run power over Detroit, accounting for 10 of their 11 runs on two circuit shots by Harmon Killebrew and one apiece by Don Mincher, Dan Dobbek and Elmer Valo. Chuck Stobbs kept the Tigers under control with a yield of just three hits in seven innings.

Boston's injury list, already including outfielders Jackie Jensen and Carl Yastrzemski, added all-star third baseman Frank Malzone, who suffered a sprained ankle sliding into second base. He probably will be sidelined a few days.

Shelton Gets Ace

Michael Shelton scored a hole-in-one on No. 12 hole on the St. Charles golf course. He was playing with Don Walker and Don Jones.

Past and Present at Belleville High

27 Seasons Later Box Score Again Says, 'Mueller to Schlueter'

By Bob Ruhl

Back in 1934 Belleville Township High's baseball team was rated the top prep team in downstate Illinois. Senior Norm (Manny) Schlueter wore the mask and mitt on that Maroon team, and one of the pitchers was a young sophomore righthander, Les Mueller.

After high school, they went their separate ways. Norm eventually won a catching berth on the Chicago White Sox in 1938, and Les later hurled on Detroit's World Championship team in 1945. Today both men have memories, and a hope for the future—to see their sons, now a Belleville High battery, make the grade in the majors.

Schlueter glanced over at his son Bill, a tall 6-1 star on the Maroon basketball team. "I wish I stood where he does right now," Norm said.

College Plans.

Young Schlueter has received several college inquiries, and he hopes to play collegiate basketball and baseball before giving professional baseball a whirl.

"He'll finish college before he tries to play pro baseball," the elder Schlueter said.

The Muellers feel the same way. "I really want to play baseball," Les Jr., said. "But first I plan to get a degree in engineering."

The proud fathers have watched their sons play together through midget baseball and American Legion ball and in high school. Both fathers see as many games as possible. Norm manages the Belleville legion team that has gone to the Illinois state tournament twice, won two division titles and captured its district championship in four of his five years as field boss.

Does dad do some coaching from the sidelines, the two boys were asked?

Both answered with a quick "yes."

"It's mostly about my hitting," young Schlueter said. "Dad keeps after me about my control," young Mueller noted.

The fathers admitted to some influencing of what positions the boys would play. "Bill probably started catching because a catcher's mitt was the only glove around the house," Norm said.

With White Sox.

Schlueter shared the catching with Luke Sewell on the White Six in 1938 and with Mike Tresh in 1939. After some minor league play and military duty, he returned and caught with Buddy Rosar for the Cleveland Indians in 1944. He spent several seasons in the minors after that and retired in 1948 because of an injury.

He is now a sales representative for Owens Glass Co., in the paper products division.

Mueller, a Belleville furniture store owner and alderman, pitched 19⅔ innings for Detroit in a game with Philadelphia on July 21, 1945. The game, which ended in a 1-1 tie after 24 innings, shares the American League record as the longest game in innings with one between the Athletics and Boston Red Sox in 1906.

Schlueter laughs now about the changes that have come about in 27 years. He went on to college at Illinois Wesleyan after graduation in 1934. "I signed with the Sox but I needed about $60 to pay a fraternity bill before I could leave for spring training," Schlueter said. "That was my bonus."

"Then, too, when I broke into the majors, a rookie received $500 a month," the former catcher said. "Now the kids get $7500. But maybe you could buy as much with what we got," he said.

SPORT SHORTS

CHARLES FINLEY, new owner of the Kansas City Athletics, has promised to give every player a new contract retroactive to the start of the season if the club finishes in the first division. If baseball law forbids such a move, he said, he would give new contracts to outstanding players regardless of where the team finishes.

Zanesville, Ohio, set aside April 19 as FRED TAYLOR day for a hometown tribute to the coach of the Ohio State team which lost to Cincinnati in the title game.

Basketball - mad Columbus, meanwhile, was back to normal with the chief topic of conversation once again being the Ohio State football team. Spring practice started yesterday.

nothing left now except to belt one into—"

The sound of wood splintering in left field interrupted him. The next sound heard was the dull plop of Connie's three-time pennant winners falling on their heads.

Good, Faithful Servant

The Shibe Park press attendant was a cheerful little geezer named Walter. If he had a last name, it was his own secret. One of his duties was to take the press box elevator down to the ground floor in the eighth inning and hold it there so Connie could duck out of the dugout as the game ended and ride to his tower office.

One afternoon in 1945 the Athletics and Tigers were tied, one to one, in the eighth. Walter took the car down and held the door open to keep it there. He was back beneath the stands, out of sight of the field.

Nobody scored in the ninth and the game went into extra innings. It was still tied after twelve innings, after 15, after 18, after 21. The rules then forbade completing a day game under the lights. After 24 innings the score was still tied, 1 to 1, and the umpires called it. For 16 innings, something more than three hours, Walter had stood with his foot in the door.

the first 12 last year when we had run into more rain than Noah," said Dressen. "We were out of shape, but we won't be this time—and they won't beat us so often, either."

If Ron Piche comes through in the bullpen or McMahon comes back or, more pertinently, if the Braves get Farrell from Philadelphia, using infielders for bait, they might finish as high as Dressen.

Right now, Chesty Cholly is five games ahead of his gang.

20 Collect On $4580 'Double'

MIAMI, Fla., April 4 (UPI)—Twenty lucky bettors traded their names and addresses for $4580.70 each at Gulfstream Park yesterday. They held tickets on the biggest daily double of the Florida racing season and the largest ever at the Hallandale track.

Corporal J. P. won the opener by three-quarters of a length to pay $62.60 and Greco Pacific completed the big double by returning $142.40 in the second race.

A track spokesman said that 20 $2 tickets were sold on the winning combination and that, in accordance with the new Internal Revenue service regulations, all winners had to show identification before collecting their money.

The day's feature, a $4200 allowance test, was won by Call Card, which paid $37.30, $19.40 and $12.80 as she covered the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:43.

Evening Glow defeated Staretta by one and three-quarters lengths in the $22,900 Correction Handicap at Aqueduct, with the favored Sister Antoine finishing another length back in third place. Ridden by Howard Grant, Evening Glow completed the six furlongs in 1:10 3-5 and paid $7.20, $4.70 and $2.90.

It was disqualification day at the New York track.

Four horses were disqualified, including the first two in the ninth race. Set An Example won the race with Writer second. The stewards disqualified both—dropping Set An Example back to last, keeping Writer second and moving up the third horse, Noble Stan, to first although he trailed Set An Example by 6¼ lengths.

Earlier, Mr. Flies was disqualified from a second place finish in the first race, while Silver Flute, a 16-1 shot, was dropped from first to third in the second race.

Oligarchy ($8.80) won the Concord Purse at Golden Gate Fields; Dr. John Peters returned $3.40 at Oaklawn and Gertie Bayne paid $4.60 at Lincoln Downs in other features.

C.A.B. APPROVES UNITED-CAPITAL AIRLINE MERGER

WASHINGTON, April 4 (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board officially gave United Air Lines permission today to acquire Capital Airlines, climaxing the biggest merger transaction in United States commercial aviation history.

United plans to begin consolidated operations over Capital's routes by June 1.

The CAB's long-awaited decision will make United the nation's biggest air carrier, supplanting American Airlines in terms of route miles, aircraft, personnel and potential passenger traffic.

Another 30 days must elapse before the CAB's decision becomes effective — 20 days in which objecting airlines can file petitions for reconsideration, plus another 10 days for filing or rebuttals. But the waiting period was a mere formality because the CAB was not expected to change its mind.

United president W. A. Patterson planned to announce in Chicago Thursday the airline's final arrangements for consummating the merger of the country's second and fifth largest carriers.

The merger was arranged in part to satisfy action by a British firm, Vickers-Armstrongs Ltd., to collect some $34,000,000 owed to it by Capital.

The CAB decision joined Capital's 7500-mile route system serving nearly 60 cities with United's 14,000-mile system going into 82 cities.

United is retaining only 41 of Capital's 56 jet-powered Viscounts, the only modern aircraft in the latter's fleet. It hopes to sell Capital's DC-3s and DC4s and probably will return to Pan American World Airways the seven DC-6Bs that Pan-Am has leased to Capital for nearly two years.

Eventually, United will dispose of all Viscounts when it acquires short-range Caravelle and Boeing 727 Jetliners. It will operate the prop-jets only as far west as Minneapolis, mostly on Capital's present routes.

With the exception of a few top officials, all of Capital's 7800 employes will be absorbed by United. These include 508 captains, 325 co-pilots and 447 hostesses. The hostesses will have to become "stewardesses" to conform with United's designation of its cabin attendants.

Double Game

at the expense of the Soviet Union, which had previously occupied the region.

RED CHINESE Foreign Minister Chin Yi has now threatened to turn Laos into another Korea if the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization intervenes with troops. This suggests that the Chinese would like to replace the Russians as well as the Western powers in Laos just as they previously had done in North Korea.

While both eventually may contest the area between them, the first objective of both Russia and Red China is to obtain the removal of the neutralization powers, by peaceful negotiations if Russia can arrange it, or by force of Chinese troops if it fails to do so.

Whether the two big Communist powers acted in concert, the threat by Chen Yi, who led the Chinese Third Army into Korea in 1950 before he became foreign minister, strengthens the Soviet bargaining position.

SOVIET PREMIER Khrushchev can now send a message to President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan saying: Please increase your concessions in Laos so as to help me keep the Chinese dragon from charging into Laos and blowing us all up.

The dilemma facing the two Western leaders when they meet is whether they should run the risk of losing Laos by making concessions to the Russians or whether they should reject concessions and thereby run the risk of another Korean-type conflict with the Chinese Communists.

The major concession which the Russians are suspected to be seeking is time—because they believe time is running in their favor. They favor negotiations so long as SEATO does not intervene and the pro-Communist forces continue to advance in Laos.

JACK BENNY A HIT IN CARNEGIE DUET WITH ISAAC STERN

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP) — Jack Benny of the receding hairline plays a pretty good longhair violin.

That was the opinion a Carnegie Hall audience of 2700 last night after the comedian paused between witticisms and performed a duet with violinist Isaac Stern.

When the strains of the first movement of Bach's Concerto in D Minor for two violins died away, the audience applauded and Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony, shook Benny's hand.

The program, to raise funds for Carnegie Hall, Inc., was titled, "Carnegie Hall salutes Jack Benny."

He was honored for his efforts in raising funds to support symphony orchestras throughout the country and was described by Stern as "a man who has done much . . . in the cause of good music."

WOMAN IS SHOT BY MAN IN EAST ST. LOUIS TAVERN

Mrs. Effie Bailey, 1411 Dolman street, was shot in the right leg last night by a man who walked into Gus's Nut House, a tavern at 801 Piggott avenue, East St. Louis, and fired three shots after cursing Mrs. Bailey and a companion. There was no apparent reason for the shooting, police were told.

East St. Louis police said they were told by Mrs. Fern Hammond, 1919 Mallinckrodt street, that the man entered the tavern twice. The first time he cursed and threatened to kill Mrs. Hammond. He left but returned later with a pistol and again began cursing.

Mrs. Hammond said she and Mrs. Bailey were leaving by a rear door when the man began firing. He then fled. None of the tavern patrons knew the man, police said. Mrs. Bailey, 70 years old, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, where her condition was said to be not serious.

Minister Resigns in Ecuador.

QUITO, April 4 (UPI)—Patricio Lasso Carrion resigned as Defense Minister of Ecuador last night because of unspecified differences with President Jose M. Velasco Ibarra.

DECISION ON EX-LT. DAVIS'S POLICE PAY IS REVERSED

A decision by the Board of Police Commissioners ordering forfeiture of pay of F. Lyman Davis, former police lieutenant, from Oct. 1, 1955 to Oct. 16, 1956, was reversed yesterday by Circuit Judge James F. Nangle.

Davis was under suspension at that time while charges were pending against him of accepting bribes from a brothel operator. He later was acquitted and restored to duty. Judge Nangle held that the decision of the board in ordering forfeiture of pay "was rendered without institution of any charges or specifications against him" and without a hearing.

Davis resigned from the police department Oct. 20, 1959. In a stipulation filed with the board at that time, Davis pleaded guilty of one of several charges growing out of his visits to an alleged gambling establishment. In another police board case, Judge Nangle upheld the suspension in 1956 of Cpl. Henry Anthonis, with loss of two months' pay. Anthonis was found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer in connection with the brothel investigation. Anthonis sued to recover the pay, at $390 a month.

British Fears

setup through a Pathet Lao victory.

THE IMMEDIATE consequence of this, they said, would be the establishment of a coalition between the Pathet Lao and Souvanna Phouma's neutralist followers that would freeze out the pro-American politicians around Prince Boun Oum.

Should this develop—and the current state of the military operations give no assurance that it will not—the conference would have to deal with a government that, despite its neutralist professions, would favor an Eastern rather than a Western solution of the country's problems.

The military situation is one reason why the British consider an early reply to Moscow a matter of urgency. The conference, it is conceded, may have to help negotiate the establishment of broadly based government for Laos. But it is important that all political groupings be included in the negotiations.

THESE AND OTHER points raised by the Soviet aide memoire need clarification before either the United Kingdom or the United States can go further in accepting the Soviet proposals. It is expected therefore that the British reply will be drafted in Washington when Lord Home and Prime Minister Macmillan confer with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Rusk.

The reply is expected to insist on a cease-fire as a first step toward a settlement, for, as the foreign secretary said, "you cannot have talks going on subject to military pressures."

The emphasis here is on speed. For as a Times of London editorial commented: "As long as arms continue to pour into the country, there is always the danger of an explosion."

FPC Staff

and the information you have submitted in this case, you gave no consideration to that exhibit?" he was asked.

"No, it was too late to give any consideration to it," Froggatt answered. "Our work had progressed to a point that I could not back up."

FROGGATT acknowledged that his cost comparisons of the two dams were based entirely on the designs prepared by Ebasco and submitted by Pacific Northwest Power Co.

Asked why he had not taken into account the designs and data submitted by the public utility group, Froggatt said the first application submitted for the Nez Perce project "was so skimpy, so sketchy, I was unable to reach any conclusions."

"You made no attempt to do any research on it in view of the lack of time, is that right?" he was asked.

"Well, in part, in the face of what I considered to be a better plan of projects that I had already studied, I saw no reason to change my position," Froggatt replied.

DONALD SANDER, the FPC attorney in charge of the staff's presentation, told the hearing: "You have to bear in mind that at the beginning of this proceeding we had one application for a license, and that was to go to hearing on March 30.

"A considerable amount of material had been exchanged between the parties up to that time.

"Naturally, I am not going to abandon all of that and start adopting any other figures, since on checking through the (Ebasco) designs, we found them to be satisfactory, and naturally we will continue to use them."

Attorneys for the public power group pointed out that an amended application for the Nez Perce project, containing complete designs and data, was filed Aug. 19, 1960, and that the FPC, after several postponements, had set the start of the hearings for Nov. 4, 1960.

They said this would have given the commission staff two and a half months to go over the material furnished by the public utility group on behalf of its application.

The Nez Perce applicants then moved to subpena Francis L. Adams, chief of the FPC's bureau of power, and Lesher S. Wing, regional FPC engineer in San Francisco, who is Froggatt's immediate superior.

THE MOTION for subpenas stated:

"Obviously, prejudice as blatant and as inconsistent with established commission policy as that reflected in the testimony of the staff's technical witnesses could only have originated at policy levels within the commission and filtered downward . . ."

The request, which was opposed by staff counsel Sander, was denied by the hearing examiner, William C. Levy. However, the question of whether the staff should be required to take into account the designs and data submitted by the public power group is to be explored further in seubsequent hearings.

The public power organization maintains that its exhibits would show that the Nez Perce dam would cost about $85,000,000 less than the Mountain Sheep project. As proposed, the Nez Perce dam would be the largest multi-purpose hydro-electric development in the Western Hemisphere, its backers contend.

It would have an initial capacity of 2,100,000 kilowatts and an ultimate capacity of 3,360,000 kilowatts, compared with a total capacity of 1,944,000 kilowatts at Grand Coulee dam, now the largest multi-purpose project in terms of power output.

John Birch Society for its tactics of infiltration and what one of the most conservative newspapers in the country has suggested is downright subversion. Yet in some areas the Birch society is itself a promoter of "Operation Abolition" and the committee.

BUT THERE IS real doubt, quite apart from the committee's objectivity, about both the value and the propriety of such an investigation. It would be investigating men and women for holding, professing and advocating extreme right-wing views just as the committee has in many instances investigated individuals for holding, professing and advocating extreme left-wing views. In the latter instances their connection with a Communist conspiracy, which properly should be investigated by the FBI, was tenuous to non-existent. That is one reason civil libertarians have been concerned that fundamental guarantees of free speech are being violated and eroded away.

Laws and investigations are no guarantee of America's heritage of freedom. As champions of that heritage have said over the years, if it does not exist in understanding and dedication in the minds and hearts of the people then it will be destroyed.

That is the lesson of William Shirer's powerful best-selling "The Rise and the Fall of the Third Reich." Comfortable Germans clung to the belief that Hitler's end — the extermination of Communism — justified his means. And as the means became more and more brutal and barbarous they simply closed their eyes and a great civilized nation wrote its own terrible epitaph.

Lindbergh Bank of Hazelwood To Start Business Tomorrow

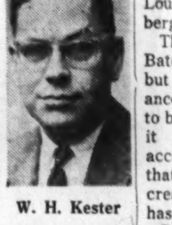
Depository in New Village Square Shopping Center—Charter Issued More Than Two Years Ago.

By William H. Kester
Post-Dispatch Business Correspodent

Lindbergh Bank of Hazelwood will open for business tomorrow, two years and four months after receiving a state charter.

The delay was caused by the construction of the bank's quarters in the new Village Square shopping center at the intersection of Lindbergh boulevard and the new circumferential highway 270, Preston Estep, chairman of the board of the new bank, said yesterday. Estep is also president of Transit Casualty Co. and board chairman of the Bank of St. Louis and the Bi-State Development Agency.

Two groups of business men sought to charter banks in the Hazelwood area, but Missouri Finance Commissioner G. Hubert Bates chartered only the Lindbergh Bank. Denial of the application of the rival group by Bates resulted in bitter accusations of favoritism. The rival Bank of Hazelwood application was filed on June 30, 1958, an hour earlier than the one for the Lindbergh Bank.



W. H. Kester

The group organizing the Lindbergh Bank includes James H. Meredith, former president of the Young Democratic Club of Missouri, an attorney and Leo A. Fisher, chairman of the Missouri Highway Commission.

The rival group included Christian B. Peper, an attorney; Edward B. Bischoff, George H. Pfister and Arthur A. Guenther, officers of the Manchester Bank of St. Louis; Albert J. Diederich, president of National Vendors; William G. Holtsneider, manager of the St. Charles Gas Corp.; Elton P. Kramer, vice president of Mississippi River Fuel Corp. and Joseph H. Grand, an attorney.

The Lindbergh Bank was chartered on Dec. 3, 1958, less than six months after the filing. Several banks were chartered in 1958 prior to the November election on a proposal to allow branch banking in the St. Louis and Kansas City areas. The proposal was defeated, however.

Estep said the delay in opening the bank was also caused by the relocation of the bank and the necessity of finding a president after the person first selected had been injured in an automobile accident.

The bank was originally to be adjacent to the Kroger Co. warehouse in Hazelwood, but this site was not considered sufficiently accessible for banking customers, Estep said. As a result the bank was situated in the Village Square shopping center, which will be formally opened this week. In January, 1960, Estep said he hoped the bank would be open by June.

Joseph R. Cosgrove, retired vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Louis, is president of the Lindbergh Bank.

The bank was chartered by Bates with a capital of $125,000, but the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. required the capital to be increased to $500,000 before it would insure the bank's accounts. Estep said yesterday that the capital had been increased to $500,000 and the FDIC has issued deposit insurance.

Robert L. Samuelson, formerly a FDIC examiner, is vice president and cashier of the new bank.

In addition to Estep, Cosgrove and Fisher, directors of the bank are Joseph Cento, president of Associated Transports, Inc.; S. Carl Robinson, vice president of St. Louis Public Service Co.; Robert A. Hughes, retired vice president of Kroger Co.; Hugh L. King, president of R. E. Funsten Co.

Liberty Loan Corp. has grown nearly 500 per cent in the last six and one-half years and receivables outstanding now total nearly $144,000,000, David B. Lichtenstein, president, told shareholders yesterday at the annual meeting here.

The company now operates 395 offices, with 38 of them added so far this year and 92 in 1960.

The company's capital funds of $50,233,990 plus additional subordinated debt would be sufficient to increase receivables to about $200,000,000 without issuance of additional stock of any class, Lyle S. Woodcock, vice president, said.

The company announced the following promotions: William A. Gerard and Lyle S. Woodcock from vice presidents to executive vice presidents. Everett B. Best, from assistant vice president and secretary to vice president and secretary.

S. N. Held, Joseph R. Casson, Forrest G. Ryan and David B. Lichtenstein Jr. from assistant vice presidents to vice presidents. The latter also was elected to the board of directors.

SHORT COVERING IS BEHIND GRAIN RISE

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—Short covering, some of it the stop loss range, sent all prices well ahead today in fairly active dealings on the Board of Trade.

All the grains advanced as much as a cent a bushel or more in spots and soybeans were up 2c on old crop deliveries in the early afternoon.

Brokers said some of the strength in corn appeared to be related to a trade belief that the grain is going into the Government price support loan program at a record rate.

A report of a deeper penetration of Laos by a Chinese Communist aerial invasion also was credited with some of the demand.

Day's Complete New York Stock Transactions

MASSIVE VOLUME SWAMPS BOARD; CLOSE IS MIXED

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—The stock market closed mixed in another burst of heavy trading today.

Some prices were losing ground near the end.

The ticker tape ran late most of the day, lagging as much as 15 minutes just before noon. It cleared for a while and then trailed five minutes at the final bell.

Prices made a moderate gain early in the trading but ran into a setback that caused losses as high as 4 points.

Most gains and declines by key issues ranged from fractions to around a point or so.

Demand for American Telephone tapered off after it reached an all-time high of 130 yesterday.

Alleghany Corp. advanced as a proxy fight stimulated interest in its shares. Its preferred stock jumped 5¼ at one period.

Brokers attributed the soaring volume to increasing confidence of business improvement. They said prospects of poor first quarter earnings reports were being ignored. Greater buying by the public was indicated by increasing odd-lot purchases (less than 100 shares).

American Stock Exchange late afternoon prices were mixed. Fairchild Camera advanced more than 3 points and Polarad more than 2. Gaining around a point were Atco Chemical and Vinco. Fractional gainers included Allegheny Warrants, Servomechanisms and Technicolor. Puerto Rico Telephone declined about 3. Viewlex lost around a point.

GEN. CONTRACT FINANCE REPORT COVERING YEAR

General Contract Finance Corp. reported total receivables reached a record high and that retail volume of loans and discounts were maintained at near record levels during 1960.

Retail installment and personal loan receivables at the end of the year totaled $83,211,000, a six per cent increase over the $78,240,000 in 1959. Retail installment notes and personal loan volume totaled $81,809,000, slightly less than the $83,165,000 in 1959.

Despite the high level of activity, the company's earnings were $1,002,000 in 1960, compared to $1,604,000 the previous year. After preferred dividends this amounted to 32 cents a common share, compared to 66 cents for 1959.

Walter E. Burtelow, president, said almost all of the earnings decline resulted from credit losses in the automobile finance division.

$208,000,000 DROP IN INSTALLMENT DEBTS IN MONTH

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The nation's installment debts declined by $208,000,000 in February—the largest drop for any month since 1942.

The federal reserve board said that extensions of new credit declined by $66,000,000 to the lowest level since January, 1959. Repayments increased by $7,000,000.

After taking normal seasonal fluctuations into account, total installment credit was down $208,000,000 to $42,264,000,000.

Auto credit dropped $173,000,000 in February—the largest decline since March, 1958. Other consumer goods paper decreased $60,000,000 after rising slightly for five months.

The board said non-installment debt increased $27,0000,000 to $11,800,000,000.

FIRST AUTO PERIOD SLOWEST IN 9 YRS.

DETROIT, April 4 (AP)—Four of the nation's five major auto making firms have reported production figures that reflect the slowest first quarter in nine years despite a sharp upturn in late March.

General Motors, Chrysler Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Studebaker-Packard Corp. reported March production figures that were in some cases less than half the totals for comparable periods a year ago.

American Motors has not reported its figures.

General Motors said its United States plants produced 220,901 passenger cars in March, compared to 330,001 a year ago, while its truck and coach division turned out 34,922, units, compared to 57,413 in 1960. The firm's combined United States production in the first quarter was 648,959 cars, compared with 977,124 last year, and 95,667 trucks and coaches, a drop from 1960's figure of 169,192. General Motors also reported sales figures for the first quarter in which March showed a 34 per cent increase over January and February levels. Dealers delivered 240,000 cars in March—compared to 178,000 in each of the first two months—and bringing the March figures in line with the month's averages for the last five years. Truck and used car sales also increased in March, the firm noted.

Chrysler Figures.

Chrysler listed March production figures of 46,023 cars, compared to 103,457 a year ago. First quarter figures were 120,234 in 1961, and 318,735 in 1960.

Chrysler produced 6,009 Dodge trucks in March as against 7,311 last year. For the quarter, it was 15,226 compared to 22,946 in 1960.

Figures realesed by Ford showed 106,896 cars and 28,620 trucks—a total of 135,516 units—were built in March. In March of 1960, Ford built 198,326 units, including 163,383 cars and 34,943 trucks. Ford's first quarter production totaled 416,520, compared to 642,822 last year. Ford's breakdown of figures showed it built 46,567 compacts (34,232 Falcons, 12,335 Comets) in March of this year, a drop from 55,843 last year.

Studebaker-Packard.

Studebaker-Packard Corp. said it produced 4899 cars and 917 trucks in March—compared with 8,713 cars and 1220 trucks in the same month last year. First quarter totals for S-P were 13,256 cars and 1883 trucks. In 1960s first quarter, the company turned out 34,625 cars and 2823 trucks.

CORPORATE BOND LIST LOWER—VOLUME UP LATE

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—Corporate bond prices fell in late trading today. The U.S. government list was almost entirely unchanged from yesterday's close.

Over the counter dealers in treasury securities said investor interest was at a minimum.

Corporates had opened the session with a steady tone, temporarily halting the decline of yesterday and last week. However, by early afternoon all sections were in the minus column.

Volume spurted late in the day and was running about 20 per cent ahead of yesterday's pace.

Some convertibles gyrated widly. ITT 4⅞s added 7 at 330 at one time while Avco 5s fell 6¼ at 174.

In a mixed foreign department Berlin 4⅞s fell 4 at 89 and Cuba 4½s gained 3 at 54.

The Treasury's costs in the weekly bill auction continued upward yesterday. Last week they increased after a three-week dip.

For the second straight auction an additional $100,000,000 in new cash was raised by the Treasury.

The average yield on the 91-day bills was 2.47 per cent compared with 2.392 the previous week. The companion issue of 182-day bills sold for an average yield of 2.658 per cent, up from 2.576 per cent.

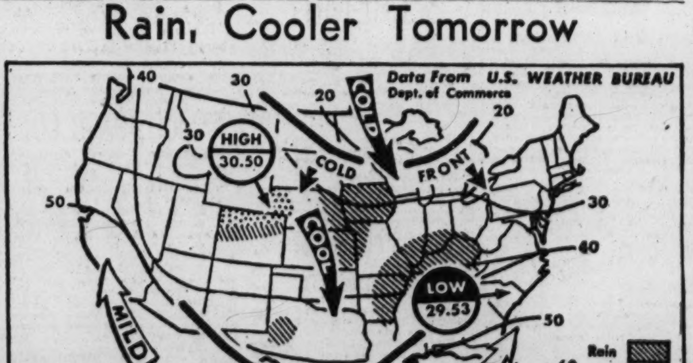
Rain, Cooler Tomorrow



—Associated Press Wirephoto. Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

Cooler weather is expected in the St. Louis area tomorrow, after rain, the Weather Bureau said. The bureau said Thursday will be clear with little temperature change.

Generally pleasant weather prevailed today in southern and western sections of the country. There were some wet spots in northern and eastern areas and it was cool again in most of the northeast quarter of the nation.

Rain and snow fell in the 24 hours ended early today in Montana with heavy snowfalls and gusty winds reported in some areas. The wet belt moved into the northern and central Rockies and more light snow fell in sections of the northeast. There was shower and thunderstorm activity in the night from the Carolinas to Georgia and northern Florida.

Rain was forecast by tomorrow in the east central Plains states and in the lower Ohio and central Mississippi valleys, as indicated by the above map. Rain and snow are expected in Colorado and western Nebraska.

Temperatures dropped to freezing and below this morning in much of the northeast, extreme northern Great Lakes region, northern Wisconsin and Minnesota and into parts of the upper Ohio valley. Elsewhere temperatures were more moderate.

Heating degree days in the St. Louis area yesterday, 20; the month, 74; the season, 4432.

WE OBTAIN YOUR STORE ACCOUNTS FOR YOU AND SHOW YOU EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW TO OPERATE THIS BUSINESS AND START MAKING MONEY FROM THE VERY FIRST DAY!

For all its advantages, this is not a "get rich quick" business . . . it IS a solid, steady, dependable business opportunity that can provide you an excellent income for the limited time you will devote to it . . .

. . . and it can be expanded into a big, full-time, money-making business if you are truly sincere and ambitious.

We are the exclusive Master Distributors for this world-famous line and we have a permanent local office showroom and meeting room which enables us to give you continuous personal guidance and supervision. Yes sir, this is probably just the kind of business opportunity you have been dreaming about. A car is required and your complete investment for merchandise, supplies, displays, store locations and instructions is only $495. It can be you or someone else in your area who will cash in on this unique opportunity. You'll be glad you did . . . as the information costs you nothing and does not obligate you in any way. So write us RIGHT NOW about yourself; include phone number, we will arrange a personal interview.

Fingertip Banking Available to Village Visitors

Placement of the Lindbergh Bank at one side of the new Village Square shopping center provides banking at the fingertips of every visitor to the Square. The bank has its formal opening today, in conjunction with the grand opening of the whole retail center.

The new bank provides complete banking facilities, with emphasis on maximum convenience, efficiency, speed and safety. Included will be personalized checking accounts, unique in that they may be opened by phone; commercial accounts, with special attention to small businesses and their particular credit needs; and a new "easy-save" savings account, which eliminates the need of a passbook and may be handled at drive-up windows.

Drive-up banking is to be maintained during regular banking hours, and from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays, there is a 24 hour depository, and bank by mail service also is to be employed.

Preston Estep is chairman of the board of the new bank. Estep is also president of the Transit Casualty Company, chairman of the board of General Bank Sharers, chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency, and member of the executive committee of St. Louis' Civic Center Redevelopment Corporation.

Joseph R. Cosgrove has been elected president of the new bank. Former vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, Cosgrove was for many years secretary of the St. Louis agency of the War Finance Corporation.

Assisting Cosgrove in the capacity of vice president of Lindbergh Bank is Robert L. Samuelson, previously an examiner of the F.D.I.C. Samuelson is also an active civic leader,

Growing St. Louis Needs Improved Services, Says Jeweler President

"A rapidly growing community needs improved service, whether it be utilities, transportation or merchandise. Such service," says Ben A. Lipshy, president of Zale Jewelry Company, "can only come about through improved facilities and additional retail stores to serve still more customers."

"The St. Louis area is one of the fastest growing of all metropolitan areas in the 32 states where Zale stores are located. That's why we are opening a sixth Zale store in Hazelwood's Village Square Center, and our fourteenth in Missouri," Lipshy said.

"This is one of the few cities where we have six stores in operation, and I believe we are fully justified by the rapid growth in population, income and family spending power of this area," the Zale president pointed out.

Traffic Downtown Too.

The successful development of any business enterprise requires the best possible service to its customers. If customers are moving into suburban areas, for example, as they are doing in fast-moving cities such as St. Louis, then the successful businessman must move where customers are living, Lipshy remarked.

"That's why we have suburban stores in Hazelwood, as well as in various other sections of metropolitan St. Louis. At the same time, however, we are cognizant of the increased traffic in downtown St. Louis, and for this reason we have maintained an up-to-date downtown store.

"I firmly believe the success of this downtown store has been an important factor in Zale's growth to 189 stores across the nation. I know that all of us at Zale's appreciate the co-operation and confidence the people of this city have shown in us. We look forward to continued growth and the start of another period of progress as we open the new Hazelwood store," Lipshy concluded.

The new Hazelwood store will be joined by all St. Louis area stores in celebration of the opening, District Manager Bob Lee reports.

A terrazzo lobby floor below a canopy provides entry into the store itself.

The air conditioned interior has walnut fixtures with white plastic trim. All fixtures, including the wall cases, are of contemporary design and the walls are painted in decorator colors of various shades. Lighting fixtures are recessed into an acoustical ceiling above gray tile flooring.

A small jewelry store was opened in 1924 in Wichita Falls, Texas. The owner and manager was Morris B. Zale. The little store in the North Texas city has grown into a nation-wide organization that numbers 189 stores in 32 states from the Pacific Northwest to New England on the East Coast.

Morris B. Zale is chairman of the board of Zale Jewelry Company. The company now has over 2000 employes. In the fiscal year ended March 31, 1960, Zale's net sales amounted to over $51 million. The company is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

The company's growth during the early years was a slow one. By 1928, a second store was opened in Tulsa, and a year later Oklahoma City got its first Zale's Jewelers.

Zale held firm during the depression years, and actually emerged with additional stores.

"Those days could have been disastrous," he recalls, "but we added stores during the depression simply because a couple of good ideas paid off—advertising and installment selling."

Both of these ideas were unheard of in the jewelry industry during the 20's and 30's. "It was somewhat of a chance," the Zale founder remarked, "but we gave it a try. Customers became more frequent and sales climbed."

From 1924 to 1944, the firm added 12 stores. Expansion leveled off during World War II, but the growth has been rapid since then.

"There's no doubt about the effectiveness of a sound, localized advertising program and installment selling," Zale says, "but don't overlook the human element in business, either."

"Goals are nice to attain, but what the businessman today needs to do is not worry about goals but develop the opportunities that he has. And they are many."

"You don't get anywhere looking across the street at your competitor and worrying how he might outsell you. But you can sure cause him to squirm if you develop your own opportunities."

Certainly, the success of this philosophy is evident, but what of the future?

"Who knows for sure?" asks the Zale founder. "In our case, we will continue to expand. This is evident by our new store in Hazelwood. Several stores are in blueprint stages now, and others are planned. We are pursuing a program of leased departments in Montgomery Ward stores now and this program, too, is proceeding nicely."

Casual Western Air Marks New Restaurant

Northwest St. Louis County will get a taste of the "Old West" at the Flaming Pit Restaurant opening in the Village Square shopping center in Hazelwood.

Reminiscent of the era of the Old West—when "900 plans" were unheard of and fine food was synonimous with family gatherings and relaxation—the new Flaming Pit Restaurant is decorated with a western feeling. Homey, warm, informal, the focal point is family fun and fine food. The restaurant features a big open charcoal hearth where steaks are hickory charcoal broiled.

The new Flaming Pit is the second in the St. Louis area. Children's plates are listed on a special menu.

A banquet room provides seating 175 persons. This room can be divided into smaller rooms for private parties, meetings, wedding parties and other occasions. The restaurant is to be open every day.

Russel Spengel is president of the new Flaming Pit Resturant. Harry L. Hilleary is secretary-treasurer.

New Shoe Store Part of Chain Started in West

The Wetherby Kayser Shoe Store in the Hazelwood Village Square is the newest unit of a chain of 12 family shoe stores first established in California 78 years ago.

The new store has 50 fitting chairs in three separate departments for women's, children's and men's shoes designed for comfort and shopping convenience.

The principal color scheme combines gold, beige, white and blue accented by walnut trim against vinyl-covered walls. Carpeting is in tones of beige with matching drapes and contrasting colors in the chair upholstery. Modern lighting, recessed into the ceiling, is both fluorescent and incandescent with decorative specially designed fixtures over the displays.

The brightly lighted store front rises two stories high with a facing of ceramic tile in tones of light grey with accents of blue and gold. Window and door trims are of gold-finished metal.

Wetherby Kayser will handle accessories and quality shoes in medium price ranges.

Charge accounts are to be used at the new store.

Rollo Louch, manager and buyer in charge of the Wetherby Kayser store, says, "We are very gratified at the response the women of this community have made to the new store and to our brands of shoes."

WHICH GLAZING?

In the world of paint, the word glazing has two entirely different meanings. One is in the term "glazing compound," which is similar to putty and is used when installing glass in window frames. The second meaning of glazing is to apply a tinted liquid to a painted or enameled surface to give it a mellow, antique look. A glazing liquid is made by mixing a color such as raw sienna with turpentine and varnish and then brushing it on the surface. It is then mostly wiped off in a circular motion.

Most Village Square Operations Already Well Known in Area

Merchants in The Village Square, which is being opened formally tomorrow morning, are, for the most part, already well known in other areas of the St. Louis metropolitan district. The Square, itself, is not an entirely unknown factor, for some of its functions have been carried on now for some time. The Lucky Strike Bowling Lanes, for instance, has been in business three years. It was the first element of the center erected and put into service by Hardesty-Johnson.

Development of the center was preceded by the building of the Lynn Haven subdivision, which lies just behind the Square, which has both single family houses and apartment structures. The subdivision also has a swimming pool, with snack facilities, which lies adjoining the bowling lanes property, northward of the shopping center itself. The pools have been in operation almost as long as the bowling alley.

Also in operation at the Square since early last fall is the Tri-City Food Market. This is the first store Tri-City opened on this side of the Mississippi river, though at least one other now is open, and others are abuilding. The Tri-City chain gets its name from the fact that it was developed on the East Side in the Tri-City area. It has long been a well-established concern there. The store at Village Square is one of the chain's largest.

A distinctive part of its decor is a huge, stone-flanked fountain in one corner, where plantings and colored lights add to the attractions. The plantings are changed from time to time and were replaced just before Easter by an elaborate display of plastic foliage.

This store has a snack bar, in addition to the usual complement of food and produce departments. There are 10 or more checkout stands.

Golde's Department Store, which occupies the largest single area of space in The Square, has long been a well-known company in Maplewood.

Werner - Hilton Clothiers has had a well-known men's store in downtown St. Louis (706 Washington) for many years. The store in the Square is this company's third, the other branch being in Wellston at 5973 Easton avenue. Albert Kentner is manager in the Village.

The Glaser Drug Store, with 11,000 square feet of space, is the local chain's thirteenth and also largest store. The store is largely arranged for self-service, except for the prescription department and the food service department.

The J. & R. Motor Supply store is eleventh in the St. Louis area. The chain has a total of 42 stores. The new Hazelwood store is among the largest. Harold Ackerman is manager.

Harry and Leonard Pearl, who are opening the Pearl Paint store in the center, maintain their original store on Easton avenue. The new store is to emphasize wallpaper and other interior decorative items.

Nash Music store, which runs a heavy schedule of lessons as well as handling all manner of musical instruments, is operated by Ace Nash. The firm has a store on Lackland in Overland and another in St. Charles.

The Laundromat is operated by Carl Meritt.

The 22,000 square-foot Kresge variety-department store is one of that company's larger units in the St. Louis area. Kresge, of course, operates nationwide.

Worth's women's wear has several other stores in the St. Louis area and Dale's Maternity Shops have two other stores hereabouts.

Gorman Raab Toys, a local chain, has stores at four other points in the metropolitan area.

The new Bo Peep store is that firm's third. The company handles clothing for tots and all ages called "pre-teens."

Martyn's Women's Wear is headed by Fred Arenson, has another store in Maplewood and one in Jefferson City called the Purple Martyn store. A bridal gown department is a major factor of this operation.

Mavrakos Candy is not only known for retail operations all over St. Louis, but the company's manufacturing facilities also are here.

The barber and beauty shops in the new center are owned and operated by Marvin Cooper, who also has shops in Clayton.

The Natale Russo Shoe Repair Shop has come to the center from Fourteenth street downtown.

Bestway Cleaners is opening its thirteenth shop at the Square.

Paulene's, a women's specialty shop, is the third such in this area. Nancee Millinery also is a well-known chain.

Fox Card and Camera Shop, which has been in Wellston but has moved entirely to the Square, does about 75 per cent of its business in the camera department.

Leases now are being negotiated on space for a hobby and crafts shop, a rug and floor covering shop, furniture, fabric and sewing center shop, a bakery, all of which are expected to be ready for opening some time in May.

Office and professional space, still uncompleted, will total about 4500 square feet.

There are two stone trimmed promotional service centers, one just off the Tri-City Grocery at the South end of the "L" formed by the buildings; the other on the inside angle at the heel of the "L". Main stores face the inside of the "L". Small stores and service shops face the main stores, across the mall.

Facade of the main stores is carried above the roof line of the service shops in corrugated asbestos-cement panels that bear insignia of the major stores so they are visible from the parking lot.

The parking lot is a huge square of asphalt on the inside of the "L" and from this the center gets its name. This area is lighted by clusters of lights on wheel-like frames, 45 feet above ground. The lighting with 1000-watt mercury vapor bulbs, reduces the number of poles neessary. The lot can handle 6000 cars a day through five entrances.

The name of the village is carried on diamonds on muitiple poles at the outer edge of the square, rising from a planter. There is an electric time-temperature clock on this assembly. The square is bisected by a covered walkway running from front to back to provide weather protection for those who park farthest from the stores.

At points on the square, pin oak trees have been planted in small open areas. At other points there are planter boxes. Decorative screens and canopies mark the rear (parking lot side) openings into the service shop-small stores buildings. Along the mall, on which most all the stores front, there is a continuous variety of decorative and varicolored mosiac tile finishes, with tall black columns marking the wall lines of the stores.

Officers of Merchants' Group

Merchants having tenancy in The Village Square have organized an association to handle such problems of interrelationship of the businesses as may arise and develop center-wide promotional activities and advertising programs. Left to right, pictured in front of the S. S. Kresge store near the juncture of the two lines of the "L" formed by the village buildings are: Joseph Cosgrove, president of the Lindbergh Bank, who has been elected treasurer of the merchants' association; John Johnson, named president of the association; Jerry Hardesty (Johnson and Hardesty are the developers and builders of the Village), and Ted Golde, of Golde's department store, who has been elected vice president of the merchants' association. The Golde store is just out of the picture at Golde's left. It occupies the anchor position in the two lines of buildings that make up the shopping center.

Webster Groves Man To Manage Kresge

Leo J. Huntington has been named manager of the new S. S. Kresge variety-department store opening in Village Square.

Huntington goes to Hazelwood from Webster Groves, where he managed another Kresge store.

Born in Glencoe, Minn., Huntington joined the organization in 1950 after graduation from St. John's University. He entered the employ of Kresge's in Fond du Lac, Wis., and was later transferred to Green Bay, Wis., where he was made assistant manager.

Other assistantships followed in Wausau, Wis., Duluth Minn., and Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Huntington was then appointed manager of a Racine, Wis., unit. He also managed stores in Chicago and Webster Groves before going to his present position.

Two Regular KSD Programs to Come From New Square

Two regularly scheduled KSD Radio programs will be broadcast direct from Goldie's new department store in Hazelwood's Village Square Shopping Center on Saturday, April 15, it has been announced.

The two shows to be broadcast that day from the store are the Jim Burke Show, from 11:10 a.m. to 12 noon, and the Gil Newsome Show, from 12:15 p.m. to 1 p.m.

Burke, veteran charactor actor of network radio and television, and a former director of public affairs for KMBC, Kansas City, came to KSD Radio last June to head a musical variety program bearing his name.

Newsome, one of the radio industry's best known personalities, and an authority for many years in the field of popular music, came to KSD radio this past March 13 after some 16 years with KWK radio, St. Louis.

WOMAN REPORTER BEGINS SERVING 30-DAY JAIL TERM

DENVER, April 4 (AP)—Mrs. Vi Murphy, a newspaper woman sentenced to 30 days for contempt, started serving her term yesterday in Denver County Jail.

"The first day seemed like two weeks," she said at the jail where she is one of 27 women prisoners.

The 35-year-old mother of four is a reporter for the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph. She was sentenced for refusing to disclose the source of an advance copy of a petition filed with the Colorado Supreme Court.

Mrs. Murphy was allowed to take cosmetics a toothbrush and pictures of her children to her cell. The children are being cared for by her husband and her mother.

She was assigned a single cell for the time being, a normal procedure for new jail inmates.

Later, she will be moved to the dormitory-style quarters with the other women prisoners.

WARNING ON STATE USE TAX BY OZARK AIR LINES HEAD

Unless the Missouri Legislature exempts air carriers from the state use tax, Ozark Air Lines may be forced to move its maintenance facilities out of the state, Joseph H. FitzGerald, president of the company, said today.

The facilities, which are at Lambert-St. Louis Field, would be relocated in Illinois or Iowa, he said. Ozark Air Lines, which originated in Missouri, has 1100 employes who would be affected. The annual payroll is $4,000,000.

As the law stands now, FitzGerald said, the tax is collected on supplies, spare parts and other purchases. The 2 per cent tax is assessed against merchandise purchased outside the state for use in Missouri. Legislation providing exemption for air carriers and others is pending in the State Senate.

$308 STOLEN FROM SAFE

A safe in the office of the Consumers Glue Co., 2649 Minnesota avenue, was robbed of $308 by burglars who forced a rear window to gain entry, Elmer F. Hilgeman, secretary of the company, reported today.

Police said the combination was hammered off the safe and the box was opened with a punch. Hilgeman said the burglars took $2 from a refrigerator and a pistol also.

FOREIGN COMPETITION CALLED INCENTIVE

Foreign competition is a powerful factor in forcing the United States to an aggressive program of mechanization in the years ahead, the American Council on Industrial Arts Teacher Education was told here today.

Robert D. Halsby, executive deputy industrial commissioner of the New York State Department of Labor, addressed the opening session of the Council's annual convention at the Chase Hotel.

"It may surprise you to know," he said, "that the most highly mechanized machine-tool plant is in Russia; the fastest bottling line is in Great Britain; the most advanced transportation container - system is in Sweden.

"The most advanced mechanization of a mail order system is not in Chicago but in Nuremberg, Germany."

Rapid Change.

Helsby said the outlook for the United States, if it is to maintain it production leadership, was for relatively rapid technological change and increasing penetration of the use of automatic devices.

The controlling factor for the rate of change will be human capability rather than machine capacity, he said. He stressed the role of education in providing personnel skilled in producing goods and services.

Helsby said experience in underdeveloped nations had demonstrated that machinery and capital alone do not produce the desired increase in output. He said technically trained labor also was essential.

Educator's Duty.

"Educators have a particular responsibility," he said, "for creating a public awareness of the role that more knowledge and skillful human beings can play in assuring our continued technological progress, and in helping to secure an adequate allotment of resources for training and education."

The council is one of several affiliates meeting here with the American Industrial Arts Association, a department of the National Education Assoication. The association is concerned with promotion and improvement of industrial arts as general education.

In addition to the council on teacher education, the affiliates include hte American Council of Industrial Arts Supervisors and the American Council of Industrial Arts State Association Officers.

About 1500 persons, chiefly industrial arts teachers and supervisors, are expected to attend the meeting at the Chase Hotel. The main convention opens tomorrow with a keynote speech by James E. Russell, secretary of the N.E.A. Educational Policies Commission.

SPECIAL TAX BILLS SET FOR WORK ON CANTON AVE.

The City Council of University City last night set special tax bills for the proposed improvement of two sections of Canton avenue at $8 a front foot for owners of interior lots and $5 a front foot for owners of corner lots or lots with long sides abutting the street. A public hearing to determine if the improvements should be undertaken was scheduled for April 24.

The two sections of street under consideration are a 1000-foot stretch east of Eighty-second street, and a 1900-foot section betwen North and South road and Mendell boulevard.

City Manager Charles Henry said the proposed tax bill schedule would result in tax bills of between $400 and $750 for property owners. The tax bill for Mount Olive Cemetery, at Canton and North and South, would be about $10,000, he said.

U.S. BUSINESS COUNCIL GIVES WAY ON SECRECY

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—On demand of the Kennedy Administration, the top-level Business Advisory Council dropped today its club-like exclusiveness, its power to perpetuate its membership, and much of its secrecy.

The organization of about 170 executives, including many of the heads of the country's biggest corporations, accepted a list of "suggestions" presented by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and concurred in by President Kennedy.

For the first time, substantial representation from small businesses will be included on the blue-ribbon membership list, Hodges disclosed at a press conference.

And Hodges will actually choose the members instead of merely ratifying a list presented by the council itself.

DALTON NAMES COMMITTEE TO PUSH TRAFFIC PROPOSAL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4—Gov. John M. Dalton announced today the appointment of a citizens action committee to help promote his controversial traffic safety legislation pending before the General Assembly.

The 14-member group, which includes four St. Louisans, will meet here April 14 to map a campaign to communicate with legislators and urge them to support the Governor's highway safety program.

St. Louis area members of the action committee are C. W. Schemm, 363 South Gore avenue, Webster Groves, president of the Missouri Society of Professional Engineers; Mrs. Mary Arth, 1430 Marcus avenue, president of the Missouri Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs; Mrs. June R. Hardaway, 715 Wingan Lane, Lemany, and Mrs. Gustav A. Goetsch, 20 Elm avenue, Glendale, president of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs.

GILDED GARBAGE TRUCKS

NEW YORK, April 4 (UPI)—The Sanitation Department said yesterday a test of a new golden paint for garbage trucks worked out so well that all 1800 trucks and 334 mechanical street cleaners will be gilded.

The golden yellow paint, the Sanitation Department said, is to make the trucks easier to see at night and in snow removal operations.

WEAVER NOTES LAG IN COSTLIER HOMES DEMAND

WASHINGTON, April 4 (UPI)—Robert C. Weaver, housing and home finance administrator, said today that a drop in the demand for higher priced new homes makes a new approach necessary to federal housing legislation.

"That is why we are emphasizing measures which will reach moderate - income families," Weaver told the Senate housing subcommittee as it opened hearings on President Kennedy's housing program.

The federal housing chief said "the depressed condition of the home - building industry" has been a matter of concern but "there are now some signs of improvement."

He told the subcommittee, "we believe that several of the proposals in the administration bill will further help to take up the slack in the home-building industry."

Mr. Kennedy proposed a $3,200,000,000 long-range program in his recent housing message to Congress. But Chairman John J. Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama, has said the subcommittee may add another $1,300,000,000 for college housing loans which the Kennedy Administration requested as part of its federal - aid - to - education bill.

That would make the total federal commitment in the housing bill about $4,500,000,000 over several years.

Although most of the programs involve the private building industry, Weaver said, "more public housing is needed if we are to redeem the 1949 pledge of a decent home for everyone and if we are to proceed at a rapid rate with the clearance of slums and the rehousing of low-income families displayed by these activities."

The Administration bill would authorize 100,000 additional units of public housing.

Weaver told the Senators, "The program we propose is a blend of the old and the new. It presupposes a continuation of existing activities but takes into account changes in the market and in the nature of our housing and community needs."

Senator Paul H. Douglas (Dem.), Illinois, a backer of federal housing programs, was dubious of Weaver's plan to extend 40-year government-insured mortgages with no down payment to low and medium-income families.

"Can you be certain that these houses will have an economic duration of 40 years?" he asked.

Weaver acknowledged that the new program is experimental. Bue he said careful planning could push the lift of a home past 40 years.

COUNTY C. OF C. BACKS BILL TO ADD 4 CIRCUIT JUDGES

The St. Louis County Chamber of Commerce yesterday urged Gov. John M. Dalton and members of the General Assembly to support House Bill No. 8 which provides for an increase in the number of circuit judges in the county from eight to 12.

The letter, signed by Girard C. Varnum, president of the chamber, pointed out that the country's population increased more than 70 per cent from 1950 to 1960 and is expected to reach 1,000,000 by 1970.

"The present population of St.. Louis county is now well over 700,000, and the increased demands upon our circuit courts are tremendous," the letter stated. "In fact, although the judges of these courts are working hard, they often find it impossible to handle the criminal and civil cases before them in a reasonable length of time," the letter added.

GEORGE D. CHOPIN NAMED ASSISTANT BY EAGLETON

Spring Sortie

The Coast Guard cutter Mackinaw, built for rugged service, crunches through ice up to two feet thick in opening a path into harbor at Green Bay, Wis., Sunday. Following the Mackinaw and opening the commercial shipping season on the Great Lakes were five oil tankers. End of a Chase Shattered wreckage of a sports car blocks street in Nashville, Tenn., after flaming crash ended high speed chase yesterday. Police said Donald L. Coates of Peoria, Ill., attempted to out-run them at speeds up to 125 miles an hour before racing into an intersection where his car sideswiped a bus and burst into flames after slamming into a utility pole. He was killed, along with two others in the machine, Mrs. Elizabeth Shippe and her infant daughter. —UPI Telephoto.

In Millinery Class, Whimsy Is a Hat

I'VE ALWAYS BEEN very careful not to get interested in making hats. I have enough problems as it is.

I am an enthusiastic hat lover and wearer and agree with Stanley Marcus, the Dallas merchandiser who once walked into a fashion show in his stocking feet, explaining to the startled audience, "I'm as well dressed as a woman without a hat."

CLARISSA START

But buying bonnets and making them are two different things. There's another time-honored fashion story about the milliner who whipped up a chic concoction of two yards of ribbon, perched it atop a customer's head and said, "Sixty dollars."

"Sixty dollars?" she screamed. "For two yards of ribbon?"

"Oh, that," he said, quickly rewinding his deft handiwork into the original roll. "You may have the ribbon free."

In my hands, ribbon and flowers and braid fail to take form. The creative spirit is willing but ability is missing. However, as I always say to my husband while dragging him into antique shops, it never hurts to look. The other night I looked in at Kirkwood High School where Mrs. Edward Woerner conducts a class in millinery every Monday night.

Joann Woerner, a pretty dark-haired woman, greeted me. She was wearing a dreamy, floaty white floral masterpiece.

"Nothing to it," she said, turning it over. "Just two rows of hairbraid sewed to a gripper. The flowers come this way." She showed me the floral topping which resembled a disembodied Maypole.

"I never could do it," I sighed. "Oh, what a lovely lavender rose."

The lavender rose of a kind that blooms only on hats was part of the box of trims which Mrs. Woerner keeps on hand, although students may buy materials from millinery supply houses. Next to the trim box, a fellow Post-Dispatch worker was steaming a veil over a wooden hat block.

"It's a whimsy," she said. "I tried steaming it over the mixer bowl at home but it didn't seem to work."

A whimsy, for the uninitiate, is a frothy bit of trimmed veil. Some of the 18 students at tables—in a room which is normally a science class and is considerably enlivened by hamsters, fish and parakeets—were working on whimsies and some were essaying more ambitious efforts.

There was a luscious lime green covered frame, a violet bordered brim, a creamy beige with hot pink flowers, a dramatic picture hat of upholstery brocatelle found in an old trunk. Some had clever basics with bands or trim which changed the hat. Mrs. Woerner says you're really a milliner when you invent convertible trims. One woman pointed to the braided chiffon band on her straw.

"My husband made it," she said. "He's an electrician."

Another husband was even kinder; he's offered to build an addition to the house for his wife's hat collection.

Some of the students were making hats for mothers (one is really going to be surprised by an apple-bearing miniature) or ruffly ones for little girls. Some have taken the course for years; others are one-termers who want to learn basic stitches and procedures. All of them love to copy expensive hats inexpensively.

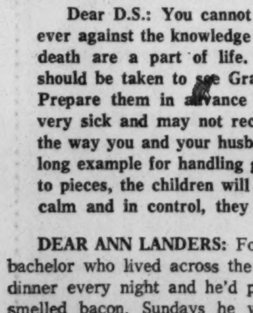
From time to time I kept going back to the lavender rose. It never hurts to look. Finally I bought it and some extra petals.

I think maybe a whimsy first. By fall, when Mrs. Woerner's class convenes again, I may be ready to tackle a covered body.

Ann Landers

Facing Up to Grief

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother who is 73 years old has made her home with us for 10 years and we love her dearly. Mother is in the hospital dying from an incurable disease.



ANN LANDERS

The question my husband and I would like you to answer is this: Our two sons, 10 and 12, keep asking if they can go to the hospital to see Grandma. She is under heavy sedation but in her delirium she often asks for the boys.

My husband wants to take them to her bedside but I say it would be too hard on them. Grandma has lost a lot of weight and looks dreadful. I hate for the boys to see her like this. Then, too, if she doesn't recognize them they may become frightened.

My husband says this is one for Ann Landers. We've agreed to take your advice. DIFFERENT SIDES.

Dear D.S.: You cannot protect your children forever against the knowledge that illness, pain and even death are a part of life. In my opinion, the boys should be taken to see Grandma—for a few minutes. Prepare them in advance by explaining that she is very sick and may not recognize them. Remember—the way you and your husband behave may set a lifelong example for handling grief and sorrow. If you go to pieces, the children will be shaken, too. If you are calm and in control, they will follow your example.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For two years I dated an eligible bachelor who lived across the hall. He used to come in for dinner every night and he'd pop in for breakfast too, if he smelled bacon. Sundays he was a permanent fixture, the standard gag being, "I might as well burn out YOUR TV tubes."

After two years of this I decided the arrangement was too habit-forming and would never lead anywhere. When I brought up the subject of marriage he deftly switched to the trouble in The Congo or the price of soybeans. So—I moved to another apartment about a mile away.

Now I never see him unless I invite him for dinner. I understand an attractive gal rented my apartment and he's over there a lot. Did I make a mistake by moving? Do you think I should have been more patient? IN DOUBT.

Dear In: Your only mistake was in not waking up about 60 dozen eggs and 25 pounds of bacon sooner. Bachelors who love home-cooking and other people's TV sets want the comforts of marriage but not the responsibilities. Let the new neighbor feed his face.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write to Ann Landers in care of the Post-Dispatch for her booklet, "How to Lives With Your Parents," inclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

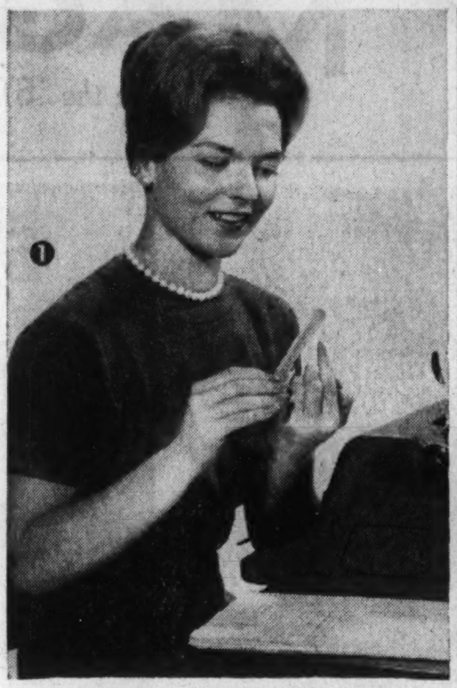
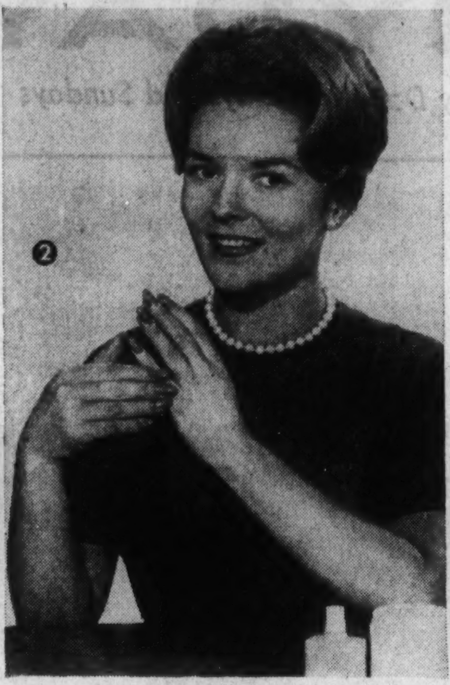
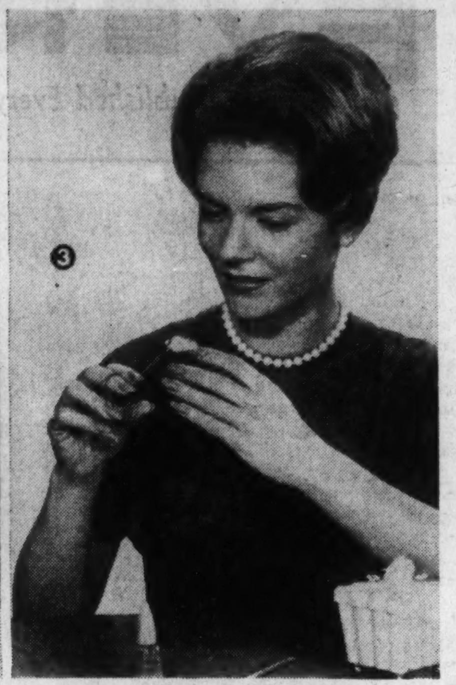
Care of Fingernails







By Reba and Bonnie Churchill

1. Let's nail down those fingernail problems! Long, tapered nails and a busy office or school schedule don't go hand in hand. As Janet De Gore illustrates, to keep nails strong, always file in one direction. Although back and forth "sawing" motion is faster, it also exposes nail layers causing them to separate and peel.

2. Say goodby to cracks and hangnails. Stop filing corners of nails and cutting cuticles too close. Such finger faults result in callous-like skin. Instead, regularly massage cuticle cream or oil around nail edges.

3. Janet, who stars as the young secretary in the ABC-TV series, "The Law and Mr. Jones," knows the necessity for a jiffy-quick repair when a nail breaks. First, clean and smooth broken nail; then, seal with colorless polish. Fray cotton into gauze-like covering, cut to shape, and place on nail. Reapply polish and sealer, and your nail is reinforced.

P.S. If you'd like to know how to relax your hands and make them more supple, send for our "head to toe" fact sheet, "Relax Yourself." Mail 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Youth Parade-Relax," in care of the Post-Dispatch.

More About Discipline in Classroom

By Shirley Schraub

THE QUESTION: This letter is in response to your column in which you said "Any teacher who has to resort to ear pulling or shaking her students, needs a lesson in self-control herself."

I am an eighth grade student who wishes she had a strict teacher. The one we have at present lets the class get away with murder. I believe that some children need discipline because they surely don't get it at home.

The letter writer should check on her child through the teacher to see why this teacher must resort to ear pulling and the such.

THE ANSWER: I guess you can't please everybody.

There is, of course, a happy medium between a teacher who is overly strict and one who is too "laissez faire." There is quite a difference between a well-disciplined class and one which just "gets away with murder." The best example of classroom control is the teacher who makes it look easy.

All children need some discipline and, surprisingly enough, want it, too, but by no means to the extent of ear-pulling, etc. It is not a question of fear of the teacher, but rather a feeling of respect and an understanding of what is expected of a student. This does not rule out discipline. It simply puts it on a basis of mutual trust and co-operation—an example, incidentally, that the teacher herself should set. Believe it or not, it works!

Vain Search for Perfect Cup of Coffee

By Tom Yarbrough

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

MEXICO CITY.

A GOOD CUP OF COFFEE is hard to find. This is the conclusion arrived at near the end of of a long journey, much of it through the heart of the coffee country of South and Central America.

In Brazil and Colombia, and elsewhere down the line, coffee-growing constitutes much of the backbone of the national economies. Therefore it becomes a subject of national interest as to whether the morning cup is a cup that satisfies. But no matter how it is made — regular, drip or expresso — it is different every time. And even to one whose requirements in this field can hardly be called fastidious it is never quite right. Apparently there is no such thing as a perfect cup of coffee.

At all points south of Brownsville, Tex., coffee is consumed at all times — morning cup, mid-morning cup, mid-day cup, afternoon cup, any hour of the day or night.

And as the traveler moves southward the brew thickens and becomes darker, finally pure black, without a trace of brown remaining. At the outside limit, it is too thick to drink and too thin to chew.

The Martini man, in his serious quest of the masterpiece, has to depend on its being placed before him in finished form. Not even the pickiest perfectionist is going to haul forth his own bottle of vermouth and ask for permission to set the mixture; or to crack the ice to suit himself.

But do-it-yourself opportunities of a sort are available to the coffee man. He can carry his favorite brand of instant coffee, a ceramic cup to his liking and an electric heater that can be plugged into any outlet for heating the water.

However, that wonderful situation cannot prevail for very long. You run out of coffee and cannot find more of your brand, or you run into outlets that your plug will not fit, or a different kind of current — wrong voltage. A variety of plugs with electrical transformer to suit all combinations of circumstances can easily become a weight problem to the air traveler.

Another item is extremely useful for hotel-room coffee brewing and consumption. This is a cooler. It is a cylindrical piece of heavy metal fitted with a wooden handle. When water is boiled and hot enough to make coffee the mixture is too hot to drink. The cooler, set gently into the cup, absorbs heat rapidly and lowers the coffee temperature to a drinkable degree.

The coffee man still is in for trouble. In most South American cities it is not safe to drink tap water, and so travelers make a practice of using only bottled water. This is always available, but not always plain, uncarbonated.

Bottled water "sin gas"—without carbonation — is fine for making coffee. If this isn't available, coffee can be brewed with the carbonated variety but this produces a liquid so horrible it has to be tasted to be believed.

Instant coffee, by the way, has arrived in the coffee kingdoms with complete acceptance. In some cities, leading hotels go so far as to have a can of powdered coffee brought to the table, with a supply of hot water, so the guest can mix his own with strength according to his taste.

Just as coffee is the fuel of Government in Washington, D.C., it is the fuel of business in Latin America. When you call on a man in his office to keep an appointment the chances are that he will ask his secretary to bring coffee, and this is a normal part of her work.

Some cities, notably Buenos Aires, have coffee bars open directly on the street with cups and saucers lined up in a solid line, cups inverted. The sidewalk pedestrian need only pause, turn up a cup and it will be filled without delay.

The greatest vogue is for the small cup (never once called a "demitasse" by anyone encountered in research throughout South America for this report). It is called cafe tinto, cafe tito, or cafe zinho. To get a large cup usually requires negotiation. This is sometimes done with relative simplicity, by asking for a "grande" or a "doble"—large or double.

Getting a double portion of coffee delivered to a hotel room has other complexities, usually two cups and two saucers, even two bowls of sugar, for one person. It would be easy here to ascribe the difficulty to the language, but that would be covering the real problem with simplicity. It is a roadblock of communication that persists, with all concerned speaking pure English.

Room Service — in all hotels in all cities — has shown itself incapable of understanding that one person in one room can want, or should have, two portions of coffee delivered with only one cup. In Rio de Janeiro there were two large pots of coffee on the tray, and three cups.

Cracked Foundation

Cracks in basement and foundation walls don't mean that the house is going to fall down but they can allow moisture and even termites to reach the woodwork. It's best to fill them after they have stopped growing either with cement mortar or caulking compound.

She's Unhappy Over Oscar Nomination

PARIS, April 4.

MELINA MERCOURI, who played the bewitching harlot in "Never On Sunday," is one of the actresses nominated for the Academy Award. This should make everyone happy, but not this fiery Greek actress who claims that ever since she's been nominated for the Oscar everyone has told her she can't possibly win it.

ART BUCHWALD

"At the beginning I am very happy to have the honor, but what kind of honor is it? First Louella Parsons writes they shouldn't give it to a foreign actress but to a nice American girl like Doris Day who makes pictures in Hollywood and not overseas.

"Then I am told I can't win it because Simone Signoret won it last year and they would never give it to a foreign actress two years in a row. Then they say there is a great deal of sympathy for Elizabeth Taylor because she was sick, and also people think Deborah Kerr should win it because she's a nice girl and besides everyone loves Shirley McLaine and Frank Sinatra is helping her. So everyone says I can not possibly win it.

"I don't understand why they ask me to be a nominee if I can't possibly win. At first I thought it was wonderful, but now I am very mad.

"The United Artists people say I can't win unless I go back to Hollywood and make a campaign for the Oscar. What kind of campaign should I make? I told them I'm not Kennedy. I'm an actress, not a politician. What do they want me to do—ring doorbells in Beverly Hills and say, 'Good day. My name is Melina Mercouri and I would like you to vote for me as the best actress of the year?'

"Why should I go back there and suffer? Before I was nominated, I was very happy and very relaxed. Everybody loved me and the picture. Now I am not happy and I am not relaxed. Louella Parsons says I am Greek so please do not vote for me."

Miss Mercouri said at one point when Miss Elizabeth Taylor was very ill she thought of writing to the other Academy Award nominees and suggesting that they all drop out and give the award to Miss Taylor unanimously.

"I say this not because only she was sick, but she is a great actress and deserved it. But I was afraid to suggest it because then everyone would think I was just trying to make publicity. I do not even have a vote so I can not have anything to say."

"If you did have a vote, whom would you vote for?" we asked her.

"You want the truth?" she asked.

"Only the truth."

"I would vote for myself. We have a saying in Greece that if you don't vote for yourself, the roof will fall down and the house will catch on fire."

Miss Mercouri insisted her war with Hollywood was not against "Big Hollywood," but "Little Hollywood" or as she put it, "those little people with little minds that all think they're big potatoes."

She said she would "Be a big liar if I said it doesn't mean anything to me not to win the Oscar. Not only for me but for Greece. Ever since 'Never On Sunday' people love Greece. The tourist office of Greece told me many people want to go there now that never thought of going before."

The actress said since her performance in the picture everyone wants her to play a prostitute.

One American producer sent her a script and said he wouldn't do the picture unless she played the part.

When she turned it down, he asked her to send the script to Simone Signoret.

Unfortunately Miss Mercouri forgot to remove the letter which the producer had written to her. When Miss Signoret opened the script she found the letter addressed to Miss Mercouri telling her she was the only one to play the part.

After reading the letter Miss Signoret also decided to turn down the part. The producer to this day doesn't know why.

Watching the Stars

HOLLYWOOD, April 4.

NANCY KWAN, star of "Flower Drum Song," screamed lustily when producer Ross Hunter suggested a haircut for her role in the movie version of the Rodgers-Hammerstein hit. "Not one inch," shouted Nancy, clutching her waist-length raven tresses. She will wear a wig.

John Huston has run into some resistance from the family of the late father of psychoanalysis Sigmund Freud, on his plan to film the life of Freud. But he hopes the script by Jean-Paul Sartre will prove his good intentions. No one is signed yet for the starring role.

There's a rumor in Rome that Audrey Hepburn has been asked to take over for Elizabeth Taylor in "Cleopatra" when the ill-fated production resumes. I believe this would only be true in the event that Elizabeth decides she cannot make the film. Husband Eddie Fisher seems to think she will be well enough in four months.

Don Ameche's leading lady in "Thirteen Daughters," Monica Boyer, isn't too unhappy apparently about the wrath of Equity when she walked out on a scene in the late play, when the noise of a construction job outside was too distracting for her. Monica has tests coming up at Universal and Paramount.

New Yorkers have a special interest in "The Hoodlum Priest." Star-producer Don Murray's partner is Walter Wood, former New York advertising executive. And Mrs. Wood—Cindy, that is—who stars in the movie, is a former top Gotham model.

The man causing most excitement in New York night spots this past week was 53-year-old Douglas Fairbanks Jr., slender, debonair and handsome!

Someone who saw Dick Powell with June Allyson at the Voison Restaurant in New York told me he couldn't believe they had ever become estranged, much less divorced.

June Havoc postcards from Amsterdam that while Brussels, Madrid and Barcelona were wild and thrilling, the greatest success of her theater tour with Helen Hayes to date was in Holland, "Where they gave us a standing ovation." Knee deep in flowers, too.

Lucille Ball, who wears blue jeans during most of her "Wildcat" play on Broadway, was cranking the auto in the first scene, applied too much pressure, and the resulting rip in the backfield could be heard for at least the first four rows out front . . . and Lucy is now having fun with the musical. When Howard Fisher, who plays the sheriff, made his entrance the other night, Miss Ball asked "Are you Fred Mertz?".

Contract Bridge Is Her Full-Time Career

Mrs. E. N. Carlson Is Busy Teaching, Conducting Duplicate Games, Keeps Cards Going on Summer Cruises

MRS. E. N. CARLSON

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

MRS. CARLSON explains the finer points of play in a bridge lesson at her home in Webster Groves. Pupils, from left, are MRS. CHESTER ROEMER (back to camera), MRS. W. E. VIERSE, MRS. H. C. HOENER (standing) and MRS. H. L. BROCKSMITH.

By John J. Archibald

Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

UNTIL 1928 Mrs. E. N. Carlson was only mildly interested in cards. An occasional game of auction bridge or pinochle was enough. Then she heard about a new, more scientific form of an old game—contract bridge.

"I took a series of lessons with my husband," she recalled, "and I was hooked."

Millions of persons have become intrigued by contract bridge in the decades since, but few have permitted the game to take over their lives as has Mrs. Carlson. She became a certified teacher herself within two years and has been at it ever since.

Her time is devoted mostly to teaching the game of contract and conducting duplicate games. In a duplicate session, groups ranging in size from eight to perhaps 32 pairs rotate among a series of tables until all have played the same hands. Their cumulative scores then determine their ranking.

Here is the schedule that Mrs. Carlson maintains about nine months of every year:

Monday — duplicate at her Webster Groves home in the afternoon. Lessons and supervision of a duplicate game in the Kirkwood Senior High Library at night.

Tuesday—Supervision of duplicate for private groups in their homes in the afternoon. At night she gives lessons at the YWCA and conducts duplicate.

Wednesday—Lesson at 10 a.m., duplicate at noon and at 7:45 p.m., all in her home at 430 West Lockwood boulevard.

Thursday—Lessons and duplicate at the Kirkwood Y.M.C.A. at 9:30 a.m. Classes in bridge for patients at Renard Hospital in the afternoon, assisted by Mrs. F. C. Larson and Mrs. H. L. Brocksmith. At the Mid-County "Y" in Brentwood she runs another duplicate game.

Friday—Another class at Mid-County "Y" in the morning and a duplicate session for more advanced players at the Ambassador-Kingsway Hotel at night.

Mrs. Carlson was asked if she didn't sometimes get tired of bridge.

"No," she replied. "I do plan each year to take it a little easier, but I always wind up with more to do than the previous season."

Vacations, then, must be her secret. Three long months without a deck of cards in sight?

"On the contrary," Mrs. Carlson said. "In the summer I escort groups of people on sea voyages, especially those who like to play bridge. Last year we went to Hawaii and this summer it will be Alaska."

Mrs. Carlson came from a family with no interest in any form of cards. Her father, the late Victor M. Summa, was an engineer with the American Car and Foundry Co. in St. Louis. Her parents had many interests, said Mrs. Carlson, although cards was not one of theim.

"But contract bridge is a game that appeals to many people who have no interest in other forms of card-playing," Mrs. Carlson said. "Under the rules of auction bridge, one took the bid as cheaply as possible and if you secured extra tricks, you received full credit for them toward winning a game. In contract, however, you bid as high as you dare and literally contract to take a certain number of tricks. If you fall short, you can be severely penalized, and if you take more tricks than you bid for, you receive no credit for them toward game."

Many players resented contract when it was introduced, according to Mrs. Carlson, because it seemed snobbish.

"I was so enthusiastic about the game that I wanted to teach my friends without charge in order to have someone to play against," she continued. "Many refused. Then 15 years later they paid for lessons."

Word of Mrs. Carlson's ability spread quickly in the early 1930s and she competed in numerous tournaments with such famous bridge personalities as the late Ely Culbertson and the inventor of the now widely used Goren bidding system, Charles Goren. In 1935 she was awarded a master's certificate by the American Contract Bridge League and this permits her to train other teachers.

Mrs. Carlson started her first series of duplicate games at the Winston Churchill Apartments in 1934. Some of the grandchildren of those players are among her pupils now.

"No matter how proficient one may become, I consider it essential to remember that bridge is a pastime," Mrs. Carlson said. "The party atmosphere should never be lost. I insist, for instance, that couples introduce themselves as they travel from table to table at my duplicate games.

"This may seem like a needless reminder, but some twosomes are so absorbed with what took place in the previous hand that they forget to go through the social formalities. This can sometimes be mistaken for rudeness."

Carlson is able to take his wife's bridge-playing in stride. He learned the game and likes it well enough, but seldom plays. He is a field engineer for a pneumatic tool firm and his only contact with bridge is to assist his wife occasionally in supervising the larger duplicate affairs.

The Carlsons have a son, E. Norman Jr., an Annapolis graduate who now teaches at Roosevelt High School.

In addition to her classes and games, Mrs. Carlson devotes some of her time to the activities of the American Contract Bridge League of St. Louis. The group was host to the recent Southwestern Championships at the Coronado Hotel.

Last summer she nearly was late for the "summer Nationals" of the A.C.B.L., a tragedy which only a bridge addict might fully appreciate. A Los Angeles dock strike caused the difficulty, but Mrs. Carlson solved the problem in a rather spectacular way.

The ship that was bringing her back from Hawaii was scheduled to land in Los Angeles the day before the big tournament got under way. Because of the strike, however, the ship was sent to San Francisco.

"I talked to every ship's officer that I had met, hoping for some solution," Mrs. Carlson recalled. "Going through customs in San Francisco would keep me there until noon, and I was supposed to play in Los Angeles at 1 p.m."

Her requests for aid eventually reached the right ears . . . those of a bridge player, no doubt . . . and she was given permission to disembark onto a tender at 6:30 in the morning.

"I had to agree not to take any luggage," said the lady from Webster Groves, "so I put on two dresses under my Hawaiian 'muu-muu' and down the gangplank I went—the only one who got off the ship at that time. I caught a plane and reached Los Angeles with an hour to spare."

THE DECLARER'S main objective is to make his contract. He should not permit himself to be diverted from this aim by other problems that arise in the play.

Here is a case where many players would go wrong. West leads a heart and dummy's king wins the trick. How should declarer proceed with the play?

Let's suppose that South leads a diamond from dummy in an effort to establish his longest suit. East wins with the king and returns a heart. It does not matter whether South finesses or not; in either case, West's hearts become established.

If declarer then attempts to make the hand by leading a club to the ace and returning a club from dummy, intending to finesse the jack, he learns quickly enough that West has the guarded queen. It makes no difference what he does now; he cannot avoid going down one.

The same result would follow if declarer, at trick two, commenced by leading the ace and another club. He would eventually run into the same dead end and go down.

Yet, from the beginning, South can assure the contract if he plays properly—and it furthermore does not matter how the opponent's cards are divided.

Declarer sees he has eight top tricks to start with. All he is interested in is getting a ninth —in the safest way possible. He can insure the contract by attacking clubs immediately, but in the proper way. He begins by leading a club to the king. He then plays a low club toward dummy.

1. If West shows out, he goes up with the ace, and returns a club toward the jack.
2. If West follows with a low club, he finesses the nine. If the nine loses to East, the suit is proved to be divided 3-2 and nine tricks are certain.
3. If West follows with the ten, declarer wins with the ace and leads the nine to force out the queen and produce the ninth trick.

The safety play in clubs guarantees the contract against all possible distributions.

Late June Debuts For College Girls

By Peggy Johnson

FIVE ST. LOUIS COLLEGE GIRLS who will make debuts in the 1961-62 season have been in St. Louis for spring vacation. Four of the girls are classmates at Pine Manor Junior College. They boarded the same plane yesterday morning at Lambert-St. Louis Municipal Airport to return to the Wellesley (Mass.) campus. Those attending Pine Manor are Miss Elizabeth Brown, Miss Sharon Anne Hertslet, Miss Eleanor Chenault Rogers and Miss Stella Jane Childress. The fifth student, Miss Dorothy Ann Dixon, attends Vanderbilt University. She left here for Nashville, Tenn., Sunday.

Additional guests were invited for the reception afterward at the home of Mr. Sample's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gus H. Sample, 37 Joy avenue.

The bride, daughter of William H. Harrison of Becker road, Oakville, wore a blue and white wool suit with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids. Present were her three sons, John Pearson III, Harrison M. and Jeffrey P. Baird, by her previous marriage.

Mr. Sample, member of an old Webster Groves family, is the son of Mrs. O. H. Sample and and late Mr. Sample. His children by a previous marriage are Miss Sally Sample, who has been living here with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sam S. Sample; Howard H. Sample, Ames, Ia., and Stephen B. Sample, Champaign, Ill.

After a wedding trip south the newly-married couple will live in Norwalk.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Kleitsch, 361 South Maple avenue, have returned home from a trip south. They went to Natchez, Miss., by river boat and were joined there by their son, Tucker Kleitsch, a student at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo.

The three spent a week visiting nearby points of interest in and around Natchez before motoring home.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Husband Forgets Anniversaries

Dear Martha Carr:

AFTER MANY YEARS of happy marriage and a wonderful family, something my husband does, or doesn't do, is bothering me to the point of unhappiness. By nature I am a very sensitive and sentimental person and when it is at all possible I buy him whatever he desires or admires. There is nothing I wouldn't do for him and if he should admire a particular article of clothing I rush out to get it for him. To me, love is wanting to make someone happy by being thoughtful and considerate. For anniversaries and birthdays I don't even get a card. When I bring it up later he always has a stock answer: "I didn't think." In all fairness I must say that he is a good husband and father but I want to be remembered and thought of. MRS. R.M.

Yours is a common complaint. In fact the failure of husbands to remember birthdays and wedding anniversaries and other important dates is so widespread that a New York man started a business called, as I remember it, "Remembrance, Inc." For a fee this man would send cards or gifts to men's wives, sweethearts, mothers and sisters on specified dates and thus relieve the men of all responsibility. If I were you I'd curb my sentiment and dwell instead on your husband's good points. Just because he "didn't think" and failed to remember your birthday is no sign that he loves you any the less. He's just a man and seemingly with fewer faults than most. Why not quit looking for trouble?

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I HAVE A PROBLEM which I am sure many other merchants share. What can I do about worthy workers who come to my place of business requesting gifts of merchandise which are used as attendance prizes at card parties and other affairs? There is seldom a day that I am not approached by someone soliciting gifts of merchandise for churches, schools and various organizations. Now, Mrs. Carr, I hope I am as charitable as the next person. I belong to several charitable organizations myself. But I cannot afford to be continually giving away merchandise. I have had some solicitors get quite nasty with me about this when I tell them I cannot contribute to everything. SMALL MERCHANT

Give what you can and refuse when you must. If someone takes your refusal with poor grace, don't worry. Your conscience will be clear. Martha agrees with you that this business of soliciting merchandise for prizes has been overdone in recent years. Too many people attend these charitable events, not in the interest of sweet charity but with a sort of Las Vegas gambling spirit hoping the price of their admission ticket will be the winning bet on a big attendance prize.

Dear Martha Carr:

YOU OFTEN HAVE letters from people interested in dancing. They might be interested in knowing that the Downtown Branch of the Y.M.C.A., 1528 Locust street, will begin spring dancing classes on Thursday, April 6. No matter what their dancing ability, they will find classes to fit in everything from the waltz to the tango. DOWNTOWN Y.M.C.A.

Bottled Longevity?

DEAR DR. MOLNER: Every year when we go south we meet a friend who seems to have arrested the aging process. He is a man 95 years old, of rather delicate structure. He does not weigh over 100 pounds and there is not an ounce of fat on him.

He looks and behaves like somebody not over 65. This year he went on an extensive European trip.

He takes 10 drops of —— and claims this prevents hardening of the arteries. Please let me have your opinion. —O.H.

DR. MOLNER

I think he's a man who has had the foresight to choose good ancestors, who has not allowed himself to get fat, who has probably lived an active, useful life, and who has not stewed or fretted over things that couldn't be helped.

At 70, 80 and 90, he has probably assumed (or kept) the attitude that life is interesting at any age, so long as you remain interested. On top of all that, he has been lucky.

From time to time people have been given the same medication your friend takes over long periods of time without any indication that it prevented their arteries from hardening, their hair from turning gray or their arms from getting too short for their eyes when they looked at a phone book without their glasses.

DEAR DR. MOLNER: My husband has what two doctors called an allergy. Once in two or three weeks his cheek and tongue on one side swell up overnight. During the day it subsides. It started last summer. There is no itch or pain. We thought you might have some experience with such a case. —N.I.

Now you have a third doctor who thinks it sounds like an allergy. Keep watch of what he eats—or what goes into his mouth for some other purpose—prior to one of these attacks. I gather they start at night. It could be something he nibbles some evenings. Nuts are a frequent offender. Or a mouthwash, or a toothpaste he occasionally uses.

DEAR DR. MOLNER: My feet dry out and crack, especially in winter. My doctor suggested lanolin. —H.Y.

It's not unusual for skin (including that of the feet) to become excessively dry in winter. Follow your doctor's suggestion.

He Wants Porpoises to Talk

By Earl Ubell

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch

MIAMI, APRIL 4.

LIZZY AND BABY, a pair of bottle-nosed dolphins (commonly called porpoises), are dead. Dr. John Lilly, a brain biologist, had hoped to teach them some English, but overwhelming infections had killed them before he had a chance.

They had caught their germs even before Dr. Lilly, accompanied by this reporter, transported them by plane to his Virgin Island laboratory on St. Thomas just a year ago. Lizzy lived for three weeks; Baby for three months.

Their demise set back by a year Dr. Lilly's investigation of these sea-going mammals, which he believes may be the intellectual equals of man. They certainly have the brain size for it and as for speaking, they have a range of vocalization that makes Maria Callas sound like a honking bird.

Now with two more dolphins —Elvar, a male, and Tolva, a female — Dr. Lilly has been studying porpoisian squeals, clicks, whistles and grunts for clues to porpoise-to-porpoise communication. Young and healthy, they have been kept alive for months in large plastic tanks here.

When Dr. Lilly finishes his studies of their ordinary chitchat and his preliminary electrical explorations of their brains (in collaboration with Miss Alice Miller, his scientific assistant), he will try to learn what the creatures are saying to each other. Next he will try to set up man-to-dolphin conversation.

"If we can do it, it will be the first communication by man with an alien species, a skill that may be quite valuable in these coming days of space exploration," Dr. Lilly said.

He spoke at an auxiliary laboratory set up here on the second floor of an old seaplane hangar while a new laboratory on St. Thomas is being constructed. As soon as it is completed, Elvar and Tolva will be moved there.

Dr. Lilly, who heads the Communication Research Institute, has started preparing the electrical equipment for the study of the porpoise brain. Elvar already has a thin metal tube in the head ready to receive the wire electrodes.

It was Dr. Lilly's discovery of how to put electrodes into the head of a porpoise without killing it that opened the field of brain research with this species. If you anesthetize the creature, it stops breathing. Dr. Lilly now uses local anesthesia.

"It's remarkable how much the porpoise will allow man to do to it without fighting back," Dr. Lilly said. "After all, this animal can kill sharks and has the power of a locomotive in its fluke. Look at those teeth . . . razor sharp."

Yet Miss Miller can put her arm into Elvar's jaws with no risk. However, Tolva doesn't like Dr. Lilly since the doctor put the sleeve guide in the animal's head.

When the electrodes go into the animals, Dr. Lilly will probe for the so-called pleasure centers. When these centers are electrically stimulated the animal senses exquisite "pleasure" or at least wants more stimulation.

This system, first uncovered in rats by Dr. James Olds, is such a powerful "reward" that rats and monkeys would rather get the electrical pulse than eat. And this is the key to making the porpoise talk.

Dr. Lilly believes the pleasure center reward never tires and by stimulating it during training, he thinks he can teach the animal to speak and understand human speech. The animal certainly has the vocal apparatus for it and Dr. Lilly has recordings in which he has detected mimicry of human sounds.

Once the animal has learned human language—if at all possible—then Dr. Lilly has a great opportunity to learn about brain function. He will be able to do with the porpoise what heretofore could only be done on human beings but which ethical considerations prohibit.

For example, when a biologist electrically stimulates the brain of a rat or a monkey, the creature responds no matter where the brain is probed. In human beings, there are great silent areas where electrical stimulations bring no overt response.

"I don't think they're really silent," Dr. Lilly said. "I'm sure that stimulation there must subtlely alter thinking. But unless we can carry out dangerous long-term experiments we don't know how this happens. The porpoise also has silent areas. If we can teach it to talk we can learn what those silent areas can do."

Even if he doesn't succeed, Dr. Lilly is sure that the study of the porpoise itself is worthwhile. Practically nothing is known about the creature's anatomy, physiology and psychology. "And that's worth knowing for its own sake," Dr. Lilly said.

Measuring Speed of Light

The seventh grade, Harding School, Hammond, Ind., is awarded a set of the World Book Encyclopedia by Uncle Ray for their fine questions. Pupils in fourth through twelfth grade classes in public, parochial or private schools, may win a complete set of the World Book Encyclopedia for their classrooms by submitting questions to Uncle Ray. Ask your teacher to choose the best five questions submitted by your class on history, science, biography or geography and send them to Uncle Ray in care of the Post-Dispatch.

By Ramon Coffman

MEMBERS of a twelfth grade class want to know how light can be measured "if it goes 186,000 miles a second."

I can enter into the spirit of that question. Anything that travels at such a speed would seem to be too fast to measure.

Four hundred years ago, it was the common view that light traveled from one far place to another without an instant's delay.

A young man of Danish descent made the first fairly good estimate of the speed of light. He was studying in France, and used a telescope at the Paris Observatory. Two hundred and 96 years have passed since that young Dane, Ole Roemer, made his famous tests.

Roemer spent a good deal of time observing Jupiter and the four larger moons going around that planet. He found that the eclipse periods of the moons seemed to be longer when the earth and Jupiter were on opposite sides of the sun. When the two planets were on the same side of the sun, the eclipse periods were shorter.

The change in eclipse periods meant something special to Roemer, namely that the passage of light took time. He estimated that light took 20 minutes to travel from one side of the earth's orbit to the other.

Since then, astronomers have proved that light takes 16 minutes and 40 seconds on the average to cross the earth's orbit, instead of 20 minutes. Knowing the distance across the earth's orbit, astronomers can figure the speed of light.

For SCIENCE section of your scrapbook.

Prehistoric Animals is the name of a new leaflet by Uncle Ray which tells fascinating facts about Dinosaurs and contains 12 illustrations of these great animals. To get a copy send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Uncle Ray in care of the Post-Dispatch.
